Close Vote Is Likely

Opponents of Tax Cut Given Edge

Washington, March 14 (AP) — Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said today the Senate must choose between "the American people or big business corporations" when it votes this week on a Democratic income tax cut proposal.

But another Humphrey—Secretary of the Treasury George M. — contended the Democratic plan "works against the making of new and better jobs." He called it "misleading to argue that (the plan) is really in the interests of the 'little folks'."

Both spoke out in statements —the senator today and the secretary last night—as the Senate moved toward a showdown vote on the tax proposal. The Senate itself scheduled its last day of unlimited debate on the proposal with voting to start tomorrow.

BOTH SIDES conceded the vote would be close, with the edge given to opponents of the cut.

Sen. Smathers (D-Fla.), who is supporting the tax cut, said his side was "shy four or five votes" yesterday and Sen. Kerr (D-Okla.), another supporter, said the lineup is "tight." Administration leaders have said regularly that an almost solid corps of Republicans will be supported by enough Democrats to beat the tax cut.

The Democratic proposal would cut $20 from the income levy against the taxpayer plus $10 for each dependent except a spouse effective Jan. 1 next year. It would be limited largely to those making less than $5,000 a year.

AS A MEANS of offsetting that loss of revenue, estimated at 908 million dollars a year, it would also repeal two features of the 1954 tax revision law, one of these reduced taxes on dividend income and the other aided corporations by permitting faster depreciation allowances.

The plan also proposed to extend for 27 months, until July 1, 1957, excise and corporation income tax rates now scheduled to drop April 1. The administration had asked that these be extended for one year. The tax cut plan would be added to the administration Sen. Humphrey said the depreciation allowance alone would cost the treasury nearly a billion dollars in 1956 and nearly 20 billions in 18 years from now."

SAYING CONGRESS must decide between the people and the corporations, he added:

"That is the choice before us and the choice upon which senators must stand up and be counted . . ."

The secretary of the treasury contended, however, that the proposed tax cut would amount to 'but a few cents a week for

Russians Claim Corn in Bunches

London, March 14 (AP)—The Russians claimed today they are growing corn on the cob in bunches.

Moscow radio said two year's research has produced a type of corn that reaches about six feet in height and the cob branches out and looks as if it "consists of several cobs."

Despite this development, the Soviet government said last week it would like to follow through on the idea of sending Russian farmers to learn how Iowans grow such tall corn.

The government made overtures to see how the U. S. government felt about exchanging agricultural delegations. The State Department promised "a quick decision" on the request.

Unit Asks Changes in Methods

Flemming Is One Of Dissenters

Washington, March 14 (AP)—The Hoover Commission says it believes private enterprise should be allowed to take over many of the government's extensive lending and loan guarantee-insurance activities, subject to continued federal control.

One of the commission's suggestions drew the objections of 5 of the group's 12 members. It was a proposal that Congress take away the Export-Import Bank's authority to make short term loans like those made by commercial banks. The commission said the bank should become the sole federal agency for making long term export loans, as well as loans to foreign governments and for development of foreign resources.

Among the dissenters were Atty. Gen. Brownell and Defense Mobilizer Arthur S. Flemming, (formerly of Kingston) who contended the plan might harm U. S. foreign policy.

THE COMMISSION headed by former President Hoover stressed the idea of combined private-government operation last night in recommending a "broad reorganization" of the 104 federal lending, insuring and guaranteeing agencies.

The group urged in a report to Congress that some of these agencies be abolished. It called for a boost in charges to make the remaining units self supporting.

Such a reorganization, the commission estimated, would mean the treasury could recapture about 6¼ billion dollars in capital funds. Furthermore, it said the step would mean an annual saving to the government of about 200 million dollars.

According to the report, federal loans, guarantees and insurance now total 244 billion dollars.

AMONG THE AGENCIES whose functions the commission tagged for transfer to private enterprise were the Federal Housing Administration and the Rural Electrification Administration. The FHA insures loans for home buyers. The REA lends money to cooperatives for construction of facilities to provide electric and telephone service to rural areas.

One recommendation almost certain to arouse controversy called for an end of government price support loans to farmers. The commission suggested in-

FOA Tells How Cash Expended

Specific Outlay Is Not Revealed

Washington, March 14 (AP)—President Eisenhower reported today a "significant acceleration" of foreign aid operations last year in Asia, "where communism is stepping up its efforts of expansion."

A report covering the July-December period of 1954 was prepared for Congress by the Foreign Operations Administration, headed by Harold Stassen.

IT TOLD HOW the agency is spending the $2,800,000,000 in new appropriations for the fiscal year ending next June 30 and $2,500,000,000 in carryover funds from previous appropriations unused but earmarked for military equipment.

The report did not say specifically how much had been spent during the six-month period, but it said that Far Eastern military aid from its start through December 1954 had reached a total of $1,900,000,000.

One-fourth of the new appropriations were earmarked for Southeast Asia and the Western Pacific. FOA said that through March 1 this year it had approved 555 millions in that area for various mutual security programs other than military assistance.

EISENHOWER, in a letter transmitting the report, noted the stepped up activities in Asia and, speaking of the overall program, added:

"These worldwide programs of military aid, economic development and technical cooperation are increasing the military security and economic progress of the United States and our cooperating partners in the free world."

The report emphasized strongly the shift from Europe to the underdeveloped areas of Asia, Africa and Latin America.

It said Europe's amazing economic recovery was a key factor in permitting this change.

"TOGETHER the underdeveloped countries hold the bulk of the world's population, occupy the largest part of its land area, constitute the major sources of its key minerals and raw materials, and contain many of its most valuable military bases," the report said, adding:

"If these resources should fall under the Soviet influence, the road to the Communist end goal of world domination would be made relatively smooth."

In a breakdown of FOA's operations for the last half of 1954 the report showed:

1. Military assistance — deliveries of 700 million dollars worth of weapons and equipment to Europe.

2. Defense support — Agreements with 13 countries around the world to supplement their economies in support of their defense buildups. The countries are Korea, Formosa, Philippines, Thailand, Viet Nam, Cambodia, Laos, Greece, Turkey, Pakistan, Italy, Spain and Yugoslavia. In addition surplus farm goods were sold to West Germany to help rehabilitation efforts in West Berlin.

3. DEVELOPMENT assistance —Authorization of development programs in five countries — Iran, Jordan, Lebanon, Egypt, and India—and similar efforts in the works for Guatemala and Bolivia.

4. Technical cooperation — Programs in being with 43 countries and 20 territories, with 1,750 American technicians in the field.

In carrying out a congressional requirement that not less than 350 million dollars of the fiscal 1955 program be spent for sale of U. S. farm surpluses, the agency reported sales authorized up to 103 million dollars by last Dec. 31. It said it hopes to hit the 350 million dollar target before the deadline next June 30.

2 Groups Are Routed For Spying

Two Legations Hit by Action

Stockholm, Sweden, March 14 (AP)—The Swedish government is kicking out all members of the Romanian and Czechoslovak legations involved in military spy cases, a reliable source said today. He reported "everybody concerned" was ordered to get out of Sweden right now.

Sweden moved quickly against the legations of the two Soviet satellite countries after security police dug up two nationwide Communist spy rings and jailed 11 suspects.

The police linked the spy rings to Romania and Czechoslovakia.

The number of Romanian and Czechoslovakian legation officials declared persona non grata was not disclosed and they were not immediately identified.

POLICE PICKED UP 10 suspects over the weekend and the 11th today. They include five Swedes, 3 Czechs, a Romanian, a German and one unidentified foreigner. The last named was picked up in Goteborg, Sweden's largest port.

Public Prosecutor Werner Rhyninger is expected to ask for arraignment of some of the suspects early next week.

A well informed source said Foreign Minister Oesten Unden probably would summon diplomatic representatives of both Romania and Czechoslovakia this week "for some stern conversation."

A Czech military attache was

Anglo Convoy Fear Expressed

Taipei, Formosa, March 14 (AP)—Official Chinese Nationalist quarters who refused to be identified voiced concern today lest British warships convoy British merchantmen trading with Red China.

They said this might cause "unfortunate incidents."

They pointed out that Britain repeatedly has protested interference with British ships trading with the Reds.

It was not disclosed whether the concern is a feeler or based upon any warning of British intentions.

Churchill Asked Soviet Parley

London, March 14 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill revealed today that last year he asked Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov for a meeting between himself and former Russian Premier Georgi Malenkov.

Churchill told the House of Commons that he informed President Eisenhower of this move, which did not pan out.

'I asked Mr. Molotov how they would feel about it," said the 80-year-old prime minister. "I was proposing a two-power informal meeting between the foreign secretary (Anthony Eden) and myself and Mr. Malenkov and Mr. Molotov, or anyone they chose to bring to a neutral place, where we could talk over things."

CHURCHILL SAID he had in mind Bern, Stockholm, or Vienna as a possible meeting place. Last July 5, he said he re-

Martin Suggests Caution on Ban

Washington, March 14 (AP)—Chairman William McC. Martin Jr. of the Federal Reserve Board declared today that banning of credit in stock buying would have some undesirable effects. He said it should not be undertaken without careful consideration.

Martin declined to give a direct answer to the Senate Banking Committee, however, when asked if margin requirements—that is, the amount of cash which must be put up in buying securities—should be raised in the near future.

"I WOULDN'T WANT to make any comment," Martin said, "because I am in the position of being able to do something about it . . . I don't want to be a tipster."

In a prepared statement given to the committee, Martin said he sees signs of "unhealthy tendencies when businessmen or the public generally became unduly preoccupied with the stock market and stock prices."

"And unsound speculative psychology may then develop that can have adverse effects throughout the economy," he said.

The stock market had its sharpest break in 15 years last week after the banking committee, headed by Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.), started a "friendly study" of its operations and of

L. C. Elmendorf Dies at Hospital

LESTER C. ELMENDORF

Lester C. Elmendorf, 65, of 173 Ten Broeck avenue, former Kingston city treasurer, died on Sunday night at Kingston Hospital.

Well known for his American Legion and Masonic activities here, Mr. Elmendorf had been engaged in the real estate field, operating from an office in his home, since his return about 1950 from Albany, where he served for about 10 years with the State Department of Mental Hygiene.

He was born in Kingston Sept. 20, 1889, the son of Alvah R. and Ida Winchell Elmendorf. Employed by the Kingston Coal Company at the outbreak of World War 1, he enlisted in the U. S. Naval Reserve on May 10, 1917, and served as chief yeoman in charge of supplies aboard the USS Henderson, a Marine transport which also acted as an escort vessel of the convoys. He was discharged Sept. 5, 1920.

HE RESUMED his employment with the Kingston Coal Company and remained there until January 1, 1938, when he was appointed city treasurer by Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman.

After four years as city treasurer, he went with the State Department of Mental Hygiene as special agent, and later was appointed supervisor of purchase.

FORMER MAYOR Heiselman today paid tribute to Elmendorf as "one of the finest, most efficient public servants I have known." He pointed out that as city treasurer he was usually the first member of the mayor's administration to arrive at the city hall in the morning, and last to leave.

Active in the work of Kingston Post 150, American Legion, Elmendorf was service officer at the time when that post was unpaid, and much of the work in this connection he did at his own expense. He was post commander

Three Hurt In Sunday Accident

Car Strikes Posts, Tree at W. Hurley

Three area residents were injured about 3 a. m. Sunday when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into guard rail posts and a tree along the Onteora Trail at West Hurley, the sheriff's office reported.

Injured were the driver, Frank Clifford West, Jr., 22, of Route 3, Saugerties, and his passengers, Bernard Heidcamp, 21, of 3 Maple street, Kingston, and Harold Downes, 17, of Route 1, Woodstock, according to the report.

Although each received bad cuts about his face and head, none was seriously injured from the standpoint of general condition, reports from Kingston Hospital indicated.

HEIDCAMP AND DOWNES were admitted to the hospital, where their conditions today were reported as "good," and attendants stated they may be discharged later in the day. West was treated and released.

Deputy sheriffs reported that Downes had a scalp laceration requiring 30 sutures, Heidcamp had a scalp laceration which required eight sutures, and West had lacerations of the scalp, left hand and over the left eye.

THE AUTOMOBILE, owned by West's father, was totally wrecked, deputies said. When it came to rest a distance of 150 feet from the point where it struck the first guard post, its hood was laying on the front lawn of Donald Munn, 36 feet from the car, and the front bumper was on the lawn 63 feet away, and "other parts were spread all over the road," according to the report.

West is a sailor assigned to the U. S. Navy Station at Norfolk, Va.

Deputies Thomas Mayone and Harrison Rose investigated.

Test Is Planned For Warnings

There will be a countywide test of Civil Defense warning signals March 21. The test will be made sometime between noon and 6 p. m. with the signals sounding the alert as in a real test but there will be no public participation.

This is planned along the lines of tests which are being held all over the country to test the efficiency and audibility of the warning systems. Recently the State of New Jersey conducted tests for three days on a statewide scale and the results have shown where and how the system can be improved.

When the signals sound on March 21 there will be no interruption of traffic or normal business. The civil defense personnel will observe the results and if there are "dead spots" where the warning signals are not audible, measures will be taken to correct the situation.

R. A. Rowlands Dies

Schenectady, March 14 (AP)—Richard A. Rowlands, an electrical engineer who headed the Schenectady County Civil Defense Commission and was past grand master of New York State Masons, died last night at 64.

Gunman Enters British Embassy, Wounds Guard; Seized by Attaches

Moscow, March 14 (AP)—A husky gunman shot his way into the British Embassy last night, seriously wounding a Russian police guard who tried to stop him.

The fur-hatted Russian intruder was overpowered and disarmed by two unarmed British Embassy attaches after he had forced his way upstairs to the living quarters of Ambassador Sir William and Lady Hayter.

Sir William and Lady Hayter were in the country skiing at the time. They returned just as the gunman was being handed over to Russian police.

NO MOTIVATION for the armed invasion of the embassy could be learned.

(This dispatch was telephoned from Moscow to London. The call was broken at this point by an operator who said in Russian: "There will be no more on this call for the present.")

(After a delay of 72 minutes, the connection was restored. The line went dead briefly when the correspondent resumed dictation with the words "the gunman was described as . . ." The interruption was taken to mean that the Moscow censor was breaking in. There was a three-minute wait. Then the dictation began again.)

ASKED TO COMMENT on the incident, a British Embassy spokesman said:

"The report which has reached correspondents is substantially correct."

He said the embassy reported the incident to the Soviet government.

The embassy—a mansion on the banks of the Moskva river just across from the Kremlin —has two Russian policemen who stand 24-hour guard over the gates to the courtyard.

THE HEROES of the occasion were Third Secretary John A. L. Morgan, 25, and chancery guard Thomas Gray, 32.

The gunman was described as incoherent and pouring forth gibberish in Russian.

He was caught and hauled into the embassy court yard to be turned over to Russian police just as Sir William and Lady Hayter returned from their skiing.

A prosperously dressed youth of about 25, he approached the gates at 6:15 p. m., pulled out a pistol, shot one of the guards in the chest and then ran to the front door.

HE FORCED ASIDE the British guard at the door and ran up the broad staircase. He was found upstairs by a frightened Russian maid.

The maid could not make head or tail of the words pouring from the intruder's lips. He ran into the great state dining room, hung with portraits of Queen Victoria, King Edward VII and George V and was trapped there by the embassy attaches.

They had been summoned from their apartments by telephone by the downstairs chancery guard.

Atomic Blow Could Be Struck

Washington, March 14 (AP)—An aggressor could not save himself from a quick atomic counterblow by making the President a victim of a sneak attack on the United States.

That is the meat of a firm order from the military high command which has been issued to the Strategic Air Command.

Law specifies that only the President may order the use of atomic weapons, but it may be said on the highest authority that provision has been made for an emergency in which the chief executive might be incapacitated or isolated.

AN OFFICIAL who knows about the plans put it this way:

It may be assumed that nobody will have to hunt around in the ruins of the first onslaught for someone to issue the orders.

The exact process—who will sign the order in such a case, how it will be delivered and such —is secret.

Treasury Receipts

Washington, March 14 (AP)—The cash position of the Treasury March 9: Balance $4,381,-299,266.44; deposits fiscal year July 1, $38,170,389,215.36; withdrawals fiscal year, $47,210,-546,989.52; total debt, $278,107,-481,089x; gold assets, $21,717,-035,524.92. Harriman Administration Accused of Witch-Hunting

Albany, March 14 (AP)—The Republican leaders of the legislature today accused the Harriman administration of "witch-hunting" to open State Liquor Authority jobs for Democrats.

Walter J. Mahoney, Majority Leoder of the Senate, and Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck asserted that the office of the Commissioner of Investigation had become a "ruthless political gestapo."

They said J. Irwin Shapiro, Gov. Harriman's commissioner of investigation, was "indulging in a shocking abuse of his official power" in a probe of SLA employes.

"We earnestly urge Gov. Harriman to call an immediate halt to this unprecedented tactic of harassing honest, hard-working state employes," the two Republicans declared in a joint statement.

Shapiro, who has been investigating the SLA, submitted an exacting 28-page questionnaire to an estimated 290 of its employes. The Civil Service Employes Assn., which says it represents about 40,000 state workers, protested.

On Friday, Shapiro said that only about 30 employes who do not have civil service tenure would have to fill out the questionnaires immediately. The association said that was "fair."

But Heck and Mahoney maintained that Shapiro had "backtracked." They demanded that he "have the courage to go all the way and withdraw this par-

Samuels Says First Duty Is to Nation's Disabled

American Legion's first duty is to the disabled, "those who gave their health and strength in battle, and the dependents of those who died while in the forces," Paul S. Samuels, past commander of the Department of New York, said in a talk to Esopus Legionnaires and guests at the SRS Hall in Cottekill Saturday night.

Speaking at the annual party of Town of Esopus Post 1298, Samuels pledged continued efforts by the Legion in preserving benefits for the disabled veterans.

"We find ourselves at the present time engaged in a defense of the patients in veterans' hospitals. Let me make our position clear. The American Legion is not organized for the purpose of attacking the medical profession or defending a government bureau. We were organized to see that proper sympathetic care is provided the ill and disabled veterans, to whom this nation is eternally grateful," he said.

"And let there be no question in your minds as to what the American Legion will do to protect the veteran who must receive hospital care. Our National Commander Collins has told the Congress and the Hoover Commission and the AMA-dominated Medical Service Task Force that we will not hold our punches in disclosing the phony and fraudulent statistics that are being offered in their ice cold dollars-and-cents attack on VA hospital medical care and serv-

POLICE PICKED UP 10 suspects over the weekend and the 11th today. They include five Swedes, 3 Czechs, a Romanian, a German and one unidentified foreigner. The last named was picked up in Goteborg, Sweden's largest port.

Public Prosecutor Werner Rhyninger is expected to ask for arraignment of some of the suspects early next week.

A well informed source said Foreign Minister Oesten Unden probably would summon diplomatic representatives of both Romania and Czechoslovakia this week "for some stern conversation."

A Czech military attache was

Anglo Convoy Fear Expressed

Taipei, Formosa, March 14 (AP)—Official Chinese Nationalist quarters who refused to be identified voiced concern today lest British warships convoy British merchantmen trading with Red China.

They said this might cause "unfortunate incidents."

They pointed out that Britain repeatedly has protested interference with British ships trading with the Reds.

It was not disclosed whether the concern is a feeler or based upon any warning of British intentions.

Churchill Asked Soviet Parley

London, March 14 (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill revealed today that last year he asked Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov for a meeting between himself and former Russian Premier Georgi Malenkov.

Churchill told the House of Commons that he informed President Eisenhower of this move, which did not pan out.

'I asked Mr. Molotov how they would feel about it," said the 80-year-old prime minister. "I was proposing a two-power informal meeting between the foreign secretary (Anthony Eden) and myself and Mr. Malenkov and Mr. Molotov, or anyone they chose to bring to a neutral place, where we could talk over things."

CHURCHILL SAID he had in mind Bern, Stockholm, or Vienna as a possible meeting place. Last July 5, he said he re-

Martin Suggests Caution on Ban

Washington, March 14 (AP)—Chairman William McC. Martin Jr. of the Federal Reserve Board declared today that banning of credit in stock buying would have some undesirable effects. He said it should not be undertaken without careful consideration.

Martin declined to give a direct answer to the Senate Banking Committee, however, when asked if margin requirements—that is, the amount of cash which must be put up in buying securities—should be raised in the near future.

"I WOULDN'T WANT to make any comment," Martin said, "because I am in the position of being able to do something about it . . . I don't want to be a tipster."

In a prepared statement given to the committee, Martin said he sees signs of "unhealthy tendencies when businessmen or the public generally became unduly preoccupied with the stock market and stock prices."

"And unsound speculative psychology may then develop that can have adverse effects throughout the economy," he said.

The stock market had its sharpest break in 15 years last week after the banking committee, headed by Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.), started a "friendly study" of its operations and of

LESTER C. ELMENDORF

Lester C. Elmendorf, 65, of 173 Ten Broeck avenue, former Kingston city treasurer, died on Sunday night at Kingston Hospital.

Well known for his American Legion and Masonic activities here, Mr. Elmendorf had been engaged in the real estate field, operating from an office in his home, since his return about 1950 from Albany, where he served for about 10 years with the State Department of Mental Hygiene.

He was born in Kingston Sept. 20, 1889, the son of Alvah R. and Ida Winchell Elmendorf. Employed by the Kingston Coal Company at the outbreak of World War 1, he enlisted in the U. S. Naval Reserve on May 10, 1917, and served as chief yeoman in charge of supplies aboard the USS Henderson, a Marine transport which also acted as an escort vessel of the convoys. He was discharged Sept. 5, 1920.

HE RESUMED his employment with the Kingston Coal Company and remained there until January 1, 1938, when he was appointed city treasurer by Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman.

After four years as city treasurer, he went with the State Department of Mental Hygiene as special agent, and later was appointed supervisor of purchase.

FORMER MAYOR Heiselman today paid tribute to Elmendorf as "one of the finest, most efficient public servants I have known." He pointed out that as city treasurer he was usually the first member of the mayor's administration to arrive at the city hall in the morning, and last to leave.

Active in the work of Kingston Post 150, American Legion, Elmendorf was service officer at the time when that post was unpaid, and much of the work in this connection he did at his own expense. He was post commander

Test Is Planned For Warnings

There will be a countywide test of Civil Defense warning signals March 21. The test will be made sometime between noon and 6 p. m. with the signals sounding the alert as in a real test but there will be no public participation.

This is planned along the lines of tests which are being held all over the country to test the efficiency and audibility of the warning systems. Recently the State of New Jersey conducted tests for three days on a statewide scale and the results have shown where and how the system can be improved.

When the signals sound on March 21 there will be no interruption of traffic or normal business. The civil defense personnel will observe the results and if there are "dead spots" where the warning signals are not audible, measures will be taken to correct the situation.

Three Hurt In Sunday Accident

Car Strikes Posts, Tree at W. Hurley

Three area residents were injured about 3 a. m. Sunday when the automobile in which they were riding crashed into guard rail posts and a tree along the Onteora Trail at West Hurley, the sheriff's office reported.

Injured were the driver, Frank Clifford West, Jr., 22, of Route 3, Saugerties, and his passengers, Bernard Heidcamp, 21, of 3 Maple street, Kingston, and Harold Downes, 17, of Route 1, Woodstock, according to the report.

Although each received bad cuts about his face and head, none was seriously injured from the standpoint of general condition, reports from Kingston Hospital indicated.

HEIDCAMP AND DOWNES were admitted to the hospital, where their conditions today were reported as "good," and attendants stated they may be discharged later in the day. West was treated and released.

Deputy sheriffs reported that Downes had a scalp laceration requiring 30 sutures, Heidcamp had a scalp laceration which required eight sutures, and West had lacerations of the scalp, left hand and over the left eye.

THE AUTOMOBILE, owned by West's father, was totally wrecked, deputies said. When it came to rest a distance of 150 feet from the point where it struck the first guard post, its hood was laying on the front lawn of Donald Munn, 36 feet from the car, and the front bumper was on the lawn 63 feet away, and "other parts were spread all over the road," according to the report.

West is a sailor assigned to the U. S. Navy Station at Norfolk, Va.

Deputies Thomas Mayone and Harrison Rose investigated.

R. A. Rowlands Dies

Schenectady, March 14 (AP)—Richard A. Rowlands, an electrical engineer who headed the Schenectady County Civil Defense Commission and was past grand master of New York State Masons, died last night at 64.

Gunman Enters British Embassy, Wounds Guard; Seized by Attaches

Moscow, March 14 (AP)—A husky gunman shot his way into the British Embassy last night, seriously wounding a Russian police guard who tried to stop him.

The fur-hatted Russian intruder was overpowered and disarmed by two unarmed British Embassy attaches after he had forced his way upstairs to the living quarters of Ambassador Sir William and Lady Hayter.

Sir William and Lady Hayter were in the country skiing at the time. They returned just as the gunman was being handed over to Russian police.

NO MOTIVATION for the armed invasion of the embassy could be learned.

(This dispatch was telephoned from Moscow to London. The call was broken at this point by an operator who said in Russian: "There will be no more on this call for the present.")

(After a delay of 72 minutes, the connection was restored. The line went dead briefly when the correspondent resumed dictation with the words "the gunman was described as . . ." The interruption was taken to mean that the Moscow censor was breaking in. There was a three-minute wait. Then the dictation began again.)

ASKED TO COMMENT on the incident, a British Embassy spokesman said:

"The report which has reached correspondents is substantially correct."

He said the embassy reported the incident to the Soviet government.

The embassy—a mansion on the banks of the Moskva river just across from the Kremlin—has two Russian policemen who stand 24-hour guard over the gates to the courtyard.

THE HEROES of the occasion were Third Secretary John A. L. Morgan, 25, and chancery guard Thomas Gray, 32.

The gunman was described as incoherent and pouring forth gibberish in Russian.

He was caught and hauled into the embassy court yard to be turned over to Russian police just as Sir William and Lady Hayter returned from their skiing.

A prosperously dressed youth of about 25, he approached the gates at 6:15 p. m., pulled out a pistol, shot one of the guards in the chest and then ran to the front door.

HE FORCED ASIDE the British guard at the door and ran up the broad staircase. He was found upstairs by a frightened Russian maid.

The maid could not make head or tail of the words pouring from the intruder's lips. He ran into the great state dining room, hung with portraits of Queen Victoria, King Edward VII and George V and was trapped there by the embassy attaches.

They had been summoned from their apartments by telephone by the downstairs chancery guard.

Atomic Blow Could Be Struck

Washington, March 14 (AP)—An aggressor could not save himself from a quick atomic counterblow by making the President a victim of a sneak attack on the United States.

That is the meat of a firm order from the military high command which has been issued to the Strategic Air Command.

Law specifies that only the President may order the use of atomic weapons, but it may be said on the highest authority that provision has been made for an emergency in which the chief executive might be incapacitated or isolated.

AN OFFICIAL who knows about the plans put it this way:

It may be assumed that nobody will have to hunt around in the ruins of the first onslaught for someone to issue the orders.

The exact process—who will sign the order in such a case, how it will be delivered and such—is secret.

Harriman Administration Accused of Witch-Hunting

Albany, March 14 (AP)—The Republican leaders of the legislature today accused the Harriman administration of "witch-hunting" to open State Liquor Authority jobs for Democrats.

Walter J. Mahoney, Majority Leoder of the Senate, and Assembly Speaker Oswald D. Heck asserted that the office of the Commissioner of Investigation had become a "ruthless political gestapo."

They said J. Irwin Shapiro, Gov. Harriman's commissioner of investigation, was "indulging in a shocking abuse of his official power" in a probe of SLA employes.

"We earnestly urge Gov. Harriman to call an immediate halt to this unprecedented tactic of harassing honest, hard-working state employes," the two Republicans declared in a joint statement.

Shapiro, who has been investigating the SLA, submitted an exacting 28-page questionnaire to an estimated 290 of its employes. The Civil Service Employes Assn., which says it represents about 40,000 state workers, protested.

On Friday, Shapiro said that only about 30 employes who do not have civil service tenure would have to fill out the questionnaires immediately. The association said that was "fair."

But Heck and Mahoney maintained that Shapiro had "backtracked." They demanded that he "have the courage to go all the way and withdraw this par-

Samuels Says First Duty Is to Nation's Disabled

American Legion's first duty is to the disabled, "those who gave their health and strength in battle, and the dependents of those who died while in the forces," Paul S. Samuels, past commander of the Department of New York, said in a talk to Esopus Legionnaires and guests at the SRS Hall in Cottekill Saturday night.

Speaking at the annual party of Town of Esopus Post 1298, Samuels pledged continued efforts by the Legion in preserving benefits for the disabled veterans.

"We find ourselves at the present time engaged in a defense of the patients in veterans' hospitals. Let me make our position clear. The American Legion is not organized for the purpose of attacking the medical profession or defending a government bureau. We were organized to see that proper sympathetic care is provided the ill and disabled veterans, to whom this nation is eternally grateful," he said.

"And let there be no question in your minds as to what the American Legion will do to protect the veteran who must receive hospital care. Our National Commander Collins has told the Congress and the Hoover Commission and the AMA-dominated Medical Service Task Force that we will not hold our punches in disclosing the phony and fraudulent statistics that are being offered in their ice cold dollars-and-cents attack on VA hospital medical care and serv-

Vols to Meet At Fire Station

New regulations in the county's mutual aid system are slated to be discussed at the March meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association at central fire station Tuesday night.

The firemen will be guests of Wiltwyck and Rapid hose companies and the session is due to start at 8 p. m.

The new mutual plan is subject to approval by the various townships. The April meeting is scheduled for Cottekill April 19. The volunteers will be guests then of the Binnewater, Marbletown and Cottekill fire companies.

Man Charged After Incident

Newark, N. J., March 14 (AP)—A middle-aged man—who claims to be a former hero policeman—held 30 passengers in terror at mock gunpoint for several minutes last night until their plane landed at Newark airport.

His hand jammed in his pocket, the man gave the impression he was holding a gun. The "gun" turned out to be merely a piece of wood. And he surrendered quietly to policemen who had surrounded the Eastern Air Lines DC4 when it arrived at the airport.

Police said the man identified himself as Edward Koen, 51, of South Braintree, Mass. He carried a retired Boston policeman's badge, plus a medal of honor from the force there.

Just five minutes before the Atlanta-to-Newark airliner landed, Koen shouted to purser Curtis Ivy of Newark: "Stand where you are!" It was loud enough for all passengers to hear—and to draw their attention to his hand jammed in his pocket as if clenching a gun.

THE PILOT, Capt. A. L. Nelson, radioed the airport to tell what happened. When the ship landed, Koen told everybody to leave—and supervised their exit to the extent of saying "Watch your step."

Then he walked down the gangplank, where the waiting police picked him up and found the piece of wood in his pocket.

Koen was held on a charge of threatening.

Police at Boston said Koen was awarded the department's medal of honor for his part in the recapture of an escaped gunman in 1938.

Koen was retired from the police force in 1944 on a disability claim. He said he was injured when he fell down a flight of stairs during a raid.

in 1934-1935, during which year the post sponsored a team in the Junior Baseball League, the team becoming New York State Champions. He also encouraged the sponsorship of a basketball team in the New York State League, known as the "Kingston Legionnaires." This team, under the management of the late Frank "Pop" Morgenweck, won first place that year. Elmendorf also served one year as captain of the Legion Drum Corps.

MR. ELMENDORF was a member of the Craftsman Club of the Masons, the A. H. Wicks Engine Company, the 40 & 8 and the Ulster County Real Estate Board.

Kingston Lodge No. 10, F & AM, will hold ritualistic services at the funeral parlors at 7 p. m. Tuesday and the American Legion and 40 & 8 at 8 p. m.

Funeral services will be held at the A. Carr and Son Funeral Home, 1 Pearl street, at 3 p. m. Wednesday with the Rev. Kenneth Neal Alexander, pastor of the St. James Methodist Church, officiating. Burial with military honors will be in Montrepose Cemetery.

Surviving besides his widow, the former Emily B. Bartsch, is a son, Lester C. Elmendorf, Jr., and two granddaughters, Leslie Caron Elmendorf and Lisbeth Dale Elmendorf.

only part of the people," and added:

Central Commuters Give Pig Look to West Shore Trains

New York, March 14 (AP) — About 100 commuters on New York Central's West Shore Railroad rode to work today looking like pigs.

They wore the pig masks as a protest against the railroad's plan to shut down passenger service on the line June 30, but to continue freight service.

Al Messer, of New City, a spokesman for a commuters' committee, said the significance of the mass masquerade stemmed from a comment by Robert R. Young, now chairman of the railroad.

HE ONCE SAID humans should get a better break in railroad travel—that "a hog can cross America without changing trains — but you can't" Messer added:

"Now the passengers are saying, 'a hog will be able to ride the West Shore — why can't we?'"

As their train loaded up this morning, pig-masked riders got on in Kingston, Haverstraw, West Nyack and other Rockland county communities.

"THE CONDUCTORS were a little astounded," Messer said. "But they just deadpanned it, and acted as if we looked like people.

As the train passed through Bergen and Hudson counties in New Jersey, more masked riders got aboard.

When the train reached Weehawken, N. J., the riders ripped off their masks before they boarded the ferry to New York.

And James P. Bierch, president of the Citizens United Transit Committee, read a statement saying that piggy banks would be passed through the train tomorrow.

Each commuter will be asked to contribute $1 to help fight the railroad's request for passenger service abandonment.

(NOTE: NO PASSENGERS on the train out of Kingston at 6:15 a. m., today were observed with such masks. The city has no regular commuters to New York, but there may have been some weekenders returning to the city.)

Capehart Believes Probe Was Cause Of Stocks' Drop

New York, March 14 (AP)—Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.) says he believes the Senate investigation of Wall street is one reason why stock prices dropped seven billion dollars last week.

At a news conference last night, Capehart said the investigation "can't help but throw some shadow on the houses of industry." He added that this was not the only reason for the market break, but he did not say what the other causes might be.

Capehart said the Senate Committee, of which he is a member and which is headed by Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.), should be looking for any specific conspiracies to manipulate the market. The committee, he added, "should not be condemning the whole stock industry."

CAPEHART ASKED why stocks should suffer their greatest drop in 15 years when a "healthy business picture in a growing nation like ours should keep stock prices up." Then he added:

"I hope that there is no one person or any group who is trying to destroy or even shake public confidence in the stability of the many corporations whose securities are listed on the stock exchange . . .

"Only those who must want to cause a business recession, create unemployment, and weaken our nation would seek to precipitate a stock market decline."

Capehart discussed the market probe with newsmen after appearing on the Walter Winchell program over the American Broadcasting Co. radio and television networks.

Ribicoff Opens Probe of Details

Hartford, Conn., March 14 (AP) —Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff this morning opened a full dress investigation into details surrounding negotiations for purchase of the Kent House Hotel, Greenwich, for $170,000.

Called to meet with the governor this morning were State Police Commissioner John C. Kelly, State Highway Commissioner Newman Argraves, and Atty. Gen. John J. Bracken.

The governor called these officials together to start a search into what he called "peculiar circumstances" in connection with appraisals on the property and the general handling of the deal.

THE HOTEL PROPERTY, which is in the line of the new Greenwich - Killingly highway, was to be acquired by the state by negotiated agreement on the price. In such cases, a state referee must approve the sale.

Last week State Referee William H. Comley refused to indorse the offer of $170,000 for the Kent House. In a terse, one-sentence decision, Judge Comley said merely that he had heard testimony of state witnesses and refused to approve the purchase.

Former State Highway Commissioner G. Albert Hill was not called to attend today's preliminary meeting. Mr. Hill has stated that he was under "considerable pressure" to close the Kent House deal for $185,000. He said he resisted these pressures, became suspicious and turned the matter over to the state police for investigation.

Telepas Charged With Assault

Peter Telepas, 54, of the Holland Hotel, 608 Broadway, who appeared in city court Saturday as a complainant was later arrested at police headquarters on a warrant executed by Officer Gurnsey Burger, Jr., and charging third degree assault.

Police said Eva Marie Mower, of 119 Clinton avenue, was listed as the complainant and the case was put over to March 19. Authorities said all charges were an outgrowth of the same incident.

THE CASE before Special City Judge Harry Gold Saturday was listed as that of Marie Whitaker, 29, and Allen Hughes, 28, of 119 Clinton avenue, charged with taking a blanket and pillows from the Holland Hotel. This was adjourned to the 19th.

Marie Whitaker was also charged with third degree assault and Telepas was listed as the complainant.

HAROLD WATERMAN, 38, of 108 Murray street, was arrested by his wife, Eva, early Sunday on a third degree assault charge. The case was put over to March 19 when he appeared today before City Judge Raymond J. Mino. Attorney Louis DiDonna represented the district attorney's office.

New Curfew Law Is Now in Effect

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren today issued a reminder that an old curfew law has been voided and a new one, aimed at curbing juvenile delinquency, has been enacted and is now effective in the city.

Children under 16, under the law, are not permitted to linger on the streets, or in general be out at night without parents or escorts.

The curfew hour is 11 p. m., during spring and summer months. The hours, under provisions of the older law, adopted April 20, 1906, fixed the curfew hour at 9 p. m., in the summer and spring months and 8 p. m., in the fall and winter.

The new law places a greater responsibility upon parents and guardians for juvenile delinquency and provides for a penalty as high as $500 fine, or six months imprisonment, or both, for violations, which in any way, contribute toward juvenile delinquency.

Izvestia Assails Eisenhower Plan

Moscow, March 14 (AP)—Izvestia revived yesterday a soviet attack on President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace plan calling it phony.

The Soviet government newspaper charged the proposal the President advanced Dec. 8, 1953, was "obviously planned for something else. . . . a wish to capture control over atomic raw materials and their usage in other countries."

This accusation was made in Volume 22 of the Great Soviet Encyclopedia, issued in the spring of 1954, in an article on the Belgian Congo. The article said American "monopolists were seeking control of the strategic raw materials, first of all uranium," in the African territory. The charge has since been repeated to include Canada and many other countries.

THE SOVIET PRESS has never published a statement by Prime Minister Churchill in London March 1 that the free world would retain an overwhelming superiority over the Soviet Union in hydrogen weapons for the next two to four years. But the men in the Kremlin presumably have studied his words carefully, including his declaration that the United States is the only country at present able to deliver a full-scale attack with hydrogen bombs at a few hours' notice.

Slight Head Injury

Stan Millstin, of 24 Prestwick Terrace, Glen Cove, L. I., reported to police at 1:45 p. m., Saturday that Susan Millstin, 5, suffered a slight head injury, in a mishap on lower Broadway. The driver of the other car, he said, "failed to make himself known." He was headed north on Broadway when the other car struck his as it passed near Pierpont street.

Mercury Takes Drop

The mercury took a dip over the weekend after reaching record high temperatures of 67 both Thursday and Friday. Saturday's high was 58 and Sunday's 49. The low temperatures Sunday and today, by records of the city engineer's office, gave the area freezing weather. Sunday's low was 32 and this morning's was 27 degree.

To Attend Services

Members of the A. H. Wicks Engine and Truck Company will meet at the fire station at 7:30 p. m., Tuesday to attend services at the funeral home for Lester C. Elmendorf, Sr., a member of the company, who died last night.

Firemen Are Called

Local firemen were called for a grass fire in the Glen street area at 1:26 p. m. Ulster Hose Company was called for one at 12:50 to an area near the state police barracks along Route 9W.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 14 (AP)—Stocks were knocked down sharply in a selling wave today, but the market recovered its balance and managed to maintain a fair amount of stability around the lows.

Losses ran from 1 to 5 points at the worst during the morning. By early afternoon, most stocks were a trifle above their lowest prices.

Trading expanded swiftly when the selling was underway, and the pace hit a rate near 3½ million shares for the day. Friday's total when the market was lower was 3,040,000 shares.

Eastman Pays Wage Dividend

Rochester, March 14 (AP)—A record $28,300,000 in wage dividends was scheduled to be distributed today by the Eastman Kodak Co. to 51,400 company employes here and elsewhere in the country.

Checks were to go to about 35,000 employes in the Rochester area.

Eligible employes were paid at the rate of $28.75 for each $1,000 earned from 1950-54. Last year's dividend of $24,900,000 was paid at the rate of $27.75 for every $1,000 earned during the preceding five years.

The wage dividend, the company said, was based on the cash dividend paid on the company's common stock.

Martin Suggests

the rise in stock prices during the last 18 months. It is widely debated whether the Senate inquiry influenced the break.

MARTIN, a former president of the New York Stock Exchange, told the committee margin requirements by themselves may not be able to halt excessive speculation. He said "They are not and cannot be cure-alls for stock market excesses or abuses."

The board increased margin requirements from 50 to 60 per cent last January. That means an investor now can finance only 40 per cent of his stock purchases on credit. The Fulbright committee has received conflicting views on whether credit buying should be halted by raising the margin requirements to 100 per cent.

THE FRB CHAIRMAN told the committee that brokers' loans to their customers have risen to $2,600,000,000—the highest level since the keeping of such figures began in 1931.

All told, Martin said, loans on securities total some $7,200,000,000 today—an increase of around 2 billion dollars since the end of 1946.

But Martin said this increase must be viewed in the light of "the whole picture of credit outstanding in the economy." The total increase in credit since 1946, he said, is nearly 200 billion dollars—so that stock loans make up only about 1 per cent of the eight-year increase.

Martin stressed that the federal reserve board has no responsibility toward determining stock prices.

HE SAID it insists on more cash only to check "excessive use of credit." And that, Martin said, "is largely a question of judgment."

Martin said elimination of credit-buying—by raising margin requirements to 100 per cent—wouldn't necessarily check rising prices.

"Even if all credit were eliminated from the stock market," he said, "cash purchases could bid up the prices of stocks to high levels. Regulation can restrain the use of credit for stock market purposes, but it cannot serve as a guarantee against all speculative excesses."

The FRB chairman said he regarded the Senate inquiry—which some Wall street sources regard as a cause of recent price breaks—as "useful and constructive."

Among other things, he said, "it serves to remind us all that the underlying strength of the nation depends not only on wise laws and regulations but upon enlightened leadership and good morals in the market place."

Central Commuters Give Pig Look to West Shore Trains

New York, March 14 (AP) — About 100 commuters on New York Central's West Shore Railroad rode to work today looking like pigs.

They wore the pig masks as a protest against the railroad's plan to shut down passenger service on the line June 30, but to continue freight service.

Al Messer, of New City, a spokesman for a commuters' committee, said the significance of the mass masquerade stemmed from a comment by Robert R. Young, now chairman of the railroad.

HE ONCE SAID humans should get a better break in railroad travel—that "a hog can cross America without changing trains — but you can't" Messer added:

"Now the passengers are saying, 'a hog will be able to ride the West Shore — why can't we?' "

As their train loaded up this morning, pig-masked riders got on in Kingston, Haverstraw, West Nyack and other Rockland county communities.

"THE CONDUCTORS were a little astounded," Messer said. "But they just deadpanned it, and acted as if we looked like people.

As the train passed through Bergen and Hudson counties in New Jersey, more masked riders got aboard.

When the train reached Weehawken, N. J., the riders ripped off their masks before they boarded the ferry to New York.

And James P. Bierch, president of the Citizens United Transit Committee, read a statement saying that piggy banks would be passed through the train tomorrow.

Each commuter will be asked to contribute $1 to help fight the railroad's request for passenger service abandonment.

(NOTE: NO PASSENGERS on the train out of Kingston at 6:15 a. m., today were observed with such masks. The city has no regular commuters to New York, but there may have been some weekenders returning to the city.)

Vols to Meet At Fire Station

New regulations in the county's mutual aid system are slated to be discussed at the March meeting of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association at central fire station Tuesday night.

The firemen will be guests of Wiltwyck and Rapid hose companies and the session is due to start at 8 p. m.

The new mutual plan is subject to approval by the various townships. The April meeting is scheduled for Cottekill April 19. The volunteers will be guests then of the Binnewater, Marbletown and Cottekill fire companies.

Man Charged After Incident

Newark, N. J., March 14 (AP)—A middle-aged man—who claims to be a former hero policeman—held 30 passengers in terror at mock gunpoint for several minutes last night until their plane landed at Newark airport.

His hand jammed in his pocket, the man gave the impression he was holding a gun. The "gun" turned out to be merely a piece of wood. And he surrendered quietly to policemen who had surrounded the Eastern Air Lines DC4 when it arrived at the airport.

Police said the man identified himself as Edward Koen, 51, of South Braintree, Mass. He carried a retired Boston policeman's badge, plus a medal of honor from the force there.

Just five minutes before the Atlanta-to-Newark airliner landed, Koen shouted to purser Curtis Ivy of Newark: "Stand where you are!" It was loud enough for all passengers to hear—and to draw their attention to his hand jammed in his pocket as if clenching a gun.

THE PILOT, Capt. A. L. Nelson, radioed the airport to tell what happened. When the ship landed, Koen told everybody to leave—and supervised their exit to the extent of saying "Watch your step."

Then he walked down the gangplank, where the waiting police picked him up and found the piece of wood in his pocket.

Koen was held on a charge of threatening.

Police at Boston said Koen was awarded the department's medal of honor for his part in the recapture of an escaped gunman in 1938.

Koen was retired from the police force in 1944 on a disability claim. He said he was injured when he fell down a flight of stairs during a raid.

L. C. Elmendorf

in 1934-1935, during which year the post sponsored a team in the Junior Baseball League, the team becoming New York State Champions. He also encouraged the sponsorship of a basketball team in the New York State League, known as the "Kingston Legionnaires." This team, under the management of the late Frank "Pop" Morgenweck, won first place that year. Elmendorf also served one year as captain of the Legion Drum Corps.

MR. ELMENDORF was a member of the Craftsman Club of the Masons, the A. H. Wicks Engine Company, the 40 & 8 and the Ulster County Real Estate Board.

Kingston Lodge No. 10, F & AM, will hold ritualistic services at the funeral parlors at 7 p. m. Tuesday and the American Legion and 40 & 8 at 8 p. m.

Funeral services will be held at the A. Carr and Son Funeral Home, 1 Pearl street, at 3 p. m. Wednesday with the Rev. Kenneth Neal Alexander, pastor of the St. James Methodist Church, officiating. Burial with military honors will be in Montrepose Cemetery.

Surviving besides his widow, the former Emily B. Bartsch, is a son, Lester C. Elmendorf, Jr., and two granddaughters, Leslie Caron Elmendorf and Lisbeth Dale Elmendorf.

only part of the people," and added:

Capehart Believes Probe Was Cause Of Stocks' Drop

New York, March 14 (AP)—Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.) says he believes the Senate investigation of Wall street is one reason why stock prices dropped seven billion dollars last week.

At a news conference last night, Capehart said the investigation "can't help but throw some shadow on the houses of industry." He added that this was not the only reason for the market break, but he did not say what the other causes might be.

Capehart said the Senate Committee, of which he is a member and which is headed by Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.), should be looking for any specific conspiracies to manipulate the market. The committee, he added, "should not be condemning the whole stock industry."

CAPEHART ASKED why stocks should suffer their greatest drop in 15 years when a "healthy business picture in a growing nation like ours should keep stock prices up." Then he added:

"I hope that there is no one person or any group who is trying to destroy or even shake public confidence in the stability of the many corporations whose securities are listed on the stock exchange . . .

"Only those who must want to cause a business recession, create unemployment, and weaken our nation would seek to precipitate a stock market decline."

Capehart discussed the market probe with newsmen after appearing on the Walter Winchell program over the American Broadcasting Co. radio and television networks.

Ribicoff Opens Probe of Details

Hartford, Conn., March 14 (AP)—Gov. Abraham A. Ribicoff this morning opened a full dress investigation into details surrounding negotiations for purchase of the Kent House Hotel, Greenwich, for $170,000.

Called to meet with the governor this morning were State Police Commissioner John C. Kelly, State Highway Commissioner Newman Argraves, and Atty. Gen. John J. Bracken.

The governor called these officials together to start a search into what he called "peculiar circumstances" in connection with appraisals on the property and the general handling of the deal.

THE HOTEL PROPERTY, which is in the line of the new Greenwich - Killingly highway, was to be acquired by the state by negotiated agreement on the price. In such cases, a state referee must approve the sale.

Last week State Referee William H. Comley refused to indorse the offer of $170,000 for the Kent House. In a terse, one-sentence decision, Judge Comley said merely that he had heard testimony of state witnesses and refused to approve the purchase.

Former State Highway Commissioner G. Albert Hill was not called to attend today's preliminary meeting. Mr. Hill has stated that he was under "considerable pressure" to close the Kent House deal for $185,000. He said he resisted these pressures, became suspicious and turned the matter over to the state police for investigation.

Telepas Charged With Assault

Peter Telepas, 54, of the Holland Hotel, 608 Broadway, who appeared in city court Saturday as a complainant was later arrested at police headquarters on a warrant executed by Officer Gurnsey Burger, Jr., and charging third degree assault.

Police said Eva Marie Mower, of 119 Clinton avenue, was listed as the complainant and the case was put over to March 19. Authorities said all charges were an outgrowth of the same incident.

THE CASE before Special City Judge Harry Gold Saturday was listed as that of Marie Whitaker, 29, and Allen Hughes, 28, of 119 Clinton avenue, charged with taking a blanket and pillows from the Holland Hotel. This was adjourned to the 19th.

Marie Whitaker was also charged with third degree assault and Telepas was listed as the complainant.

HAROLD WATERMAN, 38, of 108 Murray street, was arrested by his wife, Eva, early Sunday on a third degree assault charge. The case was put over to March 19 when he appeared today before City Judge Raymond J. Mino. Attorney Louis DiDonna represented the district attorney's office.

New Curfew Law Is Now in Effect

Police Chief Raymond Van Buren today issued a reminder that an old curfew law has been voided and a new one, aimed at curbing juvenile delinquency, has been enacted and is now effective in the city.

Children under 16, under the law, are not permitted to linger on the streets, or in general be out at night without parents or escorts.

The curfew hour is 11 p. m., during spring and summer months. The hours, under provisions of the older law, adopted April 20, 1906, fixed the curfew hour at 9 p. m., in the summer and spring months and 8 p. m., in the fall and winter.

The new law places a greater responsibility upon parents and guardians for juvenile delinquency and provides for a penalty as high as $500 fine, or six months imprisonment, or both, for violations, which in any way, contribute toward juvenile delinquency.

Izvestia Assails Eisenhower Plan

Moscow, March 14 (AP)—Izvestia revived yesterday a soviet attack on President Eisenhower's atoms-for-peace plan calling it phony.

The Soviet government newspaper charged the proposal the President advanced Dec. 8, 1953, was "obviously planned for something else. . . . a wish to capture control over atomic raw materials and their usage in other countries."

This accusation was made in Volume 22 of the Great Soviet Encyclopedia, issued in the spring of 1954, in an article on the Belgian Congo. The article said American "monopolists were seeking control of the strategic raw materials, first of all uranium," in the African territory. The charge has since been repeated to include Canada and many other countries.

THE SOVIET PRESS has never published a statement by Prime Minister Churchill in London March 1 that the free world would retain an overwhelming superiority over the Soviet Union in hydrogen weapons for the next two to four years. But the men in the Kremlin presumably have studied his words carefully, including his declaration that the United States is the only country at present able to deliver a full-scale attack with hydrogen bombs at a few hours' notice.

Slight Head Injury

Stan Millstin, of 24 Prestwick Terrace, Glen Cove, L. I., reported to police at 1:45 p. m., Saturday that Susan Millstin, 5, suffered a slight head injury, in a mishap on lower Broadway. The driver of the other car, he said, "failed to make himself known." He was headed north on Broadway when the other car struck his as it passed near Pierpont street.

Mercury Takes Drop

The mercury took a dip over the weekend after reaching record high temperatures of 67 both Thursday and Friday. Saturday's high was 58 and Sunday's 49. The low temperatures Sunday and today, by records of the city engineer's office, gave the area freezing weather. Sunday's low was 32 and this morning's was 27 degree.

To Attend Services

Members of the A. H. Wicks Engine and Truck Company will meet at the fire station at 7:30 p. m., Tuesday to attend services at the funeral home for Lester C. Elmendorf, Sr., a member of the company, who died last night.

Firemen Are Called

Local firemen were called for a grass fire in the Glen street area at 1:26 p. m. Ulster Hose Company was called for one at 12:50 to an area near the state police barracks along Route 9W.

Financial and Commercial

New York, March 14 (AP)—Stocks were knocked down sharply in a selling wave today, but the market recovered its balance and managed to maintain a fair amount of stability around the lows.

Losses ran from 1 to 5 points at the worst during the morning. By early afternoon, most stocks were a trifle above their lowest prices.

Trading expanded swiftly when the selling was underway, and the pace hit a rate near 3½ million shares for the day. Friday's total when the market was lower was 3,040,000 shares.

Eastman Pays Wage Dividend

Rochester, March 14 (AP)—A record $28,300,000 in wage dividends was scheduled to be distributed today by the Eastman Kodak Co. to 51,400 company employes here and elsewhere in the country.

Checks were to go to about 35,000 employes in the Rochester area.

Eligible employes were paid at the rate of $28.75 for each $1,000 earned from 1950-54. Last year's dividend of $24,900,000 was paid at the rate of $27.75 for every $1,000 earned during the preceding five years.

The wage dividend, the company said, was based on the cash dividend paid on the company's common stock.

Martin Suggests

the rise in stock prices during the last 18 months. It is widely debated whether the Senate inquiry influenced the break.

MARTIN, a former president of the New York Stock Exchange, told the committee margin requirements by themselves may not be able to halt excessive speculation. He said "They are not and cannot be cure-alls for stock market excesses or abuses."

The board increased margin requirements from 50 to 60 per cent last January. That means an investor now can finance only 40 per cent of his stock purchases on credit. The Fulbright committee has received conflicting views on whether credit buying should be halted by raising the margin requirements to 100 per cent.

THE FRB CHAIRMAN told the committee that brokers' loans to their customers have risen to $2,600,000,000—the highest level since the keeping of such figures began in 1931.

All told, Martin said, loans on securities total some $7,200,000,000 today—an increase of around 2 billion dollars since the end of 1946.

But Martin said this increase must be viewed in the light of "the whole picture of credit outstanding in the economy." The total increase in credit since 1946, he said, is nearly 200 billion dollars—so that stock loans make up only about 1 per cent of the eight-year increase.

Martin stressed that the federal reserve board has no responsibility toward determining stock prices.

HE SAID it insists on more cash only to check "excessive use of credit." And that, Martin said, "is largely a question of judgment."

Martin said elimination of credit-buying—by raising margin requirements to 100 per cent—wouldn't necessarily check rising prices.

"Even if all credit were eliminated from the stock market," he said, "cash purchases could bid up the prices of stocks to high levels. Regulation can restrain the use of credit for stock market purposes, but it cannot serve as a guarantee against all speculative excesses."

The FRB chairman said he regarded the Senate inquiry—which some Wall street sources regard as a cause of recent price breaks—as "useful and constructive."

Among other things, he said, "it serves to remind us all that the underlying strength of the nation depends not only on wise laws and regulations but upon enlightened leadership and good morals in the market place."

How to Keep 'Help'

By FRANK TRIPP

This is a tribute to a wonderful person; more earnestly penned than words of praise bestowed upon any potentate who ever crossed my path. It was earned by the innate kindness and loyalty of an unfailing friend.

When Fanny and I listen to the help problems of other people we don't know how to sympathize. We don't because Our Anna isn't "help." She is one of us. The whole house is hers, the cars, the boats, the larder, the cash box—even little Cokey is as much Anna's as ours; sometimes we think more hers.

Anna came to live with us as a very young girl, some 30 years ago. She came from a big family of fine people. Her father was a coal miner. The Waldorf never had a better cook than she turned out to be.

But she was too much executive to stay a cook. In time she took over our house and our lives, all of our problems, lock, stock and barrel. Before we realized it, we were living with Anna; and at first didn't know if we liked it.

WE HAD NO grandchildren when Anna came, just our two school age daughters. Anna wasn't much older than our children, only two years older than our Mary. One of our earliest recollections of her is she and Nancy wrestling on the living room floor like a couple of cub bears.

Lonely Anna took our kids to her heart, and they accepted her like a big sister. Anna wasn't lonely very long.

Our girls married and Anna spread their wedding feasts. Their children came, seven of them, and Anna took them on, one by one. She learned first thing in the morning what she could do for them that day. A roast, a cake or a pie went more often than I did.

Anna baby sat, rode them out, brought them to stay whole weekends — does yet. She takes them to her Pennsylvania home to spend days with her people. They're her kids, she's proud of them; masters them better than their parents, and they all love her. Now she's starting on our great grandchildren.

ANNA DRIVES ME to the office, comes after me at night. She does the errands, does our banking, meets the trains and planes, runs the house, cooks the meals. Anna dons her dungarees, plants the flowers, weeds the beds, splits the kindling, lays the fireplace; does anything that she asks others to do; supervises her helpers; leads, doesn't drive them.

Anna mixes our drinks and serves them; always has one with us, often with our friends who accept and love her too; for Anna is an attractive brunette who fits anywhere, and dresses like a queen.

Anna readies the boat, stocks the galley, stuffs the landlubbers into sleepy insensibility. Anna goes fishing with the kids, cleans their catch and cooks it.

Anna learns who is sick or down and out and takes them food and cheer. She keeps herself broke.

Anna knows how to seem like "help." She can put on an act for the very few stuffed shirts who get to come to our house. She never takes advantage of the friendliness that she inspires

ANNA HAS WEPT and prayed with us. She nursed and comforted Fanny's mother and mine and my father, on their deathbeds. She stood beside us at their graves and shed tears for them. Oh, there are so many things that Anna does that these are just a few.

You'll wonder how she finds time to live, but she has time for everything—and she has fun. She knows her way around and everybody knows Our Anna.

Anna is a thoroughly reliable, the friendliness that she inspires. —with a great big heart.

There aren't a lot of Annas in the world; but should you find one, don't call her "help" or treat her that way.

Or you'll break the spirit of a thoroughbred and be right back where you started.

You can't hire Annas. You must earn them.

St. Remy Firemen Celebrate Their 25th Anniversary

St. Remy Fire Department celebrated its 25th anniversary at a dinner in the Alpine on March 5, attended by 80 volunteer firemen, their wives, members of the Ladies' Auxiliary and guests, including Chief Edward Maines of the Port Ewen Fire Department and Deputy Chief Harold Sanford of the Kingston Fire Department, both of whom took an active part in the activities of the evening.

Chief Maines was installing officer as heads of the department assumed their duties for the year, and he complimented the volunteers on their service to the community and their interest in helping to keep it safe. Officers in the department, besides those in the picture, are Allan Dargie, president; George King, vice president; Crawford Short, treasurer; William Kelley, secretary and Albert Dalluge, director for five years.

Charter members of the auxiliary present at the affair were Mrs. Phillip Fisher Armstrong of Baldwin, L. I., and Isabel Krom of St. Remy. Charter members of the fire department in attendance were Phillip Fisher Jr., Ernest Frost, Louis Palkowitz, Alwyn Nicholas, John Buzdygan and John Tervo.

Chester Carkuff, retiring chief, was presented with a badge.

Deputy Chief Sanford of Kingston outlined the duties of a volunteer fireman, in his talk, and he stressed the valuable assistance he gives. Deputy Sanford also presented fire training certificates for 50 hours of advanced fire school training to Garvin Fisher, Edward Kelley and William Kelley.

Chief Joseph L. Murphy of the Kingston department called during the evening to deliver his greetings to the St. Remy firemen.

After dinner there was dancing until 1 a. m.

Meyner Asks Jersey State To Spend Large Sum on Roads

Trenton, N. J., March 14 (AP)—Gov. Robert B. Meyner today asked the New Jersey Legislature to spend more than 32½ million dollars on capital improvements—mostly highway construction—during the 1955-56 fiscal year.

This brings Meyner's total budget recommendations for New Jersey government during the new fiscal year to nearly 287 million dollars, highest in the state's history.

It leaves him an estimated surplus on June 30, 1956, of more than 15½ million dollars, the highest predicted reserve in any New Jersey budget.

THE ASSEMBLY and Senate meet at 2 p. m. with Meyner's budget message the main topic of the day. Neither House planned action on any major bills.

Along with his capital improvement budget recommendations, Meyner proposed a program of constructing five new state office buildings over a period of years. The new buildings would be financed by funds now or soon to become available to the state from the veteran's guaranteed loan fund, sale of veterans' housing, the unemployment compensation auxiliary fund.

All that this program requires in the way of legislative action, Meyner said, is authorization to transfer the funds. No new appropriation would be needed and the program thus would not affect his total budget recommendations or estimated surplus.

HE SUGGESTED that $13,583,665 worth of buildings be constructed for five departments in this order—labor and industry, health, law and public safety, education, and institutions and agencies. All the new buildings would be in the Trenton area.

Meyner personally delivered his budget recommendation on government operating expenses and state aid to the legislature Jan. 31. His proposals for capital improvement—sent to the lawmakers in a message—give this pictures of the state's income and outgo during 1955-56:

Estimated revenue from July 1, 1955, to June 30, 1956—$302,708,195.

GOVERNMENT operating expenses and state aid—$254,289,289.

Capital improvements — $32,658,833.

Total budget recommendations—$286,948,122.

Estimated surplus — $15,760,073.

About 80 per cent of Meyner's capital improvement budget recommendations — $26,725,000 is for highways.

DESCRIBING it as a "nibble at a big cheese," the governor asked the lawmakers to appropriate 20 million dollars for new construction, $4,730,000 for the operating costs of the highway department's construction and rights-of-way division, $1,796,000 for new institutional roads and approaches, and $200,000 for installation of traffic signals.

Fort Worth (AP)—On a night flight from El Paso here, a passenger told the pretty blonde hostess that he didn't want any dinner. "OK," she she told him, "but you're missing breaded veal cutlets and you'll get a lower grade." "What do you mean by a lower grade?" "Oh, we grade all you passengers," she informed him.

Lodge Says U. S. Still Has Hopes

United Nations, N. Y., March 14 (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. says the United States still hopes the Soviets will cooperate in the disarmament negotiations now underway "but it is a hard road."

Lodge, chief U. S. delegate to the United Nations, returned last night from the five-power arms talks going on in London since Feb. 25. His deputy, James J. Wadsworth, remained.

Lodge's brief statement, issued by the U. S. delegation, did not say whether the talks are making any progress. The Soviet Union at the UN Assembly last fall had joined the west in sponsoring the proposal that the negotiations be held.

Another Conference Planned in Nevada

Las Vegas, Nev., March 14 (AP)—Another evaluation conference is planned today on whether test No. 6 in the 1955 atomic series will be ready, and the weather right, for firing tomorrow.

In yesterday's meeting atomic energy commission, department of defense and weather experts decided against setting off an explosion today. They did not disclose the reason.

Shot No. 5, in the baby A-bomb category, was fired Saturday to test the value of a smoke screen in reducing nuclear heat radiation.

Meyner Asks Jersey State To Spend Large Sum on Roads

Trenton, N. J., March 14 (AP)—Gov. Robert B. Meyner today asked the New Jersey Legislature to spend more than 32½ million dollars on capital improvements—mostly highway construction—during the 1955-56 fiscal year.

This brings Meyner's total budget recommendations for New Jersey government during the new fiscal year to nearly 287 million dollars, highest in the state's history.

It leaves him an estimated surplus on June 30, 1956, of more than 15½ million dollars, the highest predicted reserve in any New Jersey budget.

THE ASSEMBLY and Senate meet at 2 p. m. with Meyner's budget message the main topic of the day. Neither House planned action on any major bills.

Along with his capital improvement budget recommendations, Meyner proposed a program of constructing five new state office buildings over a period of years. The new buildings would be financed by funds now or soon to become available to the state from the veteran's guaranteed loan fund, sale of veterans' housing, the unemployment compensation auxiliary fund.

All that this program requires in the way of legislative action, Meyner said, is authorization to transfer the funds. No new appropriation would be needed and the program thus would not affect his total budget recommendations or estimated surplus.

HE SUGGESTED that $13,583,665 worth of buildings be constructed for five departments in this order—labor and industry, health, law and public safety, education, and institutions and agencies. All the new buildings would be in the Trenton area.

Meyner personally delivered his budget recommendation on government operating expenses and state aid to the legislature Jan. 31. His proposals for capital improvement—sent to the lawmakers in a message—give this pictures of the state's income and outgo during 1955-56:

Estimated revenue from July 1, 1955, to June 30, 1956—$302,708,195.

GOVERNMENT operating expenses and state aid—$254,289,289.

Capital improvements — $32,658,833.

Total budget recommendations—$286,948,122.

Estimated surplus — $15,760,073.

About 80 per cent of Meyner's capital improvement budget recommendations — $26,725,000 is for highways.

DESCRIBING it as a "nibble at a big cheese," the governor asked the lawmakers to appropriate 20 million dollars for new construction, $4,730,000 for the operating costs of the highway department's construction and rights-of-way division, $1,796,000 for new institutional roads and approaches, and $200,000 for installation of traffic signals.

Lodge Says U. S. Still Has Hopes

United Nations, N. Y., March 14 (AP)—Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. says the United States still hopes the Soviets will cooperate in the disarmament negotiations now underway "but it is a hard road."

Lodge, chief U. S. delegate to the United Nations, returned last night from the five-power arms talks going on in London since Feb. 25. His deputy, James J. Wadsworth, remained.

Lodge's brief statement, issued by the U. S. delegation, did not say whether the talks are making any progress. The Soviet Union at the UN Assembly last fall had joined the west in sponsoring the proposal that the negotiations be held.

Waterless Cruise

Detroit (AP)—A three-ton cabin cruiser sailed on an impromptu cruise down a Detroit street. A trailer hitch snapped, the 21-footer fell off and slid several feet along the pavement. Four auto wreckers spent two hours hoisting the boat back on the trailer.

Another Conference Planned in Nevada

Las Vegas, Nev., March 14 (AP)—Another evaluation conference is planned today on whether test No. 6 in the 1955 atomic series will be ready, and the weather right, for firing tomorrow.

In yesterday's meeting atomic energy commission, department of defense and weather experts decided against setting off an explosion today. They did not disclose the reason.

Shot No. 5, in the baby A-bomb category, was fired Saturday to test the value of a smoke screen in reducing nuclear heat radiation.

SAFE DRIVING BABIES

The University of Cincinnati believes that it's never too early to teach children how to become safe drivers. On its nursery school playgrounds traffic laws are taught and carefully explained to babes as young as three. If they are big enough to make a tricycle go, or any play vehicle on wheels, they are big enough to learn to do it right, believe the instructors.

When the tricycles tangle, the drivers are taught why they did and how to avoid doing it again. When a speeding scooter comes to grief, its young driver has the laws of speed and curves explained in words suitable to his understanding. The small fry learn the rights of others, and how much more fun it is to do things right than wrong, how much pleasanter the playground is when its hoppers and jumpers and sliders and bumpers as well as drivers are nice to each other.

It always was a good idea to teach responsibility and courtesy to children at an early age.

It might possibly be that Americans are passing through a high point of careless driving, with wounds and deaths as the present price thereof. What with classes for drivers in secondary schools, with smiling but firm supervision for the three-wheeled and two-wheeled brigade of preschool age, perhaps in ten or fifteen years there may be a change in point of view as to automobile accidents. Speed the day!

CUFFLINKS, CORNFLAKES

"What on earth do you suppose the grocery is charging me for now? Cufflinks! I didn't order cufflinks, and if I did, it wouldn't be from a grocery." The dismay of this housewife is repeated all over the land when it becomes necessary to decipher some one else's handwriting. In this case the problematic cufflinks turned out eventually to be cornflakes, but not always is the reader so fortunate.

More than $70,000,000 was lost last year by American businesses because of illegible handwriting, says the Handwriting Foundation, Inc. This organization is trying to get Americans to realize the importance of legible penmanship. When a figure 3 cannot be distinguished from a 5 or an 8, or a 1 resembles a 7, anything can happen in business transactions. There is always the problem of delivering mail correctly.

Once people were proud of their beautiful writing. Orientals still are. Fine penmanship is rated among the fine arts in China and the Mohammedan world. That is perhaps too much to hope for from bustling Americans, but something could be done.

Sir Winston Churchill recently announced his intention to discuss cotton problems with leaders of the industry. The manufacturers will undoubtedly leave the discussions thinking that Winnie is all wool—you should excuse the expression—and a yard wide.

PRICE OF GREATNESS

Chicago bows to New York in size. It isn't the national capital. And it doesn't come anywhere near matching the pace of growth shown by Los Angeles, the country's third largest city.

Yet Professor John Garland, writing in a new book called "The North American Midwest," due this fall, says Chicago's destruction by bombs would be far more crippling to the nation than would loss of New York, Washington or Los Angeles.

Garland says Chicago's location, the rich natural resources of its region, and its distinctively continental culture (as contrasted with that of seacoast cities) makes it a crossroads of the world. He believes it is the hub of an area that may be the key one day to the free world's fate.

No doubt cheerful, hard-working midwestern folk will get a lot of comfort out of this favorable comparison with the great coastal centers of the country. That is, unless they imagine this means they'll be the No. 1 target of enemy A-bombs in the event of war.

The price of greatness is quoted high in an age of peril.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

IT'S GETTING TOO TOUGH

It used to be that an educated man knew Latin and Greek and maybe, if he were a theologian, some Hebrew; he read Plato and Aristotle and Plotinus and Marcus Aurelius; he could quote the poets and from Gibbon's "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire." Such a man looked serious,, wore a Prine Albert suit and a silk hat and could deliver a public address full of quotations.

These days, to be forensic in the field of human learning, one needs more than a smattering of chemistry and physics, genetics and geopolitics. It is essential to be able to speak easily of numerous theories like those of Planck and Einstein and the fission and fusion of atoms. We are suddenly all alchemists. These days one wonders, at two in the morning in the Stork Club, what is the religion of Tibet and what has become of the Bali dancers since the Dutch East Indies became Indonesia.

To me television, for instance, is a noisy machine which startles me when the children put on some program which they must see no matter what else. So I read a speech by Frank M. Folsom, president of the Radio Corporation of America, who says about television:

"Speaking of the Polar Region, Admiral, you may be interested to know that recently in talking to a scientist he told me that it would take more electrons to weigh an ounce than snowflakes to create a polar blizzard covering 2,500 square miles. In fact on that basis of comparison, there would be 20 billion electrons to every snowflake!

"Like snowflakes pile up to help form the great polar icecaps, so too, the tiny electron—billions and billions of them—have built up the vast new electronics industry. Today this new industry is six times larger than it was in 1947, when television first became a commercial reality."

The Admiral he addresses is Richard E. Byrd who specializes in the South Pole which is like when Marco Polo came home to tell of the wonders of the Cathay of the Yuan Dynasty. It is more exciting to read Marco Polo than about Matsu and Quemoy which really have to do with Foochow and Amoy, two cities in which I once enjoyed myself, particularly as in Foochow the ducks' tongues are delectable.

I have been puzzled, since I read Frank Folsom's speech, about what kind of a mind it takes to deal practically with electrons, 20,000,000,000 of which would make a snowflake. There are people who do something with electrons which makes it possible for Jackie Gleason to do his stunt on television; others who somehow imprison electrons into a bomb which can blow up the world.

It used to be said that the theologians were all twisted because they worried about angels whom they could not hear, see, feel, or touch. But now the invisible and inaudible and untouchable become something that is matter, that produce things when they know the combinations. This thing called radar is terribly puzzling. I once thought that the two hardest things to learn were Russian and Chinese, but when I see that twisting, turning gadget in an airport called radar and I am told that if the Russians come, my very life depends upon it, I wonder at the marvel of the human mind that can produce something that peers into space for miles and miles and sees exactly what goes on.

But there is always another side to all this piling of fact upon fact, data upon data, technique upon technique. When men work daily with atoms and electrons which they cannot touch or see, can they fail to ask themselves what is power? The tiniest entity we can conceive, the electron, is the most powerful because it is the summation of vitality. When chemists put together dynamite or TNT, they were dealing with matter they could handle. Yet these compounds are trivial compared with the electron which nobody can handle, 20,000,000,000 of which would be like a snowflake.

And then we discover that we can produce so much from matter that we cannot handle. The paradox of television then becomes theology and not science, or are they all one, as all things must be, the revelation of the Divine Intelligence, the unfolding of Total Wisdom—that we, in English, call God?

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

PROTECTING PUBLIC AGAINST CANCER

In spite of all the research that is going on all over the world and the many promising leads that are being investigated, the actual cause of cancer has not yet been definitely proven. Until that time comes, all we can do is protect ourselves against cancer, to the best of our ability.

At a recent session of the National Academy of Medicine in Paris, Dr. Rene Reding of Brussels drew attenion once more to the danger to the public from the addition of coloring agents and other carcinogenic (cancer-producing) chemicals, not only to food but also to other substances in daily use such as lipstick, makeup, soap and suntan products. As evidence of the significance of such substances in contributing to the rising tide of cancer, he cited the fact that in industrialized countries, 50 per cent of all cancers are located in the digestive system (stomach and intestines) whereas in primitive communities this figure is only 3.5 per cent.

The list of coloring agents dangerous to man has never been completely worked out and this is important in view of the fact that, for example, in Germany and Belgium no less than one-quarter of an ounce of such substances is taken into the body per person per year. One European manufacturer admitted that in fifty years he had sold 1,700 tons of a certain substance for use in coloring butter, cheese and margarine which was known to be cancer-producing.

Quite apart from the coloring agents, at least one-quarter of the other chemicals added to food as preservatives, antiseptics, bleaching agents, thickening or flavoring agents, etc., have been found to be capable of producing cancer in animals. Also, some of the materials used in surgery such as cellophane, nylon and orlon have been found guilty of producing a type of cancer in rats. Whether they might also do so in the case of humans has not yet been proven but many surgeons have recently abandoned the use of nylon and orlon in surgery.

Government action has, of course, been taken in most well-developed countries to try to eliminate the risk but the whole question is still very much confused. For example, in Germany a scientific commission has since 1949, been laboriously screening substances for cancer-producing properties but only one species of animal has been used in this testing and this is not sufficient in view of the fact that some cancer-producing substances can produce cancer in one species of animal and not in another.

It has been suggested that since the machinery which exists for treating the possible harmful effects of new chemical substances is inadequate, the food industries should help in this effort. "It is true that full investigation may show that the risk to health or life is not great; at present we simply do not know."

. . . Droppeth as the Gentle Rain

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA)—Practically every one of the so-called "independent" and also-called "quasi-judicial" regulatory agencies of federal government is now in hot water right up to its multiple chins. A few examples will give the pitch:

Federal Communications Commission is on the pan over charges of using coached witnesses who have now recanted their testimony against Edward Lamb in his application for renewal of an Erie, Pa., TV license.

Federal Trade Commission, reorganized last May and now reviewing some 14,000 past decisions, is charged by labor union leaders with scuttling the consumers' interests.

Civil Aeronautics Board has split on straight political party lines in five major decisions in two years.

National Labor Relations Board has been without a general counsel since Dec. 20. Unions now charge that NLRB is anti-labor in its decisions, just as business interests in Democratic days charged the agency with being prolabor.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION faces big tests in handling of natural gas and Hells Canyon power license cases involving public versus private interests.

The Eisenhower administration is apparently attempting a rejuvenation of the superannuated Interstate Commerce Commission and is finding the going tough.

In oversimplified summary the main troubles are changes in top personnel and changes in administration policy guidance. Much of this is the natural result of the shift from Democratic to Republican control of government. But even after two years, the shift is not complete and there is much confusion.

Many Eisenhower administration appointees to fill vacancies on these boards and commissions have been held up in Congress. This has delayed the handling of pending cases.

THERE IS A FURTHER complication at the second level of personnel in these regulatory agencies, just below the 5 to 11 top members who are presidential appointees. This is in the "examiners" who make the preliminary investigations of complicted business situations, on which the boards and commissions pass final judgment.

There are 277 of these hearing examiners in the government now. Their pay is $11,000 to $15,000 a year. They are supposed to be legal and technical experts in their respective fields of railroads, communications or power. They are supposed to be non-partisan, impartial and as pure as honest judges.

The contention of many business executives and corporation lawyers—particularly those who lose cases before the regulatory agencies—is that too many of the examiners are New Deal and Fair Deal appointees now frozen into their jobs by Civil Service, prejudiced by previous administration philosophy.

GOP extremists argue that all Democratic holdovers in these examiners' jobs should be cleared out and replaced by deserving Republicans who would then stop persecuting business.

THIS BRINGS UP THE second main question, which is policy guidance for these regulatory agencies.

It is only natural that the Republicans have tried to influence the thinking of these boards and commissions, so that they will hand down decisions more in harmony with GOP ideas.

The easiest way to do this is by appointing to the quasi-judicial agencies men who will promise in advance to carry out Administration policies. The more subtle way is through the indirect influence of politicians, interested cabinet officers and even the White House itself. How much of this goes on is rarely ever revealed, but in the end result the slip shows.

The nonpartisan view of this network of regulatory agencies is that they should be as free and uninfluenced as the courts. After all, they were created by Congress to carry out specific laws for the general public good.

United Nations Stands Frustrated as Did League of Nations in 1930s

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 14 — Just as the League of Nations was wrecked by the lack of moral courage of its members in facing up to the shipment of oil by Mussolini to carry on a war of aggression in Ethiopia in the '30's, so today the United Nations stands before the world frustrated by the acts of its members who permit airplane fuel to be shipped to Red China—aggressor in the Far East.

Senator John L. McClellan, Democrat, has just issued a statement which deserves world-wide attention. For the able and conscientoius senator from Arkansas, speaking as chairman of the Senate permanent subcommittee on investigations, emphasizes anew an important point that was also made by Senator McCarthy, Republican, of Wisconsin, when he was at the head of the same committee last year. Calling attention to the statistics of the rapid growth during 1954 of "trade between our allies and the Communist world," Senator McClellan declares:

"THESE FIGURES take on even further significance when we note that at this very moment the Finnish tanker, Aruba, is on the high seas with a cargo of jet fuel for Communist China. The Finnish government has notified this country that because the vessel is chartered to a company outside its control, it cannot prevent the vessel from proceeding on its way to the Chinese mainland. The company which has chartered this vessel to carry the jet fuel is the Far Eastern Enterprises, Ltd., of the British crown colony of Hong Kong.

"The State Department announced on March 10 that this company is a Chinese Communist-owned company which has its place of business in British Hong Kong. Almost two years ago, during the Korean war, this subcommittee exposed the fact that a number of companies operating vessels out of Hong Kong, vessels which were using the protection of flags of our western allies, were companies that were owned and controlled by the Chinese Communists. One of the companies we named at that time was this same Far Eastern Enterprises, Ltd., of Hong Kong. Most of these same companies are still operating and this trip of the vessel Aruba dramatizes the price we are paying for the protection the British crown colony of Hong Kong is giving these companies and the failure of our government to do something about this most disgraceful situation.

IT IS NO WONDER that t British government keeps tal ing about admitting Red Chi to the UN and about giving t offshore islands of Quemoy a the Matsus to the Communis Many Americans have begun wonder why, if the British a in a giving mood, they do n give back the offshore island Hong Kong which is really part of the Chinese mainlar Many people here are beginni to suspect that the British real want to continue to use the po of Hong Kong as a means trade with Red China and th the whole British policy of cate ing to the Communists has d veloped because there is a mon profit in doing so. Such a su picion, if widely held in th country, would have a most u fortunate effect on Anglo-Ame can relations, and particular on the future of the United N tions.

It would be a sad turn events if Britain succeeded breaking down American con dence in the efficacy of the U just as Britain in the '30's bro down the principle of collecti action at a time when Mussoli might well have been thwart and a second World War pr vented.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

We Americans lately have been confronted with an arrogant proposition that persons presuming to call themselves intellectuals, and particularly those who claim the title of scientist, are a superior cult entitled to deference or even homage from the common man. The "scientist" is endorsed for special privilege under moral laws and public rules of personal conduct which are binding on us inferiors. The case of J. Robert Oppenheimer, invariably described as "doctor," is forwarded at this time. It is an aggravated example of this impudence. This man was a liar under the most formal conditions. He was by choice a friend and associate of Communists. He married one and he was so partial to this loathsome persuasion that he shacked up with another female of the species. And when he was exposed he proved to be, under punishment, a whiner.

Oppenheimer now has a clamorous propaganda claque to represent him as an overeducated fool but a man of great inner philanthropy. But he still adds up to an infamous character by our standards as loyal Americans. His whimpering self-pity and his reliance on the nasty snarls of dubious apologists exclude him from our mercy, which is granted only on confession, contrition and firm resolution, all of which are absent from this situation. I would ostracize him absolutely and a degree of the same reproof would be dealt to all persons who have tried to exalt or even excuse him.

The Alsop Freres, of the New York Herald Tribune, which lives on a tax-free foundation of $8,000,000 at the expense of the taxpayers, have been aggressive apologists for this creature and for Alger Hiss. Just before the first Hiss trial, they set up a theory that the typewriter, which was a key to the prosecution, could be discredited if certain hypotheses could be realized. This was pure speculation, never justified by evidence, and the principal effect, whatever the motive, was to create an additional doubt of Hiss's guilt in the field from which the jury was likely to be drawn.

There was afoot at that time a plot to switch the trial to New England before a judge indebted to Harry Truman, who had an important stake in the case, expressed in his red-herring flippancy. That scheme miscarried, but the first trial was held before a federal judge who almost embraced Felix Frankfurter, who had first planted Hiss in the bureaucracy, when Frankfurter showed up as a "character witness."

In the Oppenheimer case, the Alsops, cousins, by the way, of Eleanor Roosevelt but not so advertised, have published a book entitled "We Accuse." They accused the government, apparently the Atomic Energy Commission, of suppressing information with a misty implication that, otherwise, Oppenheimer's guilt would have been the less. For this, the Alsops got a gift, called an award, of $1,000 from the Author's Guild, which has no more standing than any other political club, although there is always a suggestion, as in the case of the Pulitzer awards, that the honorees are chosen by disembodied spirits of superior quality.

The late James Aswell, a novelist and student of political mischief, from his ivory tower at Natchitoches, La., wrote: "The brothers Alsop, cousins of the sublime Eleanor, here agitate their gulls with shrill pamphlet smearing everybody on and off the Atomic Energy Commission who had any hand in locking Oppenheimer out of the secrets room. Who but a gang of malicious, jealous, reactionary, McCarthyites, could have been uneasy about the untrustworthiness of Oppenheimer? What have they got on him save that: He ran with Commies; his closest friends were Commies; his wife was a Commie; his mistress was a Commie; his brother was a Commie, he gave $150 a month to the Commies? "Insecure? Absurd. Oppie was simply boyish—too innocent for his own good. How many times have we heard this sly, grotesque defense of characters who have given aid and comfort to the bloodiest tryanny in the history of the world?

"What would have been t reaction of the Alsop mentali if Oppenheimer had run wi Nazi Bundists? If he had co tributed $150 a month to H ler's treasury? What if he h had a family parlor populated storm troopers instead of R conspirators?"

The Alsops' publisher is Ma shall Field, incognito, and t editor of the House is t H-T's Joe Barnes, of rud record.

Aswell's questions are a propriate. Let a German s prano or xylophonist apply f entry to New York who join the National Socialist Party f the same reason that millions Americans had to join union su sidiaries of Roosevelt's part and hell breaks loose. But the are men called scientists at lar with access to vital secrets a access to Russian embas agents who always have t spontaneous, abusive support influential propagandists of t New Deal-Eisenhower cult wh they are caught in flagrant co lusion.

"Science" is not a never-nev land whose denizens have a rig to flout the laws that patrio are pleased to obey. "Intelle tuals discredit themselves wh they accept as leading specime of their kind the likes of Arth Hays Sulzberger, of the Ne York Times, who has no high intellectual achievement tha any other ordinary mercha but yearns to be master of t public mind. There is no defin set of qualifications for "inte lectuals." The most obstreperou of them are pushful, commo place fellows revealing no ev dence of culture, genteel spi or superior learning.

Today's scientist is tomorrow hairy ape so it is not advisab to assent to an unwritten degr dation of the American peop on the mere pretense th Oppenheimer, Einstein and Ur are better than a low-handica golfer. Only today I saw a se ious reference in the New Yo Times to the press agent, Hors Track Herbie Swope, as a ma of distinguished stature.

Q—What is the origin of the wards calico and cashmere?

A—They come from the names of the places where these goods originated—the city of Calcutta and the state of Kashmir in India.

SAFE DRIVING BABIES

The University of Cincinnati believes that it's never too early to teach children how to become safe drivers. On its nursery school playgrounds traffic laws are taught and carefully explained to babes as young as three. If they are big enough to make a tricycle go, or any play vehicle on wheels, they are big enough to learn to do it right, believe the instructors.

When the tricycles tangle, the drivers are taught why they did and how to avoid doing it again. When a speeding scooter comes to grief, its young driver has the laws of speed and curves explained in words suitable to his understanding. The small fry learn the rights of others, and how much more fun it is to do things right than wrong, how much pleasanter the playground is when its hoppers and jumpers and sliders and bumpers as well as drivers are nice to each other.

It always was a good idea to teach responsibility and courtesy to children at an early age.

It might possibly be that Americans are passing through a high point of careless driving, with wounds and deaths as the present price thereof. What with classes for drivers in secondary schools, with smiling but firm supervision for the three-wheeled and two-wheeled brigade of preschool age, perhaps in ten or fifteen years there may be a change in point of view as to automobile accidents. Speed the day!

CUFFLINKS, CORNFLAKES

"What on earth do you suppose the grocery is charging me for now? Cufflinks! I didn't order cufflinks, and if I did, it wouldn't be from a grocery." The dismay of this housewife is repeated all over the land when it becomes necessary to decipher some one else's handwriting. In this case the problematic cufflinks turned out eventually to be cornflakes, but not always is the reader so fortunate.

More than $70,000,000 was lost last year by American businesses because of illegible handwriting, says the Handwriting Foundation, Inc. This organization is trying to get Americans to realize the importance of legible penmanship. When a figure 3 cannot be distinguished from a 5 or an 8, or a 1 resembles a 7, anything can happen in business transactions. There is always the problem of delivering mail correctly.

Once people were proud of their beautiful writing. Orientals still are. Fine penmanship is rated among the fine arts in China and the Mohammedan world. That is perhaps too much to hope for from bustling Americans, but something could be done.

Sir Winston Churchill recently announced his intention to discuss cotton problems with leaders of the industry. The manufacturers will undoubtedly leave the discussions thinking that Winnie is all wool—you should excuse the expression—and a yard wide.

PRICE OF GREATNESS

Chicago bows to New York in size. It isn't the national capital. And it doesn't come anywhere near matching the pace of growth shown by Los Angeles, the country's third largest city.

Yet Professor John Garland, writing in a new book called "The North American Midwest," due this fall, says Chicago's destruction by bombs would be far more crippling to the nation than would loss of New York, Washington or Los Angeles.

Garland says Chicago's location, the rich natural resources of its region, and its distinctively continental culture (as contrasted with that of seacoast cities) makes it a crossroads of the world. He believes it is the hub of an area that may be the key one day to the free world's fate.

No doubt cheerful, hard-working midwestern folk will get a lot of comfort out of this favorable comparison with the great coastal centers of the country. That is, unless they imagine this means they'll be the No. 1 target of enemy A-bombs in the event of war.

The price of greatness is quoted high in an age of peril.

'These Days'

IT'S GETTING TOO TOUGH

It used to be that an educated man knew Latin and Greek and maybe, if he were a theologian, some Hebrew; he read Plato and Aristotle and Plotinus and Marcus Aurelius; he could quote the poets and from Gibbon's "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire." Such a man looked serious,, wore a Prine Albert suit and a silk hat and could deliver a public address full of quotations.

These days, to be forensic in the field of human learning, one needs more than a smattering of chemistry and physics, genetics and geopolitics. It is essential to be able to speak easily of numerous theories like those of Planck and Einstein and the fission and fusion of atoms. We are suddenly all alchemists. These days one wonders, at two in the morning in the Stork Club, what is the religion of Tibet and what has become of the Bali dancers since the Dutch East Indies became Indonesia.

To me television, for instance, is a noisy machine which startles me when the children put on some program which they must see no matter what else. So I read a speech by Frank M. Folsom, president of the Radio Corporation of America, who says about television:

"Speaking of the Polar Region, Admiral, you may be interested to know that recently in talking to a scientist he told me that it would take more electrons to weigh an ounce than snowflakes to create a polar blizzard covering 2,500 square miles. In fact on that basis of comparison, there would be 20 billion electrons to every snowflake!

"Like snowflakes pile up to help form the great polar icecaps, so too, the tiny electron—billions and billions of them—have built up the vast new electronics industry. Today this new industry is six times larger than it was in 1947, when television first became a commercial reality."

The Admiral he addresses is Richard E. Byrd who specializes in the South Pole which is like when Marco Polo came home to tell of the wonders of the Cathay of the Yuan Dynasty. It is more exciting to read Marco Polo than about Matsu and Quemoy which really have to do with Foochow and Amoy, two cities in which I once enjoyed myself, particularly as in Foochow the ducks' tongues are delectable.

I have been puzzled, since I read Frank Folsom's speech, about what kind of a mind it takes to deal practically with electrons, 20,000,000,000 of which would make a snowflake. There are people who do something with electrons which makes it possible for Jackie Gleason to do his stunt on television; others who somehow imprison electrons into a bomb which can blow up the world.

It used to be said that the theologians were all twisted because they worried about angels whom they could not hear, see, feel, or touch. But now the invisible and inaudible and untouchable become something that is matter, that produce things when they know the combinations. This thing called radar is terribly puzzling. I once thought that the two hardest things to learn were Russian and Chinese, but when I see that twisting, turning gadget in an airport called radar and I am told that if the Russians come, my very life depends upon it, I wonder at the marvel of the human mind that can produce something that peers into space for miles and miles and sees exactly what goes on.

But there is always another side to all this piling of fact upon fact, data upon data, technique upon technique. When men work daily with atoms and electrons which they cannot touch or see, can they fail to ask themselves what is power? The tiniest entity we can conceive, the electron, is the most powerful because it is the summation of vitality. When chemists put together dynamite or TNT, they were dealing with matter they could handle. Yet these compounds are trivial compared with the electron which nobody can handle, 20,000,000,000 of which would be like a snowflake.

And then we discover that we can produce so much from matter that we cannot handle. The paradox of television then becomes theology and not science, or are they all one, as all things must be, the revelation of the Divine Intelligence, the unfolding of Total Wisdom—that we, in English, call God?

That Body of Yours

PROTECTING PUBLIC AGAINST CANCER

In spite of all the research that is going on all over the world and the many promising leads that are being investigated, the actual cause of cancer has not yet been definitely proven. Until that time comes, all we can do is protect ourselves against cancer, to the best of our ability.

At a recent session of the National Academy of Medicine in Paris, Dr. Rene Reding of Brussels drew attenion once more to the danger to the public from the addition of coloring agents and other carcinogenic (cancer-producing) chemicals, not only to food but also to other substances in daily use such as lipstick, makeup, soap and suntan products. As evidence of the significance of such substances in contributing to the rising tide of cancer, he cited the fact that in industrialized countries, 50 per cent of all cancers are located in the digestive system (stomach and intestines) whereas in primitive communities this figure is only 3.5 per cent.

The list of coloring agents dangerous to man has never been completely worked out and this is important in view of the fact that, for example, in Germany and Belgium no less than one-quarter of an ounce of such substances is taken into the body per person per year. One European manufacturer admitted that in fifty years he had sold 1,700 tons of a certain substance for use in coloring butter, cheese and margarine which was known to be cancer-producing.

Quite apart from the coloring agents, at least one-quarter of the other chemicals added to food as preservatives, antiseptics, bleaching agents, thickening or flavoring agents, etc., have been found to be capable of producing cancer in animals. Also, some of the materials used in surgery such as cellophane, nylon and orlon have been found guilty of producing a type of cancer in rats. Whether they might also do so in the case of humans has not yet been proven but many surgeons have recently abandoned the use of nylon and orlon in surgery.

Government action has, of course, been taken in most well-developed countries to try to eliminate the risk but the whole question is still very much confused. For example, in Germany a scientific commission has since 1949, been laboriously screening substances for cancer-producing properties but only one species of animal has been used in this testing and this is not sufficient in view of the fact that some cancer-producing substances can produce cancer in one species of animal and not in another.

It has been suggested that since the machinery which exists for treating the possible harmful effects of new chemical substances is inadequate, the food industries should help in this effort. "It is true that full investigation may show that the risk to health or life is not great; at present we simply do not know."

. . . Droppeth as the Gentle Rain

Edson's Washington News Notebook

BY PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington—(NEA)—Practically every one of the so-called "independent" and also-called "quasi-judicial" regulatory agencies of federal government is now in hot water right up to its multiple chins. A few examples will give the pitch:

Federal Communications Commission is on the pan over charges of using coached witnesses who have now recanted their testimony against Edward Lamb in his application for renewal of an Erie, Pa., TV license.

Federal Trade Commission, reorganized last May and now reviewing some 14,000 past decisions, is charged by labor union leaders with scuttling the consumers' interests.

Civil Aeronautics Board has split on straight political party lines in five major decisions in two years.

National Labor Relations Board has been without a general counsel since Dec. 20. Unions now charge that NLRB is anti-labor in its decisions, just as business interests in Democratic days charged the agency with being prolabor.

FEDERAL POWER COMMISSION faces big tests in handling of natural gas and Hells Canyon power license cases involving public versus private interests.

The Eisenhower administration is apparently attempting a rejuvenation of the superannuated Interstate Commerce Commission and is finding the going tough.

In oversimplified summary the main troubles are changes in top personnel and changes in administration policy guidance. Much of this is the natural result of the shift from Democratic to Republican control of government. But even after two years, the shift is not complete and there is much confusion.

Many Eisenhower administration appointees to fill vacancies on these boards and commissions have been held up in Congress. This has delayed the handling of pending cases.

THERE IS A FURTHER complication at the second level of personnel in these regulatory agencies, just below the 5 to 11 top members who are presidential appointees. This is in the "examiners" who make the preliminary investigations of complicted business situations, on which the boards and commissions pass final judgment.

There are 277 of these hearing examiners in the government now. Their pay is $11,000 to $15,000 a year. They are supposed to be legal and technical experts in their respective fields of railroads, communications or power. They are supposed to be non-partisan, impartial and as pure as honest judges.

The contention of many business executives and corporation lawyers—particularly those who lose cases before the regulatory agencies—is that too many of the examiners are New Deal and Fair Deal appointees now frozen into their jobs by Civil Service, prejudiced by previous administration philosophy.

GOP extremists argue that all Democratic holdovers in these examiners' jobs should be cleared out and replaced by deserving Republicans who would then stop persecuting business.

THIS BRINGS UP THE second main question, which is policy guidance for these regulatory agencies.

It is only natural that the Republicans have tried to influence the thinking of these boards and commissions, so that they will hand down decisions more in harmony with GOP ideas.

The easiest way to do this is by appointing to the quasi-judicial agencies men who will promise in advance to carry out Administration policies. The more subtle way is through the indirect influence of politicians, interested cabinet officers and even the White House itself. How much of this goes on is rarely ever revealed, but in the end result the slip shows.

The nonpartisan view of this network of regulatory agencies is that they should be as free and uninfluenced as the courts. After all, they were created by Congress to carry out specific laws for the general public good.

United Nations Stands Frustrated as Did League of Nations in 1930s

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, March 14 — Just as the League of Nations was wrecked by the lack of moral courage of its members in facing up to the shipment of oil by Mussolini to carry on a war of aggression in Ethiopia in the '30's, so today the United Nations stands before the world frustrated by the acts of its members who permit airplane fuel to be shipped to Red China—aggressor in the Far East.

Senator John L. McClellan, Democrat, has just issued a statement which deserves world-wide attention. For the able and conscientoius senator from Arkansas, speaking as chairman of the Senate permanent subcommittee on investigations, emphasizes anew an important point that was also made by Senator McCarthy, Republican, of Wisconsin, when he was at the head of the same committee last year. Calling attention to the statistics of the rapid growth during 1954 of "trade between our allies and the Communist world," Senator McClellan declares:

"THESE FIGURES take on even further significance when we note that at this very moment the Finnish tanker, Aruba, is on the high seas with a cargo of jet fuel for Communist China. The Finnish government has notified this country that because the vessel is chartered to a company outside its control, it cannot prevent the vessel from proceeding on its way to the Chinese mainland. The company which has chartered this vessel to carry the jet fuel is the Far Eastern Enterprises, Ltd., of the British crown colony of Hong Kong.

"The State Department announced on March 10 that this company is a Chinese Communist-owned company which has its place of business in British Hong Kong. Almost two years ago, during the Korean war, this subcommittee exposed the fact that a number of companies operating vessels out of Hong Kong, vessels which were using the protection of flags of our western allies, were companies that were owned and controlled by the Chinese Communists. One of the companies we named at that time was this same Far Eastern Enterprises, Ltd., of Hong Kong. Most of these same companies are still operating and this trip of the vessel Aruba dramatizes the price we are paying for the protection the British crown colony of Hong Kong is giving these companies and the failure of our government to do something about this most disgraceful situation.

"IN THIS CONNECTION should be pointed out that majority of the vessels operat by these companies fly the Bri ish flag and thus receive prote tion from the British fleet in th area . . . The subcommittee i tends to continue its investig tion of this deplorable situation

There are signs that the D partment of State is not aver to the exposure as it has pro ably found itself up against stone wall in trying to convin the British foreign office th the American public opinion bound to be estranged if t British government puts m terial interests above humani and connives with the Comm nists to let them have fuel f jet airplanes. For this can used to kill American youth wi may be involved at any mome in a resumption of hositilities Korea or elsewhere in the F East.

For only an armistice and n a treaty of peace has be signed in Korea and the b which the United Nations itse has placed on the shipment strategic materials to the R Chinese is still in effect. Wh is most disconcerting is the re elation of how this strateg trade has been carried on ev during the Korean war by me bers of the UN who were call upon not to help the aggresso

IT IS NO WONDER that t British government keeps tal ing about admitting Red Chi to the UN and about giving t offshore islands of Quemoy a the Matsus to the Communis Many Americans have begun wonder why, if the British a in a giving mood, they do n give back the offshore island Hong Kong which is really part of the Chinese mainlar Many people here are beginni to suspect that the British real want to continue to use the po of Hong Kong as a means trade with Red China and th the whole British policy of cate ing to the Communists has d veloped because there is a mon profit in doing so. Such a su picion, if widely held in th country, would have a most u fortunate effect on Anglo-Ame can relations, and particular on the future of the United N tions.

It would be a sad turn events if Britain succeeded breaking down American con dence in the efficacy of the U just as Britain in the '30's bro down the principle of collecti action at a time when Mussoli might well have been thwart and a second World War pr vented.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

We Americans lately have been confronted with an arrogant proposition that persons presuming to call themselves intellectuals, and particularly those who claim the title of scientist, are a superior cult entitled to deference or even homage from the common man. The "scientist" is endorsed for special privilege under moral laws and public rules of personal conduct which are binding on us inferiors. The case of J. Robert Oppenheimer, invariably described as "doctor," is forwarded at this time. It is an aggravated example of this impudence. This man was a liar under the most formal conditions. He was by choice a friend and associate of Communists. He married one and he was so partial to this loathsome persuasion that he shacked up with another female of the species. And when he was exposed he proved to be, under punishment, a whiner.

Oppenheimer now has a clamorous propaganda claque to represent him as an overeducated fool but a man of great inner philanthropy. But he still adds up to an infamous character by our standards as loyal Americans. His whimpering self-pity and his reliance on the nasty snarls of dubious apologists exclude him from our mercy, which is granted only on confession, contrition and firm resolution, all of which are absent from this situation. I would ostracize him absolutely and a degree of the same reproof would be dealt to all persons who have tried to exalt or even excuse him.

The Alsop Freres, of the New York Herald Tribune, which lives on a tax-free foundation of $8,000,000 at the expense of the taxpayers, have been aggressive apologists for this creature and for Alger Hiss. Just before the first Hiss trial, they set up a theory that the typewriter, which was a key to the prosecution, could be discredited if certain hypotheses could be realized. This was pure speculation, never justified by evidence, and the principal effect, whatever the motive, was to create an additional doubt of Hiss's guilt in the field from which the jury was likely to be drawn.

There was afoot at that time a plot to switch the trial to New England before a judge indebted to Harry Truman, who had an important stake in the case, expressed in his red-herring flippancy. That scheme miscarried, but the first trial was held before a federal judge who almost embraced Felix Frankfurter, who had first planted Hiss in the bureaucracy, when Frankfurter showed up as a "character witness."

In the Oppenheimer case, the Alsops, cousins, by the way, of Eleanor Roosevelt but not so advertised, have published a book entitled "We Accuse." They accused the government, apparently the Atomic Energy Commission, of suppressing information with a misty implication that, otherwise, Oppenheimer's guilt would have been the less. For this, the Alsops got a gift, called an award, of $1,000 from the Author's Guild, which has no more standing than any other political club, although there is always a suggestion, as in the case of the Pulitzer awards, that the honorees are chosen by disembodied spirits of superior quality.

The late James Aswell, a novelist and student of political mischief, from his ivory tower at Natchitoches, La., wrote: "The brothers Alsop, cousins of the sublime Eleanor, here agitate their gulls with shrill pamphlet smearing everybody on and off the Atomic Energy Commission who had any hand in locking Oppenheimer out of the secrets room. Who but a gang of malicious, jealous, reactionary, McCarthyites, could have been uneasy about the untrustworthiness of Oppenheimer? What have they got on him save that: He ran with Commies; his closest friends were Commies; his wife was a Commie; his mistress was a Commie; his brother was a Commie, he gave $150 a month to the Commies?

"Insecure? Absurd. Oppie was simply boyish—too innocent for his own good. How many times have we heard this sly, grotesque defense of characters who have given aid and comfort to the bloodiest tryanny in the history of the world?

"What would have been t reaction of the Alsop mentali if Oppenheimer had run wi Nazi Bundists? If he had co tributed $150 a month to H ler's treasury? What if he h had a family parlor populated storm troopers instead of R conspirators?"

The Alsops' publisher is Ma shall Field, incognito, and t editor of the House is t H-T's Joe Barnes, of rud record.

Aswell's questions are a propriate. Let a German s prano or xylophonist apply f entry to New York who join the National Socialist Party f the same reason that millions Americans had to join union su sidiaries of Roosevelt's part and hell breaks loose. But the are men called scientists at lar with access to vital secrets a access to Russian embas agents who always have t spontaneous, abusive support influential propagandists of t New Deal-Eisenhower cult wh they are caught in flagrant co lusion.

"Science" is not a never-nev land whose denizens have a rig to flout the laws that patrio are pleased to obey. "Intelle tuals discredit themselves wh they accept as leading specimer of their kind the likes of Arth Hays Sulzberger, of the Ne York Times, who has no high intellectual achievement tha any other ordinary merchar but yearns to be master of t public mind. There is no defin set of qualifications for "inte lectuals." The most obstreperou of them are pushful, commo place fellows revealing no ev dence of culture, genteel spi or superior learning.

Today's scientist is tomorrow hairy ape so it is not advisab to assent to an unwritten degr dation of the American peop on the mere pretense th Oppenheimer, Einstein and Ur are better than a low-handica golfer. Only today I saw a se ious reference in the New Yor Times to the press agent, Hors Track Herbie Swope, as a ma of distinguished stature.

PSC to Require Push-Out Windows in Certain Buses

Albany, March 14 (AP) — The Public Service Commission will require push-out escape windows in all new school and inter-city buses in an effort to make bus travel safer.

The PSC yesterday ordered at least five such windows installed on inter-city buses built after July 1, 1955, and at least two plus a push-out windshield on school buses built after Sept. 1, 1955.

The commission's order also will permit use of push-out windows on buses in city and suburban operations. The present PSC rule requires only one emergency door on all types of buses.

"Passengers involved in bus accidents have a much greater chance of escape if a vehicle is equipped with a number of modern push-out type windows of proper size," Chairman Benjamin Feinberg wrote in an opinion adopted unanimously by the five-member commission.

PUSH-OUT WINDOWS are hinged at the top. They swing outward when pressure is applied from the inside of the bus. The PSC order requires them to be at least 16½ inches high and at least 6½ square feet in area for inter-city buses, and at least 20 inches high and two feet long for school buses.

Inter-city buses seating 25 to 37 persons must have at least three push-out windows on each side, and those seating 38 or more must have four on each side. An emergency door at the left rear may take the place of one such window.

School buses with motors in front must have an emergency door in the center of the rear of the bus, push or kick-out windshields, and at least one push-out window on each side. Those seating more than 42 passengers must have at least two push-out windows on each side.

School buses with motors in the rear must have an emergency door at the left rear, push-out or kick-out windshields, two push-out windows on the right side, one on the left side and one, not less than 20 by 48 inches, at the rear.

Actress Has Baby For British TV

London, March 14 (AP)—Television Actress Betty Lait finally gave birth yesterday to the overdue baby that's had British viewers on tenterhooks for nearly a month. Mrs. Lait, 26, named her 7½ pound daughter Sarah Mary Catherine.

British Broadcasting Corp. cameras had followed the course of Mrs. Lait's pregnancy on the program "Family Affairs." The baby was first expected around March 4, then doctors revised their estimate to Feb. 18.

By the time the baby arrived, the BBC's roving camera crew had a full schedule and couldn't accompany Mrs. Lait to the hospital. Sarah Mary Catherine will make her "live" debut April 6.

TWO ISLANDS, ONE BIG QUESTION: The decision will have to be quick, for the Commie invaders are crawling down the coast.

Chiang Ponders Risk About Holding Matsu and Quemoy

By FRED SPARKS
NEA Staff Correspondent

Taipei, Formosa—(NEA)—Will Chiang gamble on Matsu and Quemoy in the days just ahead?

He'll have to make his decision very soon, for Peiping's ships, filled with Commie invaders, are crawling down the coast.

CHIANG KAI-SHEK: As he paces, he ponders the gamble.

Defending these offshore islands will indeed be Chiang's supreme gamble. If he loses, he'll be only the aging boss of this grubby island with less population than New York. He won't have a shred of hope of returning to conquer mainland China.

By making a brave stand on Quemoy and Matsu, Chiang will be playing for big headlines in America — headlines he hopes will impress primarily one man: Dwight D. Eisenhower.

For the President alone has authority to order fleet air cover for the remaining offshore islands.

IF CHIANG LOSES that gamble—and we are not pledged to defend anything but Formosa and the Pescadores—he could take a terrible statistical licking.

Prior to recently announced reinforcement plans, there were 50,000 troops on Quemoy and perhaps 10,000 on Matsu. Huddled together on small rocky patches in the East China seas, they're suckers for Peiping's waves of swept-back MIG's, which can surely sweep the skies of the few jets the Nationalists own.

These troops are a tenth of Chiang's total manpower and perhaps a fourth of his best units. Remember, despite the inflow of Formosan farmboys a sizeable percentage of the Nationalist army is beginning to creak with years.

I personally do not doubt the ability of the Quemoy and Matsu garrisons to make a daring stand. They know that if captured they'll have their bodies twisted and—if still alive—their brains washed.

ONE GROUP I SAW going to Quemoy the other day had their chests tatooed with "Hate Communist" slogans violent enough to be banned by a family newspaper. They're former prisoners of war who served the Communists in Korea and after capture decided to come to Formosa and shun the Red paradise.

However, because he's operating under global floodlights in this show, Red Dictator Mao will surely pour it on Quemoy and Matsu.

Mao has the stuff. Bamboo rafts holding two or three men apiece will paddle to the beaches on the moonless nights ahead in a seaborne repetition of the human wave tactics often used with success against crack American troops in Korea.

Furthermore, Peiping has thousands of frogmen who could swim to the Quemoy beaches to further confuse and unnerve the defenders.

ONE OF THE STRANGEST twists in this Oriental drama is that many Americans of the highest reputation are advising Chiang to roll the dice—for Matsu and Quemoy—or to face a dull, unimportant tomorrow.

These Americans represent those who feel communism has gone far enough in Asia. The Matsu and Quemoy issue is as good as any other to bring United States power down on Peiping.

But so far, under official U. S. pressure, Chiang has always backed down as he did in the Tachens and at Nanchi. Collapsing Nationalist morale as the result of those evacuations is one item pressuring him to make the supreme gamble.

A Chinese official summed up the argument for the gamble in this sentence:

"If the garrisons fight alone, bravely, winning the attention and admiration of the world could the United States let them die?"

Chiang ponders that question as he paces the richly-carpeted floor of his GHQ.

Anglican Bishop Urges Margaret Abandon Plans

London, March 14 (AP)—An Anglican bishop, who two decades ago warned King Edward VIII against marrying a divorcee, urged yesterday that Princess Margaret abandon any plan to wed divorced R.A.F. Group Capt. Peter Townsend.

Dr. Alfred Blunt, bishop of Bradford, said in an interview with the Sunday newspaper The People that he did not see how Queen Elizabeth II—as "defender of the faith"—could consent to her sister entering into such a union.

THE CHURCH of England has steadfastly opposed the remarriage of divorced persons, even when they are the innocent party, as in Townsend's case.

The bishop declared that, if newspaper reports of Margaret's marital plans were true, "it would seem that the only solution would be for one of the parties involved to say they would not go ahead with their plans."

The bishop had caused a wide stir when he warned Edward—now the Duke of Windsor—against marrying Wallis Warfield Simpson.

NEWSPAPERS HAVE BEEN speculating that Margaret may soon announce her engagement to handsome, 40-year-old Townsend, a former royal household equerry who is now air attache at the British embassy in Brussels. Much has been made of the fact that Margaret can wed without royal consent when she becomes 25 next Aug. 21, provided she renounces all succession claims to the throne. She is third in line.

The paper quoted Bishop Blunt as saying he did not see how the church could relax its rules for Margaret.

All but four of London's 11 Sunday papers gave prominent play to the reported romance.

IN SYDNEY, Australia, the Morning Herald announced it had fired the correspondent who, after an interview in Brussels with Townsend Friday night, quoted him as saying:

"If a situation should demand my exile and that of a certain lady, we should, of course, accept it."

Townsend yesterday described this statement as "pure invention" and added that he would "continue to refuse to express any opinion on the private affairs of Princess Margaret."

The Sydney paper said that after questioning its correspondent, Richard Martin, it was "satisfied that Group Capt. Townsend did not use the words he now denies."

Townsend Denies Knowing of Plans

Brussels, Belgium, March 14 (AP) — Group Capt. Peter Townsend said today that as far as he knows Princess Margaret has made no decision to marry him.

The 40-year-old divorced air hero issued his statement through the press section of the British embassy here, where Townsend is air attache.

In the statement Townsend referred to a previous report quoting him as saying he and a "certain lady" would accept exile if necessary.

"This implies that Princess Margaret has decided to marry me," his statement continued. "The princess has made no such decision known to me, nor have I any reason to believe she has made such a decision."

TOWNSEND YESTERDAY repudiated the "exile" comment as "pure invention." It was first published in the Sydney, Australia, Sun-Herald, which announced it had fired the correspondent who reported the interview with the man who has been widely rumored as the vivacious princess' choice for her husband.

Townsend said today:

"I have already described this alleged statement as a pure invention and said that it should be completely disregarded. In view of this statement—again of course alleged to have been made by me—as well as a number of other statements also attributed to me, I shall now be forced to seek escape from reporters."

AFTER DODGING reporters ever since he came to Brussels in 1953, Townsend has made himself available to questioners for the past week. He refused repeatedly, however, to answer directly questions about his relations with the princess.

In Britain, meanwhile, an Anglican bishop who two decades ago warned King Edward VIII against marrying a divorcee urged yesterday that Margaret abandon any plan to wed the divorced RAF officer.

Explorers Elect Leaders for Year

Woodstock, March 11—An organizational meeting was held Thursday evening at the Woodstock Reformed Church for the Explorer unit of Boy Scout Troop 34, of which there are 14 members. The following officers for the unit were elected: Richard Frodsham, senior crew leader; Robert Foster, deputy senior crew leader; Konrad King, secretary-treasurer.

Following the election of officers, the group was divided into crews, with leaders and assistant leaders for each crew chosen. They are as follows: First Crew—Dick Christiana, leader; Sylvester Pollet, assistant leader; Warren Graver and Cappy Foster; Second Crew—James Cousins, leader; Wayne Underhill, Jr., assistant leader; Robert Foster and Andrew Lee; Third Crew—for which there is no leader or assistant until the next meeting, John Mellert, Stuart DeWitt, Currie Freer and Coxie Mellin.

ALSO PRESENT at the meeting were the council members of the Explorer unit: Wayne Underhill, Irving Cousins, Richard Crane, and Gordon Taylor, and Roy Butz, scoutmaster, and Albert Hoffman, Explorer adviser.

Among the items discussed by Roy Butz, before the election of officers were wearing apparel, the duties of the officers and an explanation of the function of the crews. Butz stated that the crew is drawn together by a common interest. He also said that in the course of a year, each man will have the opportunity to become an officer and that each group of officers will serve for a period of three months. Mr. Butz also explained that senior crew leaders must show executive and leadership ability and that deputy senior crew leaders and secretaries should show detail ability.

AT THE NEXT meeting on Thursday, March 17, at the basement of the Reformed Church, at 7:30 p. m., program committees will be set up.

PSC to Require Push-Out Windows in Certain Buses

Albany, March 14 (AP) — The Public Service Commission will require push-out escape windows in all new school and inter-city buses in an effort to make bus travel safer.

The PSC yesterday ordered at least five such windows installed on inter-city buses built after July 1, 1955, and at least two plus a push-out windshield on school buses built after Sept. 1, 1955.

The commission's order also will permit use of push-out windows on buses in city and suburban operations. The present PSC rule requires only one emergency door on all types of buses.

"Passengers involved in bus accidents have a much greater chance of escape if a vehicle is equipped with a number of modern push-out type windows of proper size," Chairman Benjamin Feinberg wrote in an opinion adopted unanimously by the five-member commission.

PUSH-OUT WINDOWS are hinged at the top. They swing outward when pressure is applied from the inside of the bus. The PSC order requires them to be at least 16½ inches high and at least 6½ square feet in area for inter-city buses, and at least 20 inches high and two feet long for school buses.

Inter-city buses seating 25 to 37 persons must have at least three push-out windows on each side, and those seating 38 or more must have four on each side. An emergency door at the left rear may take the place of one such window.

School buses with motors in front must have an emergency door in the center of the rear of the bus, push or kick-out windshields, and at least one push-out window on each side. Those seating more than 42 passengers must have at least two push-out windows on each side.

School buses with motors in the rear must have an emergency door at the left rear, push-out or kick-out windshields, two push-out windows on the right side, one on the left side and one, not less than 20 by 48 inches, at the rear.

Actress Has Baby For British TV

London, March 14 (AP)—Television Actress Betty Lait finally gave birth yesterday to the overdue baby that's had British viewers on tenterhooks for nearly a month. Mrs. Lait, 26, named her 7½ pound daughter Sarah Mary Catherine.

British Broadcasting Corp. cameras had followed the course of Mrs. Lait's pregnancy on the program "Family Affairs." The baby was first expected around March 4, then doctors revised their estimate to Feb. 18.

By the time the baby arrived, the BBC's roving camera crew had a full schedule and couldn't accompany Mrs. Lait to the hospital. Sarah Mary Catherine will make her "live" debut April 6.

TWO ISLANDS, ONE BIG QUESTION: The decision will have to be quick, for the Commie invaders are crawling down the coast.

Chiang Ponders Risk About Holding Matsu and Quemoy

By FRED SPARKS
NEA Staff Correspondent

Taipei, Formosa—(NEA)—Will Chiang gamble on Matsu and Quemoy in the days just ahead?

He'll have to make his decision very soon, for Peiping's ships, filled with Commie invaders, are crawling down the coast.

CHIANG KAI-SHEK: As he paces, he ponders the gamble.

Defending these offshore islands will indeed be Chiang's supreme gamble. If he loses, he'll be only the aging boss of this grubby island with less population than New York. He won't have a shred of hope of returning to conquer mainland China.

By making a brave stand on Quemoy and Matsu, Chiang will be playing for big headlines in America — headlines he hopes will impress primarily one man: Dwight D. Eisenhower.

For the President alone has authority to order fleet air cover for the remaining offshore islands.

IF CHIANG LOSES that gamble—and we are not pledged to defend anything but Formosa and the Pescadores—he could take a terrible statistical licking.

Prior to recently announced reinforcement plans, there were 50,000 troops on Quemoy and perhaps 10,000 on Matsu. Huddled together on small rocky patches in the East China seas, they're suckers for Peiping's waves of swept-back MIG's, which can surely sweep the skies of the few jets the Nationalists own.

These troops are a tenth of Chiang's total manpower and perhaps a fourth of his best units. Remember, despite the inflow of Formosan farmboys a sizeable percentage of the Nationalist army is beginning to creak with years.

I personally do not doubt the ability of the Quemoy and Matsu garrisons to make a daring stand. They know that if captured they'll have their bodies twisted and—if still alive—their brains washed.

ONE GROUP I SAW going to Quemoy the other day had their chests tatooed with "Hate Communist" slogans violent enough to be banned by a family newspaper. They're former prisoners of war who served the Communists in Korea and after capture decided to come to Formosa and shun the Red paradise.

However, because he's operating under global floodlights in this show, Red Dictator Mao will surely pour it on Quemoy and Matsu.

Mao has the stuff. Bamboo rafts holding two or three men apiece will paddle to the beaches on the moonless nights ahead in a seaborne repetition of the human wave tactics often used with success against crack American troops in Korea.

Train Delayed By Switch Blast

Yorktown, Ind., March 14 (AP) —A trainload of Indianapolis Shriners was delayed several hours today on the homeward trip from Detroit by the dynamiting of a switch.

The chartered New York Central train of nine cars, rolling at 10 miles an hour after a warning from an automatic device, was halted after the engine and four cars passed over the 2½-foot break in one rail.

The rail was blasted at a switch leading from the main line to a strikebound warehouse. The explosion, which jarred houses in Yorktown, occurred at 11:02 p. m., EST, last night, 13 minutes before the train was due. The last previous train passed the switch at 4:09 p. m.

Sheriff W. Pete Anthony of Delaware county said he planned to question officials of the AFL Teamsters Union, which struck the warehouse of Marsh Foodliners, a retail grocery chain, two weeks ago. The spur track from the switch led to that warehouse. Anthony did not elaborate.

There was no comment from the union immediately.

Sailor Is Killed

Pomfret, Conn., March 14 (AP) —A sailor identified tentatively as David A. Ramsey, 22, was killed hitchhiking at an intersection here last night, state police reported. They said a navy identification card showed Ramsey was stationed aboard the USS Hyman at Newport, R. I., but did not give a home town. State police said he was struck by a car driven by Stephen Carlson, 21, of New York city, another sailor who was returning to his ship in Fall River, Mass. Carlson and his twin brother, Francis, received facial bruises when the car hit a pole after striking the sailor.

Mahendra Takes Office as King

New Delhi, March 14 (AP) — Crown Prince Mahendra today was proclaimed king of Nepal. He succeeds his father, 49-year-old King Tridhuvana, who died yesterday in Zurich of a prolonged heart ailment.

The Nepalese embassy said Mahendra would be crowned later today in Katmandu, the mountain-ringed capital of the Himalayan state between India and Communist-held Tibet.

The 34-year-old crown prince, Tridhuvana's eldest son, has been acting as regent for the past month while his father was under treatment in Europe.

The Nepalese embassy announced Tridhuvana's body would be flown from Switzerland to Katmandu for Hindu cremation rites.

Management Club Organize District

Industrial Management Clubs of Kingston, Newburgh, Brooklyn, White Plains and Nyack organized into a district at a meeting last week at the Bear Mountain Inn.

The new unit, designated as District 4, elected Thomas W. Rakers of Brooklyn as its representative. Rakers will serve as delegate to all state and national meetings and will keep the membership informed.

William F. Meyers, executive of the National Council of Industrial Management Clubs, who steered the meeting, said a district of this size could do much to stimulate better local clubs.

Some of the problems discussed by the group were the improvement of programs at monthly meetings, the development of local clubs, increasing membership and stimulating committee members.

Dies of Wounds

New York, March 14 (AP)— Murray Hoffman, 30, died in a hospital yesterday from gunshot wounds inflicted by a pair of youthful holdup men Saturday night. Hoffman was visiting a friend, Leo Gold, at his Bronx haberdashery when the two youths entered the store. They took an undetermined amount of cash from the cash register and then left after shooting both Hoffman and Gold. Hoffman was hit in the head. Gold was taken to the hospital in critical condition from a chest wound.

South considered himself very unlucky when he played today's hand. A finesse was possible in each of the red suits, and South took both of them. To his great disgust, he lost both finesses.

Let's see exactly what happened. West led the queen of clubs, and dummy won with the king. Declarer led a diamond from the dummy and finessed the queen from his hand. West won with the king of diamonds and returned the jack of clubs.

Not a bit downhearted (as yet), South won the second round of clubs with dummy's ace and entered his hand with a diamond in order to try the trump finesse. This likewise lost, and East led a third club. West then took the ace of spades, and the defenders thus took a trick in each suit, defeating the contract.

"The odds are 3 to 1," said South, "against losing two finesses." He was quite right, of course. "Only a very unlucky person could lose finesses as often as I do," he continued. "Fortunately I have a very strong character, for otherwise this kind of misfortune might drive me out of my mind."

South didn't actually say all this, to be sure, but that's what he thought. Nobody bothered to record his actual words, which may be just as well. Instead of thinking about his bad luck, however, South should have been thinking about his bad play. He should have made his contract.

South should see that both finesses may fail, and that the enemy will establish and cash a club trick if they are given the time to do so. In order to prevent this, South must establish dummy's spades and discard his losing club.

The right line of play is to win the first trick with the king of clubs and lead a spade to the king immediately. West can take the ace of spades and lead another club, but dummy wins with the ace of clubs and cashes the spades at once so that South can discard his last club.

Only then can South afford to try the finesses in the two red suits. Both finesses fail, to be sure, but South still makes his game contract.

Train Delayed By Switch Blast

Yorktown, Ind., March 14 (AP) —A trainload of Indianapolis Shriners was delayed several hours today on the homeward trip from Detroit by the dynamiting of a switch.

The chartered New York Central train of nine cars, rolling at 10 miles an hour after a warning from an automatic device, was halted after the engine and four cars passed over the 2½-foot break in one rail.

The rail was blasted at a switch leading from the main line to a strikebound warehouse. The explosion, which jarred houses in Yorktown, occurred at 11:02 p. m., EST, last night, 13 minutes before the train was due. The last previous train passed the switch at 4:09 p. m.

Sheriff W. Pete Anthony of Delaware county said he planned to question officials of the AFL Teamsters Union, which struck the warehouse of Marsh Foodliners, a retail grocery chain, two weeks ago. The spur track from the switch led to that warehouse. Anthony did not elaborate.

There was no comment from the union immediately.

Sailor Is Killed

Pomfret, Conn., March 14 (AP) —A sailor identified tentatively as David A. Ramsey, 22, was killed hitchhiking at an intersection here last night, state police reported. They said a navy identification card showed Ramsey was stationed aboard the USS Hyman at Newport, R. I., but did not give a home town. State police said he was struck by a car driven by Stephen Carlson, 21, of New York city, another sailor who was returning to his ship in Fall River, Mass. Carlson and his twin brother, Francis, received facial bruises when the car hit a pole after striking the sailor.

Mahendra Takes Office as King

New Delhi, March 14 (AP) — Crown Prince Mahendra today was proclaimed king of Nepal. He succeeds his father, 49-year-old King Tridhuvana, who died yesterday in Zurich of a prolonged heart ailment.

The Nepalese embassy said Mahendra would be crowned later today in Katmandu, the mountain-ringed capital of the Himalayan state between India and Communist-held Tibet.

The 34-year-old crown prince, Tridhuvana's eldest son, has been acting as regent for the past month while his father was under treatment in Europe.

The Nepalese embassy announced Tridhuvana's body would be flown from Switzerland to Katmandu for Hindu cremation rites.

MRS. JOHN McAUSLAND, seated, helps Linda Pope and Alan Elsbree, eighth grade students at the Campus Elementary School, fill out their registration forms for the New Paltz Hobby Fair to be held at the school Saturday, March 19, between 2 p. m. and 8 p. m. Mrs. Harold Elsbree, Alan's mother, will exhibit rugs woven on a loom similar to the one she is operating. Linda shows some of the storybook dolls she will display while Alan holds a muskrat captured while he was indulging in his favorite hobby, trapping. Many adults and children will exhibit collections and creations at the Fair, first town-wide event of its kind in New Paltz. Mothers of the Parent Faculty Organization of the Campus School which is sponsoring the Fair will act as hostesses and operate a refreshment booth. Mrs. McAusland and Mrs. Norman Keller are co-chairman of the fair.

Management Club Organize District

Industrial Management Clubs of Kingston, Newburgh, Brooklyn, White Plains and Nyack organized into a district at a meeting last week at the Bear Mountain Inn.

The new unit, designated as District 4, elected Thomas W. Rakers of Brooklyn as its representative. Rakers will serve as delegate to all state and national meetings and will keep the membership informed.

William F. Meyers, executive of the National Council of Industrial Management Clubs, who steered the meeting, said a district of this size could do much to stimulate better local clubs.

Some of the problems discussed by the group were the improvement of programs at monthly meetings, the development of local clubs, increasing membership and stimulating committee members.

Business Men Anxious About Rates, Credit, Stock Buying

Washington, March 14 (AP)—If the boom looks dangerous there are two men here who could, if they thought it best, do a little manipulating to slow it down.

And the Senate Banking Committee that is eyeing the bull market in Wall Street from a vantage point here in the nation's capital is talking to them about that today and tomorrow.

They are William McChesney Martin, chairman of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve System, and George M. Humphrey, secretary of the Treasury.

WHAT BUSINESSMEN and bankers would like to know from them is: Are the nation's top money managers thinking about raising interest rates, making credit tighter, hiking margins to bring stock buying closer to an all-cash basis?

Will Humphrey and Martin try hard to get Congress to give the Federal Reserve power once more to curb on-the-cuff buying of autos and appliances and to tighten mortgage terms and thus put a brake on the home building boom?

Or do they believe—as most people would like to think—that the economy is on solid ground now and that prosperity has a green light?

THE FEDERAL reserve has the power to raise margins on stock purchases. As of now you have to put up at least 60 per cent cash to get a share of stock. You can borrow up to 40 per cent of its market value if you wish. The Federal Reserve can change that cash-borrowing ratio as it deems best for the economy. Theoretically, at least, if the Federal Reserve hikes the margin again, speculators would cool down.

The ways Martin and Humphrey between them can influence interest rates and the supply of money and credit are these:

1. Raising or lowering the Federal Reserve's rediscount rate—that is, what interest your bank must pay to borrow from the Central Bank;

2. Raising or lowering that amount of cash your bank must keep tied up in the Reserve Bank as a legal reserve and thus unavailable for lending to you;

3. Buying or selling U. S. securities in the open market and thus drying up or expanding the amount of money your bank has on hand for loans to business;

4. Deciding between issuing short-term or long-term U. S. bonds and thus either expanding or shrinking the amount of idle investment money that business can tap.

BANKERS AND businessmen debate which would be the more effective brake on speculation: Raising interest rates or hiking stock margins. Some hold that decreeing that stock purchases should be for all, or nearly all, cash would have only a temporary and psychological effect.

Financial circles have been watching for a possible hike in interest rates here ever since Britain boosted interest sharply last month to halt an inflationary trend there.

The money supply already has tightened up a little here this year.

Some bankers have expressed concern over the fast growing total of mortgage debt and the high total of instalment credit. Finance companies have been borrowing from the banks to carry the unusual amount of new car buying at this season. Bank loans for the purchase or carrying of stocks and other securities is at the highest point in years. Bank loans to business have been increasing in recent weeks.

FROM ONE POINT of view all of this reflects a general pickup in business activity. From another it could spell worry lest the economy be moving too fast and people getting too far into debt.

Business, as well as the senators, will watch to see which view the treasury secretary and the federal reserve chairman take.

Will Engage Lawyers

Washington, March 14 (AP)—The Justice Department will hire more honor graduates of the nation's top law schools this year, Atty. Gen. Brownell announced today. The attorney general said job opportunities will be offered to 45 graduates this June. Thirty such fledgling lawyers were hired last summer. "The work of the first group, brought in a year ago, has been so outstanding and the program so popular among the law schools that we feel the department will benefit by expanding the program," Brownell said.

No Report at Present

Rahway, N. J., March 14 (AP)—Sen. Clifford P. Case (R.-N. J.), who inspected health and living conditions at Ft. Dix, says he doesn't plan making a report to Congress "at present." At his home here yesterday, Case said he had wanted to tour the huge training camp for some time. He remarked that his five-hour visit Saturday was especially timely because of the recent deaths of two trainees from a form of meningitis. Of his inspection at the post, Case said he considered health care in general as excellent.

Malden-West Camp Firemen Plan Dance

Saugerties, March 14 — Plans for a square and round dance to be conducted Saturday, May 4, were formulated at the regular meeting of the Malden-West Camp Fire Company Thursday night in West Camp Parish Hall.

John Simon of Evesport and Emmett Vedder of Malden were designated as co-chairmen of a dance committee which will include Luther Emerick, Charles Daley, William R. Wrolsen, Clarence Gardner and Robert West.

President William R. Wrolsen who presided appointed Jerry A. Smith as chairman of the ticket committee.

Also announced by President Wrolsen was the appointment of the building committee which will be responsible for the completion of the Malden Fire Station which reached above window level at the time operations were discontinued for the winter months.

The committee includes Charles Teetsel, Warren H. Knaust, William R. Wrolsen, Luther Emerick, Harold W. Bennett, Albert J. Cawein, Leon Magee, Robert Moon, Jerry A. Smith, Percy Dederick, and Arthur L. Smith.

Fire Commissioner Harry L. Moose in his commissioner's report said that the board granted the request of the fire company to enter one of the fire trucks of the district in the annual Loyalty Day parade in Saugerties April 30.

Lester Ostoyic of Malden was voted into active membership in the company.

Charles Daley, representative of the company at the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association reported on his attendance at the last county meeting. He announced that the next meeting of the county organization would be on Tuesday, March 15, at the Kingston Court House.

In accordance with a request to the company to participate in the Ulster County Fire Mutual Aid Plan a resolution was approved by the members for full participation.

Assistant Fire Chief Charles Teetsel gave the fire chief's report in which he said Fire Chief Valmore M. Carpenter had received word from officials at the Alpha Cement plant in Cementon highly commending the firemen of the Malden-West Camp Fire Company for their quick and efficient action in extinguishing the fire at the plant Wednesday morning. The West Camp pumper answered the call after approval from the fire commissioners to leave the fire district.

The company voted to discontinue the practice of sending out monthly meeting notice cards except for special occasions.

Fund Drive Collects $800 for Memorial

Saugerties, March 14 — The Veterans' Memorial Fund for a permanent memorial to all veterans of the Town of Saugerties realized more than $800 from the house to house canvass Tuesday through most of the village and town areas.

With the amount previously contributed the total now stands at $1,250 with still three town areas not completed.

Robert Messinger, commander of the Lamouree-Hackett Post 72, American Legion which is sponsoring the project said that the contents of 30 canisters which were distributed in various places of business throughout the township have yet to be collected and counted into the total.

Commander Messinger said he was extremely gratified with the results so far and added his gratitude to the general public and the more than 40 Legionnaires who participated in the campaign for their splendid cooperation.

The commander of the local Legionnaires said that he and Peter M. Williams, town supervisor had received many phone calls from residents saying that they had not been canvassed and wanted to donate to the fund.

All those wishing to donate may do so by giving their contribution to any Legionnaire or leaving the donation at the town clerk's office on Main street.

St. Patrick's Day Dance Is Announced

Saugerties, March 14 — The annual St. Patrick's Day party and dance sponsored by the Holy Name Society of St. Mary's RC Church will be held in the municipal auditorium on Thursday night beginning at 8:15 p. m.

An outstanding program will be presented under the direction of John J. Keeley, Sr., who will serve as master of ceremonies. Music for dancing will be provided by Frankie Zano and his orchestra.

The program will include a presentation by the St. Mary's Choir under the direction of Mrs. William C. Plimley. The dance number by the choir will be directed by Aline Cameron.

Miss Belinda Terpening, tiny tot baton twirler, will also add her talent to the program. Others of the younger set on the program include Bobby and Tommy Provenzano, Patty McManus and Gail Wolbroehl, the Kelder Brothers from Kingston and the Saugerties High School Girls' Sextet.

William Ross, member of the school faculty, will offer selected trumpet solos and Mildred Newkirk, soprano soloist, will render some Irish ballads vocally.

A banjoist, Peter Matthews will also offer Irish melodies and John A. McCullough, tenor soloist of Kingston, will render a few of the better known Irish ballads.

The Arnold Stanley trio will also entertain. Dancing will follow the presentation.

Village Elections To Be Held Tuesday

Saugerties, March 14 — Saugerties village elections will be held on Tuesday from 12 noon to 9 p. m. to elect a mayor and three trustees. The voting will take place in the village board rooms at the municipal building.

The two-year terms of Mayor George P. Holmes and Trustees Elton L. Johnson, Frank Short and Eugene F. Thornton expire at this time.

All expiring offices are filled by members of the Independent Party with the exception of Thornton who was nominated on the Citizen's Protective Party ticket this year.

Replacing Thornton on the Independent Party ticket is John J. Wood, Sr., unsuccessful candidate in the off-year elections held in 1954.

Incumbent Mayor Holmes and trustees Johnson and Short are running for re-election with Wood.

Mayor Holmes who is seeking re-election for his fourth term will be opposed by the Citizen's Protective Party candidate, Arthur F. Simmons. Running mates with Simmons for trustees are John F. Carnright, Robert S. Russell and Thornton, incumbent.

Approximately 2,200 residents of the village of Saugerties are eligible to vote. In the off-year elections of last year only 1,290 exercised their franchise at the polls. At that time the entire Citizens' Protective ticket of Roy S. Helsmoortel, Joseph P. Vozdik and David S. Cunningham were elected.

In the mayoralty election of 1953 a total of 1,108 voters visited the polls.

According to authoritative political observers a heavy vote is anticipated and the unofficial record of 1,580 votes cast in 1951 may be broken.

Robert F. Carnright, chairman of the Citizen's Protective Party, indicated confidence in his party's victory on Tuesday. "We feel confident that we can win if the predicted large turnout at the polls materialize," he said.

Although Ted Longendyke, chairman of the Independent Party did not wish to speculate on the outcome of the election, Mayor Holmes was confident that the voters of Saugerties would re-elect him and his running mates on Tuesday.

St. Mary's Sisters Hold Coupon Drive

Saugerties, March 14—The Sisters of St. Mary's Convent are conducting a premium coupon drive for a project to help build cottages for an orphanage.

According to Sister Anne Dolores many people have coupons stored away and forgotten and perhaps would be willing to part with them for this worthy cause.

Sister Anne Dolores said, "We are trying to build cottages for our orpans at St. Agatha's Home, Nanuet. The coupons you contribute will help this worthy cause."

Family Night will be observed at the Saugerties Reformed Church Wednesday at 6:30 p. m., when a covered dish supper will be served under the sponsorship of the women's auxiliary. Mrs. Ross Snyder is chairman. The members of the Dutch Guild will assist in the arrangements. A motion picture entitled Village of the Poor will be shown following the meal.

The Cub Scouts of Pack 38, sponsored by the Reformed Church, will meet Thursday at 3:30 p. m., wth Den Mothers Mrs. Jack Pakanen and Mrs. LeRoy Snyder presiding.

The auxiliary of the Malden-West Camp Fire Company will meet Tuesday at 8 p. m., in the Malden District School.

The Saugerties Chamber of Commerce will hold its regular monthly meeting Wednesday at 8:30 p. m., in the Exempts' rooms at the municipal building.

Named Director Of Cattle Club

JOHN E. COOPER of Blue Springs Mo., has been named director of extension with the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, filling the vacancy created by the retirement of Glen M. Householder on Feb. 1. Cooper was assistant manager of the Adams Dairy Company of Kansas City, Missouri, and is a former assistant county agent of Jackson county in that state. He will make his home in Brattleboro, Vt., headquarters of the association, when he assumes his new duties on April 1.

Plattekill Town Board Changes Name of Road

Plattekill, March 12 — The Plattekill Town Board at its regular meeting Wednesday approved changing the name of Bog Meadow Road to Freetown Highway.

The action came following presentation of a petition by Charles Everett of 36 residents requesting that the name of the town road be changed.

Residents of Bog Meadow Road had objected at an earlier meeting of the Board that the road had been named inappropriately. They were advised that a petition from the residents of the road requesting a change in name would be acted upon by the board.

The Plattekill Fire Department will be notified of the change in the name, Supervisor Eber Coy said.

All members of the board were present at the meeting with the exception of Justice of Peace Hobart Smalley who was ill.

Supervisor Coy appointed a committee to work with the three fire companies in the township to ascertain the correct name of roads in the township not yet named.

The Board approved a proposal several months ago to name all roads in the township and to erect street signs designating them. As yet, only roads which intersect with state highways have name signs. The committee includes Councilman William Doolittle and Andrew Montrola and Road Commissioner Herman Demsky.

Supervisor Coy urged the cooperation of residents in designating the names of township roads. He said that the Board would be happy to hear any information relative to naming the roads correctly.

Mr. Dempsky, who is road commissioner, asked for a new dump truck for the town highway department. The Board agreed to advertise for bids.

Eldred Smith reported on firemen's compensation, noting that insurance plan covering all three fire companies under one contract would amount to an annual saving of $90 for each company. At present, a separate insurance policy covers each fire company. The fire companies are Plattekill, Modena and Clintondale.

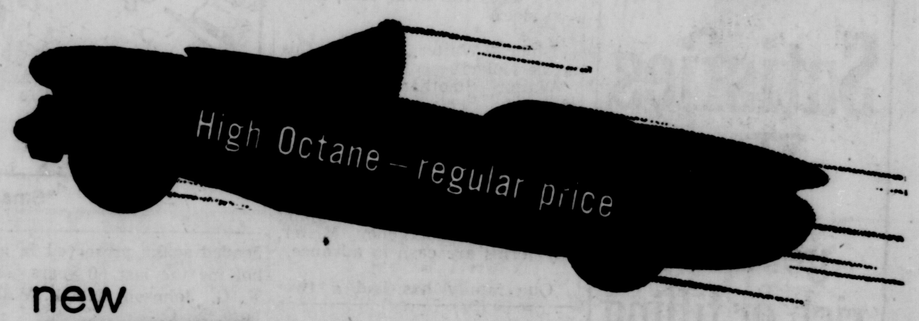

Reappraisal of town property was discussed, but no action was taken. It was reported that the Board had received information pamphlets on reappraisal from two appraisal firms.

Supervisor Coy reported that he had received letters from two township taxpayers who are residents of New York city. Both advocated that local men reassess property rather than have outside appraisers do the job.

Taxpayers attending the meeting included Angelo DeLewis, George Varela, Peter and Anthony Egiziano, Harry Imfeld, Mrs. Lee Rognon and Eldred Smith.

Business Men Anxious About Rates, Credit, Stock Buying

Washington, March 14 (AP)—If the boom looks dangerous there are two men here who could, if they thought it best, do a little manipulating to slow it down.

And the Senate Banking Committee that is eyeing the bull market in Wall Street from a vantage point here in the nation's capital is talking to them about that today and tomorrow.

They are William McChesney Martin, chairman of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve System, and George M. Humphrey, secretary of the Treasury.

WHAT BUSINESSMEN and bankers would like to know from them is: Are the nation's top money managers thinking about raising interest rates, making credit tighter, hiking margins to bring stock buying closer to an all-cash basis?

Will Humphrey and Martin try hard to get Congress to give the Federal Reserve power once more to curb on-the-cuff buying of autos and appliances and to tighten mortgage terms and thus put a brake on the home building boom?

Or do they believe—as most people would like to think—that the economy is on solid ground now and that prosperity has a green light?

THE FEDERAL reserve has the power to raise margins on stock purchases. As of now you have to put up at least 60 per cent cash to get a share of stock. You can borrow up to 40 per cent of its market value if you wish. The Federal Reserve can change that cash-borrowing ratio as it deems best for the economy. Theoretically, at least, if the Federal Reserve hikes the margin again, speculators would cool down.

The ways Martin and Humphrey between them can influence interest rates and the supply of money and credit are these:

1. Raising or lowering the Federal Reserve's rediscount rate—that is, what interest your bank must pay to borrow from the Central Bank;

2. Raising or lowering that amount of cash your bank must keep tied up in the Reserve Bank as a legal reserve and thus unavailable for lending to you;

3. Buying or selling U. S. securities in the open market and thus drying up or expanding the amount of money your bank has on hand for loans to business;

4. Deciding between issuing short-term or long-term U. S. bonds and thus either expanding or shrinking the amount of idle investment money that business can tap.

BANKERS AND businessmen debate which would be the more effective brake on speculation: Raising interest rates or hiking stock margins. Some hold that decreeing that stock purchases should be for all, or nearly all, cash would have only a temporary and psychological effect.

Financial circles have been watching for a possible hike in interest rates here ever since Britain boosted interest sharply last month to halt an inflationary trend there.

The money supply already has tightened up a little here this year.

President William R. Wrolsen who presided appointed Jerry A. Smith as chairman of the ticket committee.

Also announced by President Wrolsen was the appointment of the building committee which will be responsible for the completion of the Malden Fire Station which reached above window level at the time operations were discontinued for the winter months.

The committee includes Charles Teetsel, Warren H. Knaust, William R. Wrolsen, Luther Emerick, Harold W. Bennett, Albert J. Cawein, Leon Magee, Robert Moon, Jerry A. Smith, Percy Dederick, and Arthur L. Smith.

Fire Commissioner Harry L. Moose in his commissioner's report said that the board granted the request of the fire company to enter one of the fire trucks of the district in the annual Loyalty Day parade in Saugerties April 30.

Lester Ostovic of Malden was voted into active membership in the company.

Charles Daley, representative of the company at the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association reported on his attendance at the last county meeting. He announced that the next meeting of the county organization would be on Tuesday, March 15, at the Kingston Court House.

In accordance with a request to the company to participate in the Ulster County Fire Mutual Aid Plan a resolution was approved by the members for full participation.

Assistant Fire Chief Charles Teetsel gave the fire chief's report in which he said Fire Chief Valmore M. Carpenter had received word from officials at the Alpha Cement plant in Cementon highly commending the firemen of the Malden-West Camp Fire Company for their quick and efficient action in extinguishing the fire at the plant Wednesday morning. The West Camp pumper answered the call after approval from the fire commissioners to leave the fire district.

The company voted to discontinue the practice of sending out monthly meeting notice cards except for special occasions.

Fund Drive Collects $800 for Memorial

Saugerties, March 14 — The Veterans' Memorial Fund for a permanent memorial to all veterans of the Town of Saugerties realized more than $800 from the house to house canvass Tuesday through most of the village and town areas.

With the amount previously contributed the total now stands at $1,250 with still three town areas not completed.

Robert Messinger, commander of the Lamouree-Hackett Post 72, American Legion which is sponsoring the project said that the contents of 30 canisters which were distributed in various places of business throughout the township have yet to be collected and counted into the total.

Commander Messinger said he was extremely gratified with the results so far and added his gratitude to the general public and the more than 40 Legionnaires who participated in the campaign for their splendid cooperation.

The commander of the local Legionnaires said that he and Peter M. Williams, town supervisor had received many phone calls from residents saying that they had not been canvassed and wanted to donate to the fund.

All those wishing to donate may do so by giving their contribution to any Legionnaire or leaving the donation at the town clerk's office on Main street.

St. Patrick's Day Dance Is Announced

Saugerties, March 14 — The annual St. Patrick's Day party and dance sponsored by the Holy Name Society of St. Mary's RC Church will be held in the municipal auditorium on Thursday night beginning at 8:15 p. m.

An outstanding program will be presented under the direction of John J. Keeley, Sr., who will serve as master of ceremonies. Music for dancing will be provided by Frankie Zano and his orchestra.

The program will include a presentation by the St. Mary's Choir under the direction of Mrs. William C. Plimley. The dance number by the choir will be directed by Aline Cameron.

Miss Belinda Terpening, tiny tot baton twirler, will also add her talent to the program. Others of the younger set on the program include Bobby and Tommy Provenzano, Patty McManus and Gail Wolbroehl, the Kelder Brothers from Kingston and the Saugerties High School Girls' Sextet.

William Ross, member of the school faculty, will offer selected trumpet solos and Mildred Newkirk, soprano soloist, will render some Irish ballads vocally.

A banjoist, Peter Matthews will also offer Irish melodies and John A. McCullough, tenor soloist of Kingston, will render a few of the better known Irish ballads.

The Arnold Stanley trio will also entertain. Dancing will follow the presentation.

Village Elections To Be Held Tuesday

Saugerties, March 14 — Saugerties village elections will be held on Tuesday from 12 noon to 9 p. m. to elect a mayor and three trustees. The voting will take place in the village board rooms at the municipal building.

The two-year terms of Mayor George P. Holmes and Trustees Elton L. Johnson, Frank Short and Eugene F. Thornton expire at this time.

All expiring offices are filled by members of the Independent Party with the exception of Thornton who was nominated on the Citizen's Protective Party ticket this year.

Replacing Thornton on the Independent Party ticket is John J. Wood, Sr., unsuccessful candidate in the off-year elections held in 1954.

Incumbent Mayor Holmes and trustees Johnson and Short are running for re-election with Wood.

Mayor Holmes who is seeking re-election for his fourth term will be opposed by the Citizen's Protective Party candidate, Arthur F. Simmons. Running mates with Simmons for trustees are John F. Carnright, Robert S. Russell and Thornton, incumbent.

Approximately 2,200 residents of the village of Saugerties are eligible to vote. In the off-year elections of last year only 1,290 exercised their franchise at the polls. At that time the entire Citizens' Protective ticket of Roy S. Helsmoortel, Joseph P. Vozdik and David S. Cunningham were elected.

In the mayoralty election of 1953 a total of 1,108 voters visited the polls.

According to authoritative political observers a heavy vote is anticipated and the unofficial record of 1,580 votes cast in 1951 may be broken.

Robert F. Carnright, chairman of the Citizen's Protective Party, indicated confidence in his party's victory on Tuesday. "We feel confident that we can win if the predicted large turnout at the polls materialize," he said.

Although Ted Longendyke, chairman of the Independent Party did not wish to speculate on the outcome of the election, Mayor Holmes was confident that the voters of Saugerties would re-elect him and his running mates on Tuesday.

St. Mary's Sisters Hold Coupon Drive

Saugerties, March 14—The Sisters of St. Mary's Convent are conducting a premium coupon drive for a project to help build cottages for an orphanage.

According to Sister Anne Dolores many people have coupons stored away and forgotten and perhaps would be willing to part with them for this worthy cause.

Sister Anne Dolores said, "We are trying to build cottages for our orpans at St. Agatha's Home, Nanuet. The coupons you contribute will help this worthy cause."

Begonia Bulbs Topic Of Talk to Society

Saugerties, March 14—Tuberous begonia bulbs was the topic presented by Mrs. Warren H. Knaust at the regular meeting of the Saugerties Society of Little Gardens held Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Albert Smith, Ulster avenue.

A tuberous begonia bulb was given to each of the 28 members present and the progress of the growth will be reported at the June 23 meeting.

Motion pictures were also shown on the care of begonias and fuchsias by Steve Baron. Following the meeting Mrs. Smith and her committee served refreshments .The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Nolan.

Baptists Organize Men's Fellowship

Saugerties, March 14—A Men's Fellowship was organized by the First Baptist Church at a special meeting held Wednesday in the lecture room.

Leon McLaughlin was elected first president of the newly formed men's group. Also voted to office were Joseph Loerzel, secretary and Robert Ernst, treasurer.

The evening's program included the showing of two films by George Krom and a session of song led by Arthur Hansen. Refreshments featuring chili concarne were served by a committee headed by the newly selected president. The next meeting is scheduled for April 13.

Observance Committee Formed for July 4

Saugerties, March 14 — The Saugerties Fourth of July Observance Committee announced today that an organization for the 1955 celebration has been formed.

Mrs. Marzell Roming who serves as a representative of the Saugerties Chamber of Commerce was designated as chairman of the newly formed group.

Others designated include Mrs. Sarah Lewis of the VFW Auxiliary, vice-chairman; Arthur F. Simmons, American Legion, treasurer and Mrs. Ann Bump of the Young Adult Civic Council, secretary.

Others represented on the committee for the Fourth of July observance are Mrs. Irving Dreishpoon, Chamber of Commerce; Harold Swart, American Legion; William Brown and Richard Aldrich, VFW; Mrs. George Fisher, VFW Auxiliary; Mrs. Herman Smith and Mrs. John Rivenberg, Legion Auxiliary; James J. Dargan, Jr., Young Adult Civic Council, and Mrs. Rose Snyder and Miss June Overbaugh for the DAR.

The committee consisting of representatives of various local organizations was formed at the suggestion of the Chamber of Commerce which formerly sponsored the annual observance.

On Thursday litany service will be conducted at 9:45 with the administration of Holy Communion at 10 a. m.

Ulster Lodge 193, F & AM, is sponsoring a pancake and sausage supper from 5 to 7 p. m. Wednesday in the lodge banquet hall on Main street. The public is cordially invited.

A special meeting of the solicitors of the every-member canvass of the Saugerties Methodist Church will be held Wednesday at 7:30 p. m., at the church.

Family Night will be observed at the Saugerties Reformed Church Wednesday at 6:30 p. m., when a covered dish supper will be served under the sponsorship of the women's auxiliary. Mrs. Ross Snyder is chairman. The members of the Dutch Guild will assist in the arrangements. A motion picture entitled Village of the Poor will be shown following the meal.

The Cub Scouts of Pack 38, sponsored by the Reformed Church, will meet Thursday at 3:30 p. m., wth Den Mothers Mrs. Jack Pakanen and Mrs. LeRoy Snyder presiding.

The auxiliary of the Malden-West Camp Fire Company will meet Tuesday at 8 p. m., in the Malden District School.

The Saugerties Chamber of Commerce will hold its regular monthly meeting Wednesday at 8:30 p. m., in the Exempts' rooms at the municipal building.

Named Director Of Cattle Club

JOHN E. COOPER of Blue Springs Mo., has been named director of extension with the Holstein-Friesian Association of America, filling the vacancy created by the retirement of Glen M. Householder on Feb. 1. Cooper was assistant manager of the Adams Dairy Company of Kansas City, Missouri, and is a former assistant county agent of Jackson county in that state. He will make his home in Brattleboro, Vt., headquarters of the association, when he assumes his new duties on April 1.

Plattekill Town Board Changes Name of Road

Plattekill, March 12 — The Plattekill Town Board at its regular meeting Wednesday approved changing the name of Bog Meadow Road to Freetown Highway.

The action came following presentation of a petition by Charles Everett of 36 residents requesting that the name of the town road be changed.

Residents of Bog Meadow Road had objected at an earlier meeting of the Board that the road had been named inappropriately. They were advised that a petition from the residents of the road requesting a change in name would be acted upon by the board.

The Plattekill Fire Department will be notified of the change in the name, Supervisor Eber Coy said.

All members of the board were present at the meeting with the exception of Justice of Peace Hobart Smalley who was ill.

Supervisor Coy appointed a committee to work with the three fire companies in the township to ascertain the correct name of roads in the township not yet named.

The Board approved a proposal several months ago to name all roads in the township and to erect street signs designating them. As yet, only roads which intersect with state highways have name signs. The committee includes Councilman William Doolittle and Andrew Montrola and Road Commissioner Herman Demsky.

Supervisor Coy urged the cooperation of residents in designating the names of township roads. He said that the Board would be happy to hear any information relative to naming the roads correctly.

Mr. Dempsky, who is road commissioner, asked for a new dump truck for the town highway department. The Board agreed to advertise for bids.

Eldred Smith reported on firemen's compensation, noting that insurance plan covering all three fire companies under one contract would amount to an annual saving of $90 for each company. At present, a separate insurance policy covers each fire company. The fire companies are Plattekill, Modena and Clintondale.

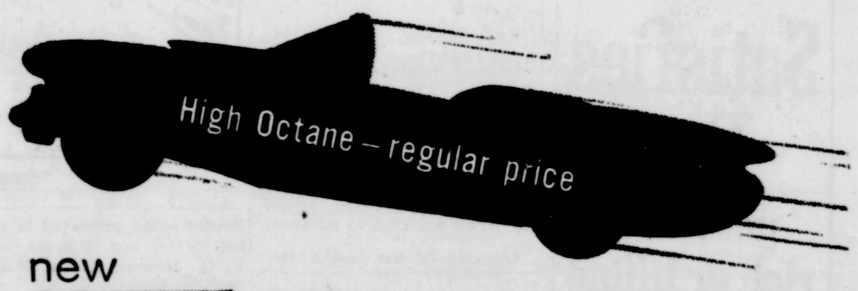

Reappraisal of town property was discussed, but no action was taken. It was reported that the Board had received information pamphlets on reappraisal from two appraisal firms.

Supervisor Coy reported that he had received letters from two township taxpayers who are residents of New York city. Both advocated that local men reassess property rather than have outside appraisers do the job.

Taxpayers attending the meeting included Angelo DeLewis, George Varela, Peter and Anthony Egiziano, Harry Imfeld, Mrs. Lee Rognon and Eldred Smith.

SURE-FIRE FORMULA

In a recent letter from a reader of this column, a young man in his middle twenties asks for a "sure-fire" investment formula. He can save from ten to twenty dollars a week which he wishes to put into securities. His insurance program is already established.

He represents those millions of thrifty people who prefer to build their own financial security. He is in humanitarian work and he can't be bothered with balance sheets and earning statement. He reasons thus: if he puts $1,000 a year in sound common stocks for 25 years, he will (when he is 50) have a competence upon which he can live comfortably when he retires.

And here is the simple formula I give him to attain his objective:

Buy the common stocks of enterprises that do an annual business of $500,000,000.

Be sure these equities have paid regular dividends for 25 consecutive years.

Ascertain what dividend payments have been made on the shares under investigation for at least the 10-year period from 1945 to 1954 inclusive.

If, based on these facts, present dividends and stock prices appear favorable, buy them.

Automobile
Chemical
Electrical Equipment
Oil
Utilities

Du Pont
Eastman Kodak
General Electric
General Motors
Socony-Vacuum
Standard Oil of California
Standard Oil of Indiana
Standard Oil of New Jersey
Texas Corporation
Union Carbide and Carbon
Westinghouse Electric

A plan of investment for this young man might logically be arranged along these lines: (1) Select three industries and three stocks from those industries; (2) during 1955, invest savings in his first choice stocks; (3) during 1956 and 1957, in his second and third choice equities. Then, in 1958, 1959 and 1960, repeat this procedure.

One may ask: "Why select such large corporations?"

Well, any enterprise doing half a billion dollars' worth of business a year is well integrated into the national economy. Its roots are deep and far-flung. From time to time, America's prospertity is spotty, but a corporation doing a large national and international business can often outride such conditions.

And any corporation that has paid dividends unfailingly for 25 years has (1) goods and services that are indispensable in maintaining America's standard of living and (2) management and experience that comes only from age.

This young man should be reminded that all common stocks carry a risk. Some years he will buy high and some years low. And even with casual attention to his investment program, he will come to know when he may defer his purchases. But systematic saving, carried on in this way will prove profitable, for America is a growing country and such growth always catches up with stock prices, however high they may go.

The Forum

(Q) "My banker advises me not to buy a $2.15 uranium stock. I want to buy 100 shares as a gamble. Is he right?"

(A) Have you money in your savings account? Have you an intelligent insurance program? Have you some sound securities? If your answer to any of these questions is, no, then your banker is right.

Harry C. France will answer one letter each week through this column. If you have any investment questions, write in care of this newspaper.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

New York (AP)—In America it is taken for granted — by the ladies at least—that behind every successful man there is a woman.

No matter what he may think of her in private, the great man must publicly proclaim that everything he achieved he owes to his dear sparring partner at home. No famous figure I know of has ever had the courage to announce:

'The really remarkable thing about me is that I got so far in life despite the handicap of being tied to one of the dumbest wives who ever gnawed at a man's paycheck."

He wouldn't dare. On the other hand, successful women in America don't match the gallantry of successful men. Rare indeed is the career gal who admits, "I'd probably be a bowery deadbeat if I hadn't been lucky enough to marry the right guy."

BUT CHIVALRY in womanhood isn't altogether dead, boys—at least in France. Take Line Renaud, the latest imported chanteuse from Paris.

"Evert'ing I am I owe to my hoosband," said the small sultry blonde singer. "Wizout heem my career ees eempossible. I am nozzing—nozzing weethout heem."

Line, small, blue-eyed and vivacious, is "The Mademoiselles From Armentieres," second World War version.

"My grandmozzer she have zee cafe in Armentieres, an' I meet many allied soldiers there," she said. "Armentieres ees a small town. Eet have about zee same nomber of people as live in zee Waldorf Hotel here. But yet Armentieres is jus' well enough known in zee worl' that ever' time they have zee war eet gets knocked down—boom!"

AT 16 LINE came to Paris and met Loulou Gaste, a top song writer and pioneer French jazz musician.

"Loulou ees very famoos," she said. "At wan time he ees the only man in a ll France who can play zee banjo."

Gaste signed a 7-year contract to manage her. Before it ran out they decided to make it a lifetime contract. Under her husband's tutelage — he still writes many of her songs—she became a top singing and recording star. She also has been in five French film musicals.

Line has become something of a combined Dorothy Dix and Betty Hutton in her homeland, as the result of a widely popular weekly radio show in which she mixes songs and advice to the lovelorn. Her audience is largely feminine.

"LOVE PROBLEMS zey are zee same in all countrees," she observed. "The girl, she are een love with zee man, but he dozzen't love zem back. Zo zey write an' ask me should zey let heem know they are een love with heem.

"I tell zem, no, no, no! When a theeng ees too easy for a man, he lose zee eenterest."

Line savs she fears French men tune in on her program only to laugh. They rarely ask her for advice.

"In France ever' men theenk he know evert'ing there ees to know about love. Eef he has zee love problem, he ees too proud to ask for help. He theenk he will solve eet himself."

Line, who returns to France next month after completing engagements here and in Hollywood, thinks American men stare less at women in public than men in Europe do. (Whether this is a good or bad thing, from a woman's standpoint, she didn't say.)

BUT SHE expressed shock at the emphasis put in this country on leg art and the bustline.

"Ze American men are specialists, and zey suffer from it," she remarked. "Een France a man admires zee entire woman."

Asked to compare American and Frenchmen on their relative charm appeal, Line shook her head, smiled and said:

"Een love zey simply speak deeferent langweedges. Voila, zee deeference. Tout est la!"

Blatt Will Move From Newburgh

Quincy, Mass., March 14 (AP)—Donald H. Blatt, 35, a former resident but now city manager of Newburgh, has been named city manager of Quincy.

The Quincy City Council screened 26 candidates before naming Blatt, a wounded veteran of World War 2, Saturday. He will assume his new duties April 12.

Blatt's first position in government was as manager at Calaid, Maine, when only 26. He served in the same capacity at Stoughton from 1950 to 1954, when he left to take the position at Newburgh.

I may be a little biased because I have always lived in Rondout and have faith in this part of the town, although many old time businesses are moving elsewhere in town. I have heard that there is even a movement to stretch our Rondout Bridge towards uptown, by making Abeel street and Union street, underpasses. They may stretch our bridge up to Hunter street which may be for the greatest good but I do hope that our Rondout Creek Bridge does not move entirely to the upper section as have other projects. I learn that another bank is leaving Rondout, leaving just the one Rondout Savings Bank which has been very accommodating especially on Saturday mornings and Friday afternoons in changing money and checks for the folks downtown. I am sure that if the Rondout Savings Bank would have the right for all the other services that business banks usually have, downtown folks would stand in deep lines to all its windows. The Rondout Savings Bank is in a very convenient location for all of us. The staff understands our trials and tribulations and takes its time without rushing us through usual bank transactions in the new modern methods used elsewhere nowadays. I do hope we keep the Rondout Savings Bank in Rondout forever.

I do not know if most folks in Rondout know where the new housing project called Colonial Gardens is on Flatbush avenue. I have seen it only once from far away so I am not sure that I would not have to look for it. Now that the Colonial Gardens are completed we must compensate by having certain other blocks of buildings razed. The buildings chosen are, as all Rondout folks know, some nine houses in the 6th ward, one or two of them in such good condition that if moved elsewhere they could be set up as is. The bidding for the razing was held and the Poughkeepsie Wrecking Co. was the low bidder for tearing down the nine buildings. In the stipulation, I see, they will also put up a fence of old lumber, which should add to the beauty of this project. What our downtown working people need, and I mean in Rondout, is a housing project of their own, so that they can continue to live, work, and be in their own neighborhood with their own old friends, relatives and neighbors.

Perhaps folks from other parts do not realize that we downtowners like it here otherwise we would be elsewhere. We love our river and our creek. The working folks, especially the women who are employed here in factories do not ask for expensive living quarters. They want a small comfortable apartment that can be heated properly in the winter, and a good bathroom and perhaps a little yard at their disposal if they have small children, also a place to park their car off the street. I have often admired the land on which the Rice Mansion used to stand, which I take it is now the upper part of Cornell park, although not used as a park, just grown wild. It has a frontage on Wurts street, Spring and Post street and the other side touches the Cornell playground. No doubt contractors with imagination could build a fine housing project on this land with picture windows to the creek, bridge and Hudson river and still make it reasonable priced apartments with most conveniences and a park for a backyard. Folks then working in and near this section could live in the sort of dwellings the Ann street houses are really being torn down for. This section is near all sorts of transportation, stores, and of course many small factories and plants. I must find out, how many folks moved from those nine houses on Ann street way up to the Colonial Gardens on Flatbush avenue. If not any, why?

U. S. Corners Marked

New York (AP)—About seven million 30-inch, wrought iron markers with lettered brass caps have been used by government surveyors to mark U. S. land corners, says Steelways magazine. The government, which once owned about two thirds of all U. S. lands has transferred a billion acres to private interests. But there are still 100 million acres which have not been surveyed.

ELLENVILLE NEWS

Village Voters Will Elect Mayor Tuesday

Ellenville, March 12 — Ellenville voters will go to the polls Tuesday, March 15, to elect a mayor and two trustees to serve as members of the Village Board for the coming two years. They will be asked to choose between Mayor Frank Muller, Republican and Trustee Eugene Glusker, Democrat, in the mayoralty, and Willard H. Peet and R. Earl Haley, Republicans, and Cyrus Depuy and William E. Graham, Democrats, in voting on the two trustee vacancies.

The election, which will climax a campaign that is regarded as subdued in comparison with those in the village in the most recent years, will be held at Hunt Memorial Hall between noon and 8 p. m. and the votes will be cast on two town-owned voting machines. Muller is seeking a third term as mayor of the village while his running mates, Peet and Haley are seeking to succeed on the board Sol Steinhoff and Edward Christiana, both Republican board members for the past four years. On the Democratic side, Glusker is a present village trustee, Graham is a former mayor and Depuy served a term as trustee several years ago. Named by Mayor Muller to serve as the board of elections are Jack Siegel, Philip Kinberg, Kenneth Mitchel, Miss Alice I. Moffitt, village clerk and Anthony Van Dyke, deputy clerk.

The Ladies' Bible Class of the Reformed Church will meet in the Sunday school room of the church March 14 at 7:30 p. m. for a business meeting and Bible study hour. Hostesses will be Mrs. Thomas Connor and Mrs. Marie Odell.

Articles written in Braille are now on display in the children's room of the Ellenville Public Library. Included in the exhibit is a copy of Cooper's Deerslayer on loan from the New York State Library.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Schaffer of Schenectady have rented an apartment at 51 Center street and will move in in the near future.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Sarr have moved their family to Tillson, where they have bought a home. Mr. Sarr is connected with the Soil Conservation Service.

Mrs. Ben Markle of Kerhonkson was in town recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Bryant and two children of Harriman visited with the children's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Caston Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Osterhoudt visited their son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. David Osterhoudt, at Coxsackie, last week.

Mrs. John Schweinfest and daughter, Mrs. Gus Heftner, of Stamford, Conn., spent the week-end with her cousin, Mrs. Anna Stangle.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Simpson and two children of Livingston Manor visited Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Caston.

Mrs. Thomas Smith is still a patient at Veterans Memorial Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Robinson and Mrs. Marie Odell, spent Sunday visiting Mr. and Mrs. Earl Robinson and family at their home in Delmar. Earl Robinson plans to build a new home this spring near his present home.

Mrs. John B. King of Brooklyn spent Wednesday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irving T. McNally.

Mrs. Robert A. McCartney is visiting at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Kaley and family in Milton.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Young of the Leurenkill road left Saturday for a three week vacation in New Mexico.

Miss Mary Clancy of Albany spent the weekend with her grandmother, Mrs. John Wilklow.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Goldsmith have returned home after a three weeks' vacation touring through Florida and visiting points of interest. On route to Ellenville, they visited the former's cousins, Captain and Mrs. Walter Sarine, at Fort Knox, Ky., and Mr. and Mrs. Sal Furman, at Pittsburgh, Pa. Mrs. Goldsmith is the former Phyllis Sarine. Miss Marilyn Goldsmith and Miss Mary Jane Thompson of Napanoch, who accompanied the former's parents, remained in Sarasota, Fla., for two months.

Mrs. John Schacht has returned to Elizabethtown, N. J., after spending a week with William Schacht and family.

SURE-FIRE FORMULA

In a recent letter from a reader of this column, a young man in his middle twenties asks for a "sure-fire" investment formula. He can save from ten to twenty dollars a week which he wishes to put into securities. His insurance program is already established.

He represents those millions of thrifty people who prefer to build their own financial security. He is in humanitarian work and he can't be bothered with balance sheets and earning statement. He reasons thus: if he puts $1,000 a year in sound common stocks for 25 years, he will (when he is 50) have a competence upon which he can live comfortably when he retires.

And here is the simple formula I give him to attain his objective:

Buy the common stocks of enterprises that do an annual business of $500,000,000.

Be sure these equities have paid regular dividends for 25 consecutive years.

Ascertain what dividend payments have been made on the shares under investigation for at least the 10-year period from 1945 to 1954 inclusive.

If, based on these facts, present dividends and stock prices appear favorable, buy them.

Automobile
Chemical
Oil
Utilities

Du Pont
Eastman Kodak
General Electric
General Motors
Socony-Vacuum
Standard Oil of California
Standard Oil of Indiana
Standard Oil of New Jersey
Texas Corporation
Union Carbide and Carbon

A plan of investment for this young man might logically be arranged along these lines: (1) Select three industries and three stocks from those industries; (2) during 1955, invest savings in his first choice stocks; (3) during 1956 and 1957, in his second and third choice equities. Then, in 1958, 1959 and 1960, repeat this procedure.

One may ask: "Why select such large corporations?"

Well, any enterprise doing half a billion dollars' worth of business a year is well integrated into the national economy. Its roots are deep and far-flung. From time to time, America's prospertity is spotty, but a corporation doing a large national and international business can often outride such conditions.

And any corporation that has paid dividends unfailingly for 25 years has (1) goods and services that are indispensable in maintaining America's standard of living and (2) management and experience that comes only from age.

This young man should be reminded that all common stocks carry a risk. Some years he will buy high and some years low. And even with casual attention to his investment program, he will come to know when he may defer his purchases. But systematic saving, carried on in this way will prove profitable, for America is a growing country and such growth always catches up with stock prices, however high they may go.

(Q) "My banker advises me not to buy a $2.15 uranium stock. I want to buy 100 shares as a gamble. Is he right?"

(A) Have you money in your savings account? Have you an intelligent insurance program? Have you some sound securities? If your answer to any of these questions is, no, then your banker is right.

Harry C. France will answer one letter each week through this column. If you have any investment questions, write in care of this newspaper.

Leaves From Boyle's Notebook

By HAL BOYLE

New York (AP)—In America it is taken for granted — by the ladies at least—that behind every successful man there is a woman.

No matter what he may think of her in private, the great man must publicly proclaim that everything he achieved he owes to his dear sparring partner at home. No famous figure I know of has ever had the courage to announce:

'The really remarkable thing about me is that I got so far in life despite the handicap of being tied to one of the dumbest wives who ever gnawed at a man's paycheck."

He wouldn't dare. On the other hand, successful women in America don't match the gallantry of successful men. Rare indeed is the career gal who admits, "I'd probably be a bowery deadbeat if I hadn't been lucky enough to marry the right guy."

BUT CHIVALRY in womanhood isn't altogether dead, boys—at least in France. Take Line Renaud, the latest imported chanteuse from Paris.

"Evert'ing I am I owe to my hoosband," said the small sultry blonde singer. "Wizout heem my career ees eempossible. I am nozzing—nozzing weethout heem."

Line, small, blue-eyed and vivacious, is "The Mademoiselles From Armentieres," second World War version.

"My grandmozzer she have zee cafe in Armentieres, an' I meet many allied soldiers there," she said. "Armentieres ees a small town. Eet have about zee same nomber of people as live in zee Waldorf Hotel here. But yet Armentieres is jus' well enough known in zee worl' that ever' time they have zee war eet gets knocked down—boom!"

AT 16 LINE came to Paris and met Loulou Gaste, a top song writer and pioneer French jazz musician.

"Loulou ees very famoos," she said. "At wan time he ees the only man in a ll France who can play zee banjo."

Gaste signed a 7-year contract to manage her. Before it ran out they decided to make it a lifetime contract. Under her husband's tutelage — he still writes many of her songs—she became a top singing and recording star. She also has been in five French film musicals.

Line has become something of a combined Dorothy Dix and Betty Hutton in her homeland, as the result of a widely popular weekly radio show in which she mixes songs and advice to the lovelorn. Her audience is largely feminine.

"LOVE PROBLEMS zey are zee same in all countrees," she observed. "The girl, she are een love with zee man, but he dozzen't love zem back. Zo zey write an' ask me should zey let heem know they are een love with heem.

"I tell zem, no, no, no! When a theeng ees too easy for a man, he lose zee eenterest."

Line says she fears French men tune in on her program only to laugh. They rarely ask her for advice.

"In France ever' men theenk he know evert'ing there ees to know about love. Eef he has zee love problem, he ees too proud to ask for help. He theenk he will solve eet himself."

Line, who returns to France next month after completing engagements here and in Hollywood, thinks American men stare less at women in public than men in Europe do. (Whether this is a good or bad thing, from a woman's standpoint, she didn't say.)

BUT SHE expressed shock at the emphasis put in this country on leg art and the bustline.

"Ze American men are specialists, and zey suffer from it," she remarked. "Een France a man admires zee entire woman."

Asked to compare American and Frenchmen on their relative charm appeal, Line shook her head, smiled and said:

"Een love zey simply speak deeferent langweedges. Voila, zee deeference. Tout est la!"

Blatt Will Move From Newburgh

Quincy, Mass., March 14 (AP)—Donald H. Blatt, 35, a former resident but now city manager of Newburgh, has been named city manager of Quincy.

The Quincy City Council screened 26 candidates before naming Blatt, a wounded veteran of World War 2, Saturday. He will assume his new duties April 12.

Blatt's first position in government was as manager at Calaid, Maine, when only 26. He served in the same capacity at Stoughton from 1950 to 1954, when he left to take the position at Newburgh.

Miss Helen Ehman Is Engaged to Wed John W. McDonough

HELEN EHMAN

Announcement has been made of the engagement of Miss Helen Marie Ehman of Kingston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Ehman of Holdfast, Saskatchewan, Canada, to John W. McDonough, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McDonough of Saugerties.

Miss Ehman resides with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Harry S. Wiands, 288 Washington avenue, this city.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Holdfast High School and Success Business College in Regina, and is at present employed as secretary-receptionist by WKNY Radio and Television.

Mr. McDonough is a graduate of Saugerties High School and attended Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. He is presently employed as a highway engineer with the New York State Department of Public Works, Poughkeepsie.

Miss Edna Martin, Chester Tobias Wed In Mt. Marion Church

Miss Edna Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Martin of Glenerie Lake Park, was united in marriage to Chester Tobias, son of Mrs. Mirza Tobias of Mount Marion. The ceremony was performed Saturday, March 5, at 3 p. m. in the Mount Marion Reformed Church by the Rev. Andrew Hansen, pastor.

For the occasion the sanctuary was decorated with baskets of white flowers and the pews were marked with white bouquets. Lewis Gaylord, vocal soloist, sang Because, O Promise Me and The Lord's Prayer to the accompaniment of Mrs. Roland Tonnesen, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of white chantilly lace over white satin. Her headpiece consisted of a white chantilly lace cap and she carried a white Bible adorned with a white orchid and streamers.

Mrs. Frederick Kreyling of Flushing, L. I., served as matron of honor. She wore a gown of blue lace and taffeta with matching headpiece. She carried an old fashioned bouquet of pink roses.

Victor Churchill, brother-in-law of the bridegroom of Mt. Marion served as best man. Ralph Allen of Lomontville and Samuel Castiglione of Kingston, both brothers-in-law of the bridegroom, served as ushers.

WHEN THE PARENTS ARE DIVORCED

A father writes me: "Ten years ago my wife and I were divorced and as our children were quite young I thought it best for them to live with their mother, although I assumed all responsibility for their support. My daughter's approaching marriage presents a problem under the existing circumstances. She still lives with her mother (who has not remarried). My present wife and I will give her her wedding and I will assume all expenses in connection with it. We had planned on a rather large reception at the country club. How should the wedding invitations be worded? Who stands in the receiving line? In other words just where does the bride's mother fit in at this wedding and what role does my wife play? I will be very grateful for your help."

As your daughter has been, and still is, living with her mother, the invitations to the church should go out in her name and under the circumstances I think it would be best if she gave a simple reception at her home immediately following the ceremony for her own most intimate friends and relatives on her side of the family. A second reception could then be given by you and your wife later in the day with invitations going out in both your names. After leaving her mother's house, the bride, in her bridal dress and veil, and the bridegroom accompanied by all of their attendants would all drive to the country club for this second reception.

Teen-Aged Girl at Stork Shower?

Dear Mrs. Post: My fifteen-year-old daughter has received an invitation to a stork shower that is being given for a cousin. Perhaps I am old-fashioned but I think teen-aged girls have no place at a stork shower and that this invitation was in very bad taste. I do not think she should go. What is your opinion of this?

Answer: I agree with you that teen-aged girls have no proper place at a stork shower.

A Present for One You Do Not Know

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been invited to a birthday party (surprise) for a girl friend and given the privilege of bringing my own boy friend. Should I write his name with mine on the card enclosed with the birthday gift I'm buying, or should he take his own? He doesn't know her.

Answer: Since he is a stranger to her, you alone take a present. He might, of course, take some flowers which he would give to her.

What should the attendants and guests wear at the wedding reception? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Her leaflet E-6 includes description of clothes for a daytime or evening reception. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to Dept. EP, in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Two Local Artists Will Play in Program At Youth Reception

A program of entertainment has been planned for those attending the reception culminating the Youth Aliyah fund drive for 1955, Wednesday evening at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The event will begin at 8 p. m. in the Crystal Room.

Mrs. Harold Shorr, who is a well-known vocalist through her appearances at local functions, will sing several best-loved songs from her repertoire. Mrs. Shorr has sung with the Fred Waring vocal group. She will be accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Morton Zucker.

A group of cello solos will be given by Miss Luba Byman accompanied on the piano by Anita Katchen. From New York city, Miss Byman, now a senior at Sarah Lawrence College, is a scholarship pupil of Leonard Rose at Juilliard School of Music. She began the study of the cello at the age of twelve with Emmerich Gara, member of the NBC Symphony. As a sophomore at college, she premiered a work for orchestra, chorus and dance entitled, Electra, written by Meyer Kupferman, faculty member, particularly scored for cello obligato and orchestra with Miss Byman in mind as soloist.

Mrs. Louis Ellenbogen is chairman of the Youth Aliyah drive for this year. Co-hostesses at the function Wednesday evening will be Mrs. Sidney Pauker and Mrs. Sam Schwartzberg.

Others taking part in the planning for the reception are Mmes. Irving Buck, Joseph Epstein, Samuel Kenik, Alfred Ronder, Benjamin Suskind and Ida Werbalowsky.

Admission to the reception is by invitation only. Mrs. Oscar B. London is president of Hadassah which sponsors the Youth Aliyah drive each year.

Florida vacationer is Attorney William A. Kelly who left last week for St. Petersburg and expects to remain until the end of this month . . . Visiting with W. M. Willy at Miami Beach is Ernest Bergman of Route 4, following trip through Mexico . . . Postcard informs that William Wirsching is spending a month's vacation at Fort Lauderdale, and expects to be back in Kingston around April 1 . . . Mr. and Mrs. Harry Snyder have returned to their home in Stone Ridge after spending a vacation in Florida. . . . Mrs. Fred Stauber of Route 4 also visitor at Miami Beach.

SPORTING a Florida tan, George Betts is back in town, and hard at work on the next Coach House Players effort, Great Big Doorstep . . . Fort Lauderdale vacation was just the interval between Coach House productions for President George.

BERMUDA vacationers due to return this week are Mr. and Mrs. W. Montgomery of the Governor Clinton Hotel, and Mrs. Fred Reis of 57 Fairmont avenue.

RETURNED to Florida after visiting here is Mrs. Faye Stewart of Miami . . . Visited with her daughters, Mrs. Robert Parvi of 50 East Chester street, and Cpl. Rae Marilyn Stewart of the Army, who recently returned from overseas and Mrs. William Cole of 5 Clinton avenue . . . Mrs. Stewart has made her home in Miami for the past five years.

LAST WEEK'S Sunday magazine supplement in The State newspaper, Columbia, S. C., carries an illustrated article entitled A Slice of Paradise. It describes the country estate of John Alexander Crawford, known as Rivers Meeting, located on a 100-foot bluff overlooking the Congaree river outside the city of Columbia. For 15 years he has been planting the six-acre area with flowers, trees, shrubs of all descriptions. Mr. Crawford's son, Jack Jr., works as a reporter for The Freeman. The article concludes with a description of some of the shrubs, etc., with which the property has been cultivated. "Just imagine 300 different varieties of Camellias, 5,000 Azaleas, 25,000 bulbs, all the way from the Peeping Crocus to the paper-white Narcissus; exotic trees ranging from Davidia to Hemlock to Cucumber; Rhododendron and Kalmia; Galax, Ivy and an army of creeping plants, not to mention the fact that his tomatoes and peppers are viewed in awe by hundreds of admiring nature lovers who troop in and out of this Eden." (ed. note: Sounds like a perfect spot for a garden club pilgrimage.)

CAPT. and Mrs. Ray Vaughan Tillett have returned to their home in Cranford, N. J., after visiting with Mrs. Tillett's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Smedes of Onteora Trail. Capt Tillett recently retired after 46 years at sea as commodore of steamship company's freighter fleet. Mrs. Tillett, former Laura Smedes of West Hurley, accompanied him on many of his voyages including three trips around the world. Says her most exciting experience of these trips was riding out a typhoon off Japan coast in 1924 following earthquake in Yokohama area. . . . Most novel cargo carried, Capt. Tillett recalls, was load of wild jungle animals from Singapore bound for New York and Frank "bring-'em-back-alive" Buck. . . . Captain was honored at luncheon at India House, New York, January 31, on his retirement, and received hand-lettered scroll of sentiments of his associates and colleagues from Admiral Glenn B. Davis. . . . the Tillets expect to divide their time between their Cranford, N. J. home and one in Nags Head, N. C., and plan many more visits to Ulster county where they have been frequent guests in the past. . . . Mrs. Effie Ward of 54 Clinton avenue is a sister of Mrs. Tillett.

A SOCIAL gathering held Thursday afternoon in the Govevnor Clinton Hotel was reunion for Mrs. Nasser Owen of Pomona, Calif., the former Victoria Maroon of this city and School No. 5 colleagues. Finerty, principal; and Miss Joan Whelan, Miss June Coniglio, Miss Sadie Lutzin, Miss Tess Lloyd, Miss Dorothy Brett, Miss Helen Lowe, Mrs. Carl Yerry, Mrs. Harry Martin and Mrs. Elizabeth Patchell. . . . Mrs. Owen and two children are visiting here for a few weeks.

SLIGHT mishaps plagued fashion show of Women's Club at YWCA Wednesday night at Governor Clinton Hotel, but affair proceeded smoothly for the most part. . . . Adorable Joan Sobsey tumbled headlong down the stairs leading from the first platform, and finished her modeling tearfully in the arms of Mrs. Parker Brinnier. Late start of show due to last minute switch in first ensembles to be worn, caused scurry in model's dressing room for a few minutes. . . . Lovely bridal gown worn by Miss Betty Ann Bruck caught in door hinges just as she was about to sweep into the Crystal Room. . . . And pretty Karlyn Knaust in her dainty blue cotton dress, arrived just too late to get into the picture for the paper. . . . The show went on, though, to a large audience, proving interest in fashions shown by leading Kingston dress, fur and hat shops.

MRS. RICHARD C. WARING of Allaben told Mrs. Oscar C. London, Kingston Chapter of Hadassah president, that her six-year-old son was born in one of Hadassah's hospitals in Israel . . . Praising the hospital staff, Mrs. Waring insists that the fine care she received was responsible for the life of her son and her complete recovery . . . Her husband is still in Israel, with ElAl, Israel Airlines . . . Family plans to rejoin him in the very near future . . . The Allaben resident has high praise for the endurance of the people in that country . . . Reflects feeling for Israel in her reference to her son as, Sabra, which in Hebrew, means native born, having the same meaning as Yankee in this country.

DR. ALEX E. S. GREEN, who is married to the former Freda Kaplowitz of Lucas avenue extension, is the author of a new book, Nuclear Physics, it was learned . . . An associate professor of Physics at Florida State University, Dr. Green spent five years on his work, completing it evenings, weekends and during vacations, aided by his wife who typed manuscript drafts while taking care of their three young children . . . Book is first of International Series in Pure and Applied Physics to come from a southeastern university . . . In author's acknowledgments, he expresses a deep gratitude to Mrs. Mildred DeWitt, teacher at Kingston High School, for her painstaking efforts at typing the final manuscript . . . Mrs. DeWitt used summer vacation for this work.

MRS. HANS LUNDSTROM who has a summer home at Williams Lake, was an active worker in the bazaar of the New York League for the Hard of Hearing held last week in New York. Interest stemmed from assistance by Miss Beatrice Henderer and Mrs. Eleanor Ronnei, in helping her get proper hearing aid analysis and adjustment . . . Kindergarten through grandparents are helped by the League, which also supplies recreational and vocational services at absolutely no charge.

MINSTREL SHOW being rehearsed weekly by Clinton Chapter 445, Order of the Eastern Star already "booked" on touring to Woodstock, Town Hall, April 26, and to Rifton School, April 19. . . . Performances here Monday and Tuesday, March 28 and 29 at 8 p. m. in Epworth Hall of Clinton Avenue Methodist Church. . . . Women's chorus learning to combine actions with words of songs under able direction of Bill Smith. . . . Doing a "Judy Garland" is Miss Phyllis Muller, who has a solo part.

GUY VALEO has not usurped wife's position as head of Benedictine Auxiliary, contrary to erroneously published reports, he wants it known. . . . And Mrs. V. is busy with plans for annual Easter ball sponsored by the group.

PEG LEG BATES is "nonpareil of dancers" according to Ed Sullivan, on whose TV show he starred Sunday night. . . . Bates has appeared here in many polio benefit performances, taking time off from his Country Club in Kerhonkson.

RETURNED today from a six weeks' vacation in Daytona Beach and St. Petersburg, Fla., are Mr. and Mrs. Leo Arace of 14 Belvedere street. They visited their nephew, Charles Burger, formerly of this city, now making his home in St. Petersburg.

Girl Scout News

MARBLETOWN - ROSENDALE Neighborhood Association: Girl Scout and Brownie Troops Nos. 3, 53 and 57 celebrated the 43rd anniversary of Girl Scouting last week with a party on Saturday afternoon in the Marbletown Central School. They had the Accord Scout troop as guests. Intermediate Girl Scout Troop 3 attended services Sunday, March 6, at St. Peter's Church, Rosendale, with their leader, Mrs. Barbato, and at Rosendale Reformed Church with Call-leader Mrs. M. Volty and assistant leader Mrs. D. Maestro. Troop 53 attended services at the High Falls Reformed Church accompanied by leaders, Mrs. Dewitt Hasbrouck, Mrs. A. Hofnagle and Mrs. B. Knauth. The Scouts of Troop 3 have prepared a window display at the town clerk's office, Rosendale, consisting of a camp scene and articles made by the Girl Scouts while working on their proficiency badges. Several of the Girl Scouts also attended the movie, Mariners Ahoy, at the Kingston Theatre.

SOCIALLY SPEAKING

By MARIANNE DAVIS

Florida vacationer is Attorney William A. Kelly who left last week for St. Petersburg and expects to remain until the end of this month . . . Visiting with W. M. Willy at Miami Beach is Ernest Bergman of Route 4, following trip through Mexico . . . Postcard informs that William Wirsching is spending a month's vacation at Fort Lauderdale, and expects to be back in Kingston around April 1 . . . Mr. and Mrs. Harry Snyder have returned to their home in Stone Ridge after spending a vacation in Florida. . . . Mrs. Fred Stauber of Route 4 also visitor at Miami Beach.

SPORTING a Florida tan, George Betts is back in town, and hard at work on the next Coach House Players effort, Great Big Doorstep . . . Fort Lauderdale vacation was just the interval between Coach House productions for President George.

BERMUDA vacationers due to return this week are Mr. and Mrs. W. Montgomery of the Governor Clinton Hotel, and Mrs. Fred Reis of 57 Fairmont avenue.

RETURNED to Florida after visiting here is Mrs. Faye Stewart of Miami . . . Visited with her daughters, Mrs. Robert Parvi of 50 East Chester street, and Cpl. Rae Marilyn Stewart of the Army, who recently returned from overseas and Mrs. William Cole of 5 Clinton avenue . . . Mrs. Stewart has made her home in Miami for the past five years.

LAST WEEK'S Sunday magazine supplement in The State newspaper, Columbia, S. C., carries an illustrated article entitled A Slice of Paradise. It describes the country estate of John Alexander Crawford, known as Rivers Meeting, located on a 100-foot bluff overlooking the Congaree river outside the city of Columbia. For 15 years he has been planting the six-acre area with flowers, trees, shrubs of all descriptions. Mr. Crawford's son, Jack Jr., works as a reporter for The Freeman. The article concludes with a description of some of the shrubs, etc., with which the property has been cultivated. "Just imagine 300 different varieties of Camellias, 5,000 Azaleas, 25,000 bulbs, all the way from the Peeping Crocus to the paper-white Narcissus; exotic trees ranging from Davidia to Hemlock to Cucumber; Rhododendron and Kalmia; Galax, Ivy and an army of creeping plants, not to mention the fact that his tomatoes and peppers are viewed in awe by hundreds of admiring nature lovers who troop in and out of this Eden." (ed. note: Sounds like a perfect spot for a garden club pilgrimage.)

CAPT. and Mrs. Ray Vaughan Tillett have returned to their home in Cranford, N. J., after visiting with Mrs. Tillett's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Smedes of Onteora Trail. Capt Tillett recently retired after 46 years at sea as commodore of steamship company's freighter fleet. Mrs. Tillett, former Laura Smedes of West Hurley, accompanied him on many of his voyages including three trips around the world. Says her most exciting experience of these trips was riding out a typhoon off Japan coast in 1924 following earthquake in Yokohama area. . . . Most novel cargo carried, Capt. Tillett recalls, was load of wild jungle animals from Singapore bound for New York and Frank "bring-'em-back-alive" Buck. . . . Captain was honored at luncheon at India House, New York, January 31, on his retirement, and received hand-lettered scroll of sentiments of his associates and colleagues from Admiral Glenn B. Davis. . . . the Tillets expect to divide their time between their Cranford, N. J. home and one in Nags Head, N. C., and plan many more visits to Ulster county where they have been frequent guests in the past. . . . Mrs. Effie Ward of 54 Clinton avenue is a sister of Mrs. Tillett.

A SOCIAL gathering held Thursday afternoon in the Govevnor Clinton Hotel was reunion for Mrs. Nasser Owen of Pomona, Calif., the former Victoria Maroon of this city and School No. 5 colleagues. Party also honored Mrs. Stanley Dempsey who's taking a leave of absence. . . . Attending were John J. Finerty, principal; and Miss Joan Whelan, Miss June Coniglio, Miss Sadie Lutzin, Miss Tess Lloyd, Miss Dorothy Brett, Miss Helen Lowe, Mrs. Carl Yerry, Mrs. Harry Martin and Mrs. Elizabeth Patchell. . . . Mrs. Owen and two children are visiting here for a few weeks.

SLIGHT mishaps plagued fashion show of Women's Club at YWCA Wednesday night at Governor Clinton Hotel, but affair proceeded smoothly for the most part. . . . Adorable Joan Sobsey tumbled headlong down the stairs leading from the first platform, and finished her modeling tearfully in the arms of Mrs. Parker Brinnier. Late start of show due to last minute switch in first ensembles to be worn, caused scurry in model's dressing room for a few minutes. . . . Lovely bridal gown worn by Miss Betty Ann Bruck caught in door hinges just as she was about to sweep into the Crystal Room. . . . And pretty Karlyn Knaust in her dainty blue cotton dress, arrived just too late to get into the picture for the paper. . . . The show went on, though, to a large audience, proving interest in fashions shown by leading Kingston dress, fur and hat shops.

MRS. RICHARD C. WARING of Allaben told Mrs. Oscar C. London, Kingston Chapter of Hadassah president, that her six-year-old son was born in one of Hadassah's hospitals in Israel . . . Praising the hospital staff, Mrs. Waring insists that the fine care she received was responsible for the life of her son and her complete recovery . . . Her husband is still in Israel, with ElAl, Israel Airlines . . . Family plans to rejoin him in the very near future . . . The Allaben resident has high praise for the endurance of the people in that country . . . Reflects feeling for Israel in her reference to her son as, Sabra, which in Hebrew, means native born, having the same meaning as Yankee in this country.

DR. ALEX E. S. GREEN, who is married to the former Freda Kaplowitz of Lucas avenue extension, is the author of a new book, Nuclear Physics, it was learned . . . An associate professor of Physics at Florida State University, Dr. Green spent five years on his work, completing it evenings, weekends and during vacations, aided by his wife who typed manuscript drafts while taking care of their three young children . . . Book is first of International Series in Pure and Applied Physics to come from a southeastern university . . . In author's acknowledgments, he expresses a deep gratitude to Mrs. Mildred DeWitt, teacher at Kingston High School, for her painstaking efforts at typing the final manuscript . . . Mrs. DeWitt used summer vacation for this work.

MRS. HANS LUNDSTROM who has a summer home at Williams Lake, was an active worker in the bazaar of the New York League for the Hard of Hearing held last week in New York. Interest stemmed from assistance by Miss Beatrice Henderer and Mrs. Eleanor Ronnei, in helping her get proper hearing aid analysis and adjustment . . . Kindergarten through grandparents are helped by the League, which also supplies recreational and vocational services at absolutely no charge.

MINSTREL SHOW being rehearsed weekly by Clinton Chapter 445, Order of the Eastern Star already "booked" on touring to Woodstock, Town Hall, April 26, and to Rifton School, April 19. . . . Performances here Monday and Tuesday, March 28 and 29 at 8 p. m. in Epworth Hall of Clinton Avenue Methodist Church. . . . Women's chorus learning to combine actions with words of songs under able direction of Bill Smith. . . . Doing a "Judy Garland" is Miss Phyllis Muller, who has a solo part.

GUY VALEO has not usurped wife's position as head of Benedictine Auxiliary, contrary to erroneously published reports, he wants it known. . . . And Mrs. V. is busy with plans for annual Easter ball sponsored by the group.

PEG LEG BATES is "nonpareil of dancers" according to Ed Sullivan, on whose TV show he starred Sunday night. . . . Bates has appeared here in many polio benefit performances, taking time off from his Country Club in Kerhonkson.

RETURNED today from a six weeks' vacation in Daytona Beach and St. Petersburg, Fla., are Mr. and Mrs. Leo Arace of 14 Belvedere street. They visited their nephew, Charles Burger, formerly of this city, now making his home in St. Petersburg.

State Lawmakers Consider Licenses For Tree Experts

A bill to protect property owners against irresponsible persons who many represent themselves as experts in tree and shrubbery care and removal, is being sponsored in the legislature by the New York State Arboreal Associates. Under the bill such persons would be licensed after passing an examination and would be under the supervision of the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets, which would be charged with enforcement of the law.

Introduced in the Senate by Senator Williamson as Senate bill No. 1783, and in the Assembly by Assemblyman Hill as Assembly bill No. 2128, the bill provides for an amendment to the Agricultural and Markets Law which would require the licensing of any person who "shall contract or engage for compensation to protect or treat ornamental trees or shrubs of esthetic value, or hold himself as being able so to do unless he is licensed as an arborist," pursuant to the law.

THE BILL provides for such persons to be examined as to their qualifications and fitness before a license may be granted, but a license may be issued without an examination where a person has had two years experience as an arborist within five years prior to Jan. 1, 1956, or where a person is a graduate of a school or college which gives such training. Provision is made for a commission to formulate rules and regulations.

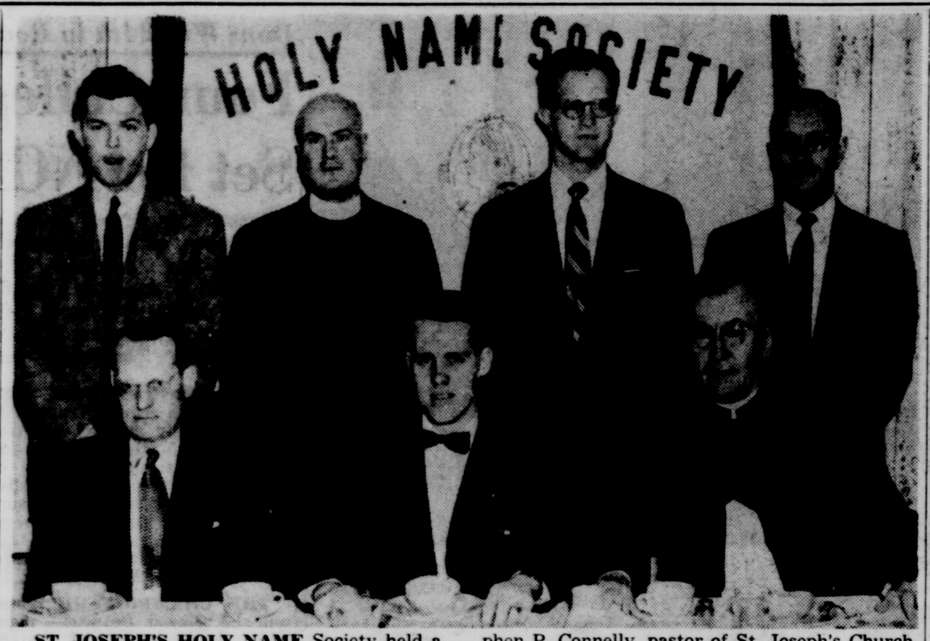

Under the bill a license would cost $10, with an examination fee of $5 and a renewal fee each year of $5. The bill would not require persons who have been engaged in the profession for two years to take the examination but would permit the issuance of a license based on that experience.

Provisions of law would not apply to nurserymen, public officers employed to protect and treat ornamental trees on public property or employes of public utilities.

TWENTY-THREE of the 48 states already have similar laws, Frank Miller of Hurley, local arborist and a member of Arboreal Associates, said. In Vermont and Massachusetts legislation is pending to license persons engaging in this work. Richard E. Abbott, a member of Arboreal Associated of Newburgh, said the bill was designed to protect the public through licensing of experienced persons and prevention of irresponsible and inexperienced persons engaging in this form of work.

The bill seeks an appropriation of $25,000 to cover the initial cost of issuance of licenses. After the first year the fees from the licenses would be expected to take care of operation of the department. It is estimated there would be from 1,500 to 2,000 licensed tree experts who would come under the law.

Pedestrian Peril

Victoria, Tex. (AP)—Rancher Anton Reimann didn't get to ride horseback on his 96th birthday. Hurt his arm, standing on the ground opening a gate.

No Emergency Expected

Cairo, Ill., March 14 (AP)—The Ohio river is expected to dump its flood waters into the Mississippi river here today or tomorrow with little fanfare. Weather bureau officials reported the river was about three feet above flood stage here yesterday and should rise about .2 of a foot more by tomorrow. "It has almost stopped rising," said Meteorologist John Alden. He said some farm land in the area has been flooded, delaying planting of crops but said there was no danger here from the waters. The river caused an estimated 13 million dollars damage and forced thousands from their homes in Kentucky, Ohio, West Virginia and Indiana.

Trinity to Hold Lenten Service

The fourth mid-week Lenten service will be held at 7:30 p. m., Wednesday at Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, Spring and Hone streets.

Familiar old Lenten hymns will be sung and Part 4 of the History of the Passion of Our Lord will be read. The Rev. Frank Gollnick, DD, will preach the fourth of a series of Lenten sermons on the general theme, When Christ Speaks. His topic will be, Sharing Sorrows.

As has been the custom in past years there will be a special quiet time during the general prayer for individual petitions on the part of the congregation. The service will close with a Lenten litany sung by the senior choir. The following program has been arranged by Donald Romme, minister of music: Prelude, Pastorale Symphony from The Messiah, Handel; O Sacred Head, Bach; anthem, All in the April Evening, Hugh Roberton, and postlude, When on the Cross the Saviour Hung, Bach.

The senior choir will hold its regular rehearsal immediately after the church service.

The public is cordially invited to attend the service.

Communications read from Mrs. Estell Caldwell, grand matron, Mrs. Bessie Hutchins and Mrs. Miriam Joy, a member in Florida, and the Tompkins family. Appreciation received from Mrs. Helen Mertz for remembrances during illness. John C. Blakely, past patron, urged support of the members for the Constellation of Junior Stars.

Mrs. Davidson, Kingston, entertained after the meeting with colored slides showing the growth of the Avon company. The chapter will hold initiation at the meeting Tuesday, April 26, and a card party in May. Reports on projects were given by the matron, Mrs. Betty DeMare, and Mrs. Florence E. Cotant. A communication was read from Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Finley, Stillwater, Okla., former members of the chapter. Refreshment committee for the meeting March 22 will be Mrs. Jennie DuBois, chairman, Mrs. Katherine Vourakis, Miss Sarah Gulick, Mrs. Margery Tighe, Kenneth DuBois, Mrs. Clara Johnson, Mrs. Elizabeth Wood and Mrs. Mary Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Mims, Pemberton, N. J., spent the weekend with their sister, Mrs. John P. Whittley at the home of her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. U. P. Decker.

Mrs. Troy Cook conducted the business meeting of the Ganse Church School Society Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. U. Parker Decker. The revision of the by-laws was discussed and Mrs. Cook appointed a committee of Mrs. Stanley Jones and Mrs. Charles Baker with herself to serve. Troy Cook continued his talks on the Bible. Refreshments were served to Mrs. John F. Wadlin, Mrs. Frank Jedenburg, Mrs. Morris Kirk, Mrs. W. H. Maynard, Mrs. Harry Whiting, Mrs. Luther Filkins, Mrs. Baker, Miss Ethel Haines, Mrs. James Phillips, Mrs. Vernon Venne, Mrs. Stanley Jones and the hostess.

Mrs. A. A. Mullen presided for a short business session of the Mission Circle Wednesday afternoon in the Presbyterian Church Hall and then Mrs. C. W. Rathgeb took over for the woman's organization which is in process of formation. Mrs. Paul Frampton led a discussion child delinquency from a local standpoint and Mrs. Alex Raycraft who had attended a public meeting in Kingston gave a report of that. Attending were Mrs. A. W. Lent, Mrs. Edwin Dohrman, Mrs. Edward Krom, Mrs. M. P. Busch, Mrs. E. D. Boyce, Mrs. Olympia Cottine, Mrs. Walter Clark, Mrs. N. D. Williams, Mrs. David Parry, Mrs. W. S. MacColl, Miss Eliza Raymond, Mrs. Gideon Tompkins, Mrs. Mullen, Mrs. Frampton, Mrs. Raycraft and Mrs. Rathgeb.

Two local young men, Henry Semmelback, freshman in electrical engineering, son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Semmelback, and Edward P. Walsh, senior in geology, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Walsh, both students at RPI, have been placed on the dean's list.

Mrs. LeGrand Haviland was hostess to the Friday Bridge Club last week.

Rest Assured, a three-act comedy, will be presented by the senior class of the Central School at 8 o'clock Friday evening, April 1, in the school auditorium. The 16 members taking part are Lewis Di Stasi, Joan Filkins, Dolores Giamportone, Joan Scott, Loretta Castellano, John Jeanette, Michael Capozzi, Elissa Angelillo, John Pampinella, Janet Mills, Richard Post, Cynthia Berean, Robert Fox, George Pafumi, Carleton Dimsey and Elaine Miller. The play is directed by Robert Schwerdt, English instructor in the school, and tickets can be obtained from any member of the senior class.

No Emergency Expected

Cairo, Ill., March 14 (AP)—The Ohio river is expected to dump its flood waters into the Mississippi river here today or tomorrow with little fanfare. Weather bureau officials reported the river was about three feet above flood stage here yesterday and should rise about .2 of a foot more by tomorrow. "It has almost stopped rising," said Meteorologist John Alden. He said some farm land in the area has been flooded, delaying planting of crops but said there was no danger here from the waters. The river caused an estimated 13 million dollars damage and forced thousands from their homes in Kentucky, Ohio, West Virginia and Indiana.

Trinity to Hold Lenten Service

The fourth mid-week Lenten service will be held at 7:30 p. m., Wednesday at Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, Spring and Hone streets.

Familiar old Lenten hymns will be sung and Part 4 of the History of the Passion of Our Lord will be read. The Rev. Frank Gollnick, DD, will preach the fourth of a series of Lenten sermons on the general theme, When Christ Speaks. His topic will be, Sharing Sorrows.

As has been the custom in past years there will be a special quiet time during the general prayer for individual petitions on the part of the congregation. The service will close with a Lenten litany sung by the senior choir. The following program has been arranged by Donald Romme, minister of music: Prelude, Pastorale Symphony from The Messiah, Handel; O Sacred Head, Bach; anthem, All in the April Evening, Hugh Roberton, and postlude, When on the Cross the Saviour Hung, Bach.

The senior choir will hold its regular rehearsal immediately after the church service.

Rec-Y Tourney Carded For Opener Thursday

The opening of the second annual Kingston Basketball Tournament, co-sponsored by the Kingston Recreation Department and the YMCA, has been pushed back to Thursday night, March 17, Andy Murphy announced this morning.

Originally scheduled to get underway Tuesday night at municipal auditorium, the opening bracket of games was moved to Thursday so as to not conflict with the 12th annual Hudson Valley Basketball Tournament scheduled to open tonight in Poughkeepsie.

While complete pairings were unavailable this morning, Murphy listed the four quintets scheduled to take the floor on the opening two shifts Thursday.

EMPIRE DINER of Kingston and Cairo Legion will meet in the curtain-raiser at 7:30 p. m. while the Pawling AC of Dutchess county and the Cornwall Cadets will collide in the 8:30 p. m. contest.

Murphy also pointed out this morning that due to a heavy receipt of entries, this year's tournament will comprise 18 teams, two more than the field of 16 in last year's local competition.

"We already have received a heavy reservation list," Murphy said this morning, "and indications are that the 1955 tournament will bring some of the finest basketball talent to the city."

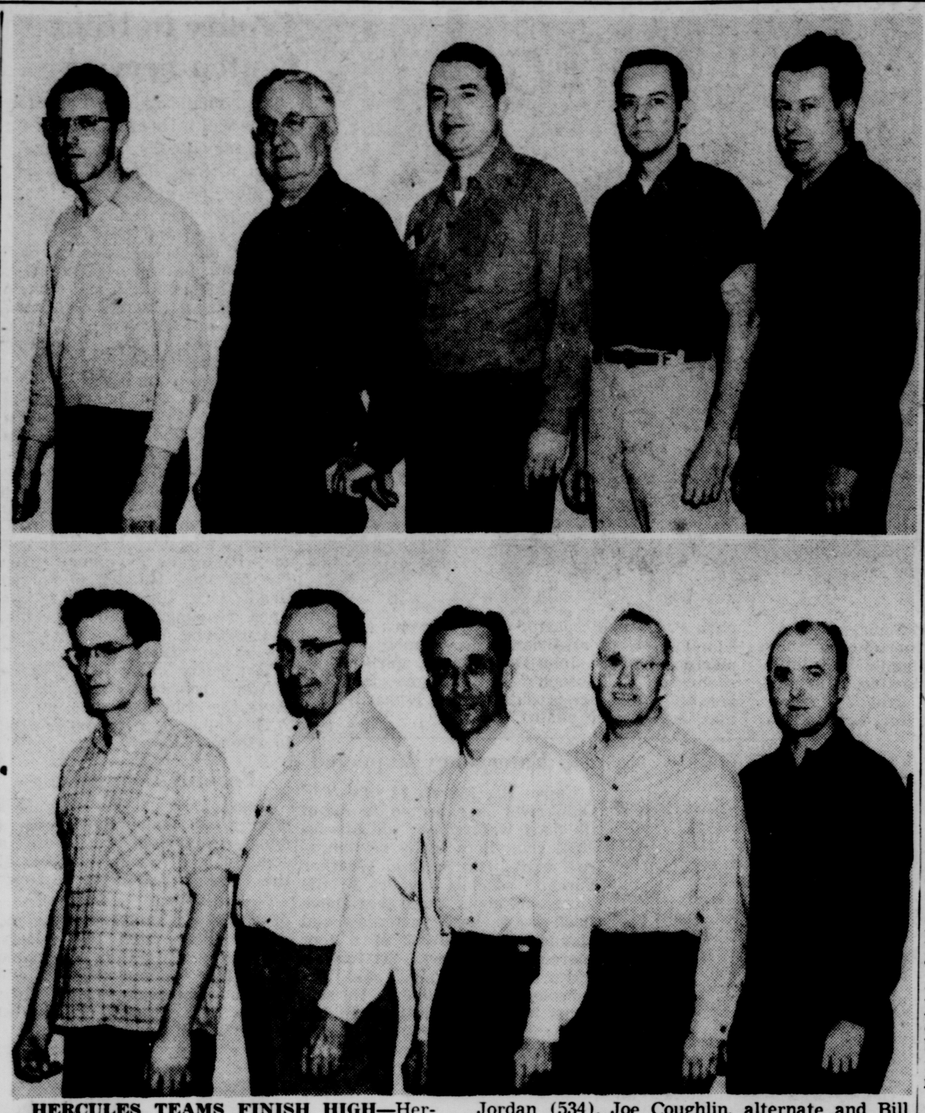

MICKEY BURKOSKI, this year's Player of the Year in the DUSO Basketball League, is one of the big name cage stars scheduled to see action before the tournament is completed.

Other top-notch stars due for appearances here are Wally McCarvel of Iona, the entire Siena varsity cagers, Ed O'Connor of Manhattan College and Dave Lattimer of Seton Hall fame.

Complete pairings are scheduled for release this week.

Dons Win 24th in Row

Four College Quintets Set for NCAA Finale

Kansas City, March 14 (AP)—Three teams of high basketball pedigree—San Francisco, La Salle and Iowa—plus a hardwood "commoner" of sorts, Colorado, plunge into the NCAA's championship showdown this weekend.

San Francisco's Dons, top-ranked in the regular season AP poll, seemingly appears destined to rack up 15-rated Colorado for their 25th straight victory in Friday night's semifinal round.

However, which team will survive the other semifinal between third-ranked La Salle, the defending champion, and fifth-rated Iowa is open to debate.

THE CHAMPIONSHIP game will be played Saturday night after the western and eastern titles are settled Friday night at Kansas City's municipal auditorium.

San Francisco had a real scare in its regional final at Corvallis, Ore., Saturday night, shading Oregon State, 57-56, but Tourney Railbirds point out the Dons had to beat a fine-height-blessed Beaver team on its own floor.

San Francisco's all-America Bill Russell scored 29 points against Oregon State, the same total Colorado's Bob Jeangerard tallied in the Golden Buffalos' decisive 93-81 victory over Bradley in the Manhattan, Kan., regional.

La Salle's defending champions, sparked by another all-America, Tom Gola, will encounter in Iowa probably the best-balanced team it has faced in winning 25 of 29 games and 12 in a row.

IOWA'S BIG TEN champion Hawkeyes have compiled a 19-5 record without a single outstanding scorer. However, center Bill [illegible] amassed 31 points while missing the last six minutes play as the team from the Tall Corn State defeated Marquette 86-81 for the Evanston, Ill., regional crown.

La Salle's 99-64 victory over Canisius for the Philadelphia regional title set a shortlived NCAA mark until later Saturday night. Utah crushed Seattle, 108-85, in the Corvallis consolation game for both a single and two team record.

First to Hit Mark

Los Angels (NEA) — Johnny Moore is the first UCLA cager to score more than 1100 points, his 36 against California putting him over that mark.

Pete Suder is the oldest player on the Philadelphia Athletics roster. He will be 39 on April 16.

Martin Leads Saugerties Scorers With 249 Points

Joe Martin led this year's Saugerties High School cagers with 249 points, a tabulation indicated today.

Appearing in 17 games, Martin canned 98 fields, 53 fouls for his high total, giving him an average of 14 points plus each game.

Runnerup to Martin was Bob Hansen who gleaned 237 points. Bill Hanna followed with 208.

Top Jayvee scorer was F. Kugelman who canned 267.

SAUGERTIES recently closed out a successful year, winning 11 straight for the UCAL championship. The team's over-all record was 16-2.

Coach Bill Straub's charges amassed 1,235 points in the 18 tilts as against 947 for their foes. The club's only two losses were at the hands of Catskill, 68-59 and Highland, 54-51. Saugerties defeated Highland earlier, 60-46 and then avenged the defeat by Catskill later in the season, winning 61-59.

Duquesne Opens NIT Cage Bid

New York, March 14 (AP)—All-America Dick Ricketts and sharp shooting Sihugo Green, as good a one-two scoring punch as you'll find anywhere, lead Duquesne into the National Invitation Tournament today as the seeded teams swing into action for the first time.

The Dukes, top seeded in the 12-team tourney which got underway last Saturday, face Louisville in the opening game of tonight's doubleheader at Madison Square Garden, Cincinnati, seeded fourth, takes on dangerous Niagara in the nightcap.

THE OTHER two seeded outfits, Dayton (No. 2) and Holy Cross's defending champions (No. 3) play first games tomorrow night. Dayton meets powerful St. Louis and Holy Cross clashes with St. Francis of Loretto, Pa.

Both of tonight's unseeded teams impressed with their first round victories. In beating Manhattan 91-86, Louisville hit at a 44.5 average with 6-8 Charlie Tyra scoring 27 points and grabbing 23 rebounds. Niagara also used its terrific rebounders to oust Lafayette 83-70 with Ed Fleming's 28 pacing the drive.

The semifinals will be played Thursday and the finals Saturday.

Compromise Plan Offered by NCAA In Grid Telecasts

Kansas City, March 14 (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association's TV committee today disclosed a compromise plan for telecasting 1955 football games which will allow eight national telecasts and five regional dates over a 13-week period.

It offers a compromise with the Big Ten Conference and other proponents of a regional setup for football television.

The plan was mailed Friday to the NCAA membership for approval. A two-thirds vote of the membership is needed for acceptance.

Smaller colleges, or approximately 310 of the 425 members, would be exempt from all TV limitations.

THE 1954 PROGRAM, which reserved all 13 dates for the national network show and limited a team to one appearance, would be relaxed under the new proposal to permit one national telecast and one intradistrict appearance, or two intra-district appearance for each team in 1955.

Additional appearances would be possible under a stipulation that "sell-out games may be telecast in the home TV areas of the home and visiting team, also the area of the game if it is played off-campus, provided no damage is done to other collegiate games."

Canadiens, Wings' Battle Continues

(By The Assoiated Press)

The National Hockey League season swings into its final week of regular season play today with the Montreal Canadiens and the Detroit Red Wings still waging one of the closest races in the loop's history.

The Red Wings, striving for their seventh straight league championship, trounced the Toronto Maple Leafs 6-1 last night to move to within two points of pace-setting Montreal. The Canadiens bowed to the Boston Bruins 4-2 as fiery Maurice (The Rocket) Richard twice attacked linesman Cliff Thompson after suffering a five-stitch head cut.

Detroit and Montreal each has three games left—two with each other. The Wings visit Montreal Thursday and the Canadiens are at Detroit Sunday in the season's finale.

The New York Rangers clinched fifth place by defeating the Chicago Black Hawks 5-2. The victory was the Rangers' first over the Hawks on New York ice this season.

Duquesne Opens NIT Cage Bid

New York, March 14 (AP)—All-America Dick Ricketts and sharp shooting Sihugo Green, as good a one-two scoring punch as you'll find anywhere, lead Duquesne into the National Invitation Tournament today as the seeded teams swing into action for the first time.

The Dukes, top seeded in the 12-team tourney which got underway last Saturday, face Louisville in the opening game of tonight's doubleheader at Madison Square Garden, Cincinnati, seeded fourth, takes on dangerous Niagara in the nightcap.

THE OTHER two seeded outfits, Dayton (No. 2) and Holy Cross's defending champions (No. 3) play first games tomorrow night. Dayton meets powerful St. Louis and Holy Cross clashes with St. Francis of Loretto, Pa.

Both of tonight's unseeded teams impressed with their first round victories. In beating Manhattan 91-86, Louisville hit at a 44.5 average with 6-8 Charlie Tyra scoring 27 points and grabbing 23 rebounds. Niagara also used its terrific rebounders to oust Lafayette 83-70 with Ed Fleming's 28 pacing the drive.

The semifinals will be played Thursday and the finals Saturday.

Wood Registers 562, Johnson 243 in Tavern

Al Wood, Sr., fired sticks of 189-179-194 for 562 to lead the Tavern Association trundlers Saturday night at the Central Recs.

Compromise Plan Offered by NCAA In Grid Telecasts

Kansas City, March 14 (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association's TV committee today disclosed a compromise plan for telecasting 1955 football games which will allow eight national telecasts and five regional dates over a 13-week period.

It offers a compromise with the Big Ten Conference and other proponents of a regional setup for football television.

The plan was mailed Friday to the NCAA membership for approval. A two-thirds vote of the membership is needed for acceptance.

Smaller colleges, or approximately 310 of the 425 members, would be exempt from all TV limitations.

THE 1954 PROGRAM, which reserved all 13 dates for the national network show and limited a team to one appearance, would be relaxed under the new proposal to permit one national telecast and one intradistrict appearance, or two intra-district appearance for each team in 1955.

Additional appearances would be possible under a stipulation that "sell-out games may be telecast in the home TV areas of the home and visiting team, also the area of the game if it is played off-campus, provided no damage is done to other collegiate games."

Canadiens, Wings' Battle Continues

(By The Assoiated Press)

The National Hockey League season swings into its final week of regular season play today with the Montreal Canadiens and the Detroit Red Wings still waging one of the closest races in the loop's history.

The Red Wings, striving for their seventh straight league championship, trounced the Toronto Maple Leafs 6-1 last night to move to within two points of pace-setting Montreal. The Canadiens bowed to the Boston Bruins 4-2 as fiery Maurice (The Rocket) Richard twice attacked linesman Cliff Thompson after suffering a five-stitch head cut.

Detroit and Montreal each has three games left—two with each other. The Wings visit Montreal Thursday and the Canadiens are at Detroit Sunday in the season's finale.

The New York Rangers clinched fifth place by defeating the Chicago Black Hawks 5-2. The victory was the Rangers' first over the Hawks on New York ice this season.

Spooner Pleases In First Stint, But Brooks Lose

(By The Associated Press)

No one expects miracles, but Manager Walt Alston of the Brooklyn Dodgers was wondering today if maybe Karl Spooner is a real, genuine "pheenom."

The 23-year-old lefthander came up from Fort Worth at the end of last season and proceeded to strike out 27 batters in 18 innings.

But Alston has seen too many youngsters look like they were going places at the end of a season, only to flop the next year.

Over the winter, Spooner who injured his knee last summer, was forced to undergo surgery to have a cartilage removed.

YESTERDAY, Alston decided to test him out against the Chicago White Sox. He hurled creditably for two innings, giving up two hits and no runs. Alston decided that was enough.

"The knee didn't bother me a bit," said Spooner. "But my shoulder was stiff. I guess I'm not loose yet."

The White Sox went on to win the game, 6-5, pasting Billy Loes and Johnny Podres for three runs apiece during their stints.

The New York Yankees set a club record in reverse by dropping their fourth straight exhibition game, this one to the Boston Red Sox, 4-2.

Leo Kiely, George Susce and Skinny Brown set back the New Yorkers, whose only offensive effort was a home run by Hank Bauer with one on.

The Kansas City A's are having the same trouble as the Yanks, and went down to No. 3 in a row, a 7-4 defeat at the hands of the Washington Senators.

THE CLEVELAND INDIANS whipped the New York Giants again, 13-6, and Manager Leo Durocher of the Gothamites and Tribe outfielder Wally Westlake showed signs of getting a little feud going.

Westlake was hit in the head by a pitch by Al Worthington in the seventh inning, and although he did not appear seriously hurt, he left the game. But before making his departure, he let loose some angry words at Durocher, whom he apparently blamed for the episode.

"I was just sore at not getting out of the way of the pitch," said Westlake later.

Brooks Meets Garcia In His TV Debut

New York, March 14 (AP) — Collegian Nate Brooks, the ex-North American bantamweight champion, takes time out from his pre-law studies at Ohio State tonight to battle Rudy Garcia of Los Angeles in the top 10 at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena. The bout will be telecast over ABC with New York blacked out. Tonight's St. Nick's program will show middleweights Milo Savage of Salt Lake City and Sammy Walker of Springfield, Mass., and it will be telecast over Dumont. Savage is a 3-1 favorite over Walker, who has lost 10 of his last 12 bouts. In fact, between them, they've lost 61 fights. This will be Walker's TV debut.

THE 100-MILLION-DOLLAR LOOK!

CHRYSLER WINDSOR DELUXE NASSAU WITH SPITFIRE V-8 ENGINE

"It's got everybody excited and we'd like to show you why"

Forgive us if we burst with pride . . . but we've got a terrific car here, and we want the whole world to know it!

It's the new Chrysler and the people who've been coming to see it and drive it are just as smitten with it as we are. It's the smartest, sleekest machine that ever appeared in an automobile showroom—and you should see it!

Most people prize good looks in a car. The 1955 Chrysler has it! Fashion people call it "tailored steel"—smart and different. It almost looks like it's going when it's standing still!

This, they tell us, is the new fashion in styling. We say hurrah! As for performance . . . well, double your enjoyment back if you don't think it's the best car you ever drove. Do it soon!

Spooner Pleases In First Stint, But Brooks Lose

(By The Associated Press)

No one expects miracles, but Manager Walt Alston of the Brooklyn Dodgers was wondering today if maybe Karl Spooner is a real, genuine "pheenom."

The 23-year-old lefthander came up from Fort Worth at the end of last season and proceeded to strike out 27 batters in 18 innings.

But Alston has seen too many youngsters look like they were going places at the end of a season, only to flop the next year.

Over the winter, Spooner who injured his knee last summer, was forced to undergo surgery to have a cartilage removed.

YESTERDAY, Alston decided to test him out against the Chicago White Sox. He hurled creditably for two innings, giving up two hits and no runs. Alston decided that was enough.

"The knee didn't bother me a bit," said Spooner. "But my shoulder was stiff. I guess I'm not loose yet."

The White Sox went on to win the game, 6-5, pasting Billy Loes and Johnny Podres for three runs apiece during their stints.

The New York Yankees set a club record in reverse by dropping their fourth straight exhibition game, this one to the Boston Red Sox, 4-2.

Leo Kiely, George Susce and Skinny Brown set back the New Yorkers, whose only offensive effort was a home run by Hank Bauer with one on.

The Kansas City A's are having the same trouble as the Yanks, and went down to No. 3 in a row, a 7-4 defeat at the hands of the Washington Senators.

THE CLEVELAND INDIANS whipped the New York Giants again, 13-6, and Manager Leo Durocher of the Gothamites and Tribe outfielder Wally Westlake showed signs of getting a little feud going.

Westlake was hit in the head by a pitch by Al Worthington in the seventh inning, and although he did not appear seriously hurt, he left the game. But before making his departure, he let loose some angry words at Durocher, whom he apparently blamed for the episode.

"I was just sore at not getting out of the way of the pitch," said Westlake later.

State Keglers Will Vie for Record Melon

Elmira, March 14 (AP)—A record $97,098 in prize money will be in the pot when the New York State Men's Bowling Tournament gets under way here Friday.

A total of 2,069 teams, 165 less the record number at Utica last year, have registered for the event.

The 9,344 singles entries, 4,701 doubles and 8,371 all-events are record totals for those divisions.

Cirone Hits 516 To Lead Mixers

Frank Cirone led a low-scoring session of the Ferarro Mixed League Sunday night on a swing of 145-211-160 for 516. Both the 211 and 516 scores were tops for the night.

Runnerup was Tom Sickler who posted a 205 solo and 513 series.

Howard Brooks shot 504 to place third and Jake Smith completed the 500 keglers with a 503 effort.

Bob Houghtaling came through with 474; Don Wolff 461; Dick Waltman 494; Joe Dalleo 497; Jim DeCicco 465; Tom Graham 497; Elbert Van Keuren 486; Harold Smith 479; Chet Diffley 480 and Don Droulette 466.

Brooks Meets Garcia In His TV Debut

New York, March 14 (AP)—Collegian Nate Brooks, the ex-North American bantamweight champion, takes time out from his pre-law studies at Ohio State tonight to battle Rudy Garcia of Los Angeles in the top 10 at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena. The bout will be telecast over ABC with New York blacked out. Tonight's St. Nick's program will show middleweights Milo Savage of Salt Lake City and Sammy Walker of Springfield, Mass., and it will be telecast over Dumont. Savage is a 3-1 favorite over Walker, who has lost 10 of his last 12 bouts. In fact, between them, they've lost 61 fights. This will be Walker's TV debut.

Cases Announced As Settled in Supreme Court

An action for negligence brought by Pauline Styles of Kingston and another against Matthias M. Richardson, was announced settled in Supreme Court this morning, when Justice Kenneth MacAffer convened the court after the weekend recess. The action arose out of an accident on the thruway when the car in which plaintiffs were riding struck a barricade. Norman Kellar appeared for plaintiffs and Roy L. Featherstone for defendants.

Cases at issue over two years and which were not moved for trial or otherwise disposed of were stricken from the calendar this morning under a show cause order returnable at this time under the rule of the court, which provides that any case at issue for two years and which is not moved for trial on return of the strike off order at the second and third terms of the court, must be taken from the general calendar.

Among the cases announced settled were:

Raymond Davis against Dan-Bar Contracting Co., Inc., work, labor and services. James J. Abernethy for plaintiff and Benjamin M. Gingold for defendants.

Rockwell Quick against Grace van B. Roberts, negligence. Harp and Hafke for plaintiff and Rusk and Rusk for defendant.

Harry Staloff against Rubin Oringer and another, negligence. Lounsberry and Lonstein for plaintiff and William J. Tropp for defendant.

Oswald John Tiedman and another against Thomas J. Kavanaugh and another, negligence. Feeney and Ford for plaintiff and Cook and Cook for defendants.

Mae V. Hughes against Frank P. Hughes, separation. Rosenblum and Lamb for plaintiff and Francis Martocci for defendant.

Walter Helmich against Peter Helmich, negligence. Flanagan and Ortale for plaintiff and Cashin and Ewig for defendant.

Jack La Falce against The Sinclair Refining Company, to recover for property damage. Roy L. Featherstone for plaintiff and Guernesey, Butts and Walsh for defendant.

Virginia Carpinelli and another against George Sanford, negligence. Napoletano, Kelly and Saccoman for plaintiffs and Cook and Cook for defendants.

New Paltz

Adult Group Will Study Adams' Life

New Paltz, March 14 — John Quincy Adams will be the historical figure examined at today's meeting of the Adult Education class, Great Men and Great Issues, starting at 7:30 p. m. in the New Paltz High School library.

A film depicting the life of Adams and his contributions to the Monroe Doctrine will precede a discussion under the leadership of Seymour Fersh of the high school faculty.

The meeting dealing with Andrew Jackson will be held March 21 instead of on March 14 as previously announced.

All adults are invited to any or all of the meetings in the series.

Teachers Confer With Superintendent

New Paltz, March 14—Students of New Paltz Central High School had a two-day vacation Monday and Tuesday because of a building interruption. Teachers returned to school Tuesday and after a general meeting spent the day in committee conferences and to meet with Ralph Johnson, district superintendent.

Johnson discussed the New York State Teacher pension plan from the experienced viewpoint of a retired teacher. He urged the wisdom of the 8 per cent deduction for retirement rather than the 5 per cent; it's a much safer way of planning for that day of retirement, he said. He talked in regard to state certification, interviewed the new teachers, and assured all of his willingness to give any necessary help needed in the future.

ticular questionnaire completely."

Shapiro's statement, the two Republicans said, showed that "his office obviously is being used as a patronage club" against employes in patronage jobs.

"We will not countenance the office of commissioner of investigation being used for witch-hunting, political fishing expeditions or self-servicing publicity," they declared.

Heck and Mahoney criticized the quiz on the ground that it delved into the personal affairs of state employes "without justifiable cause and without advising them, as required by law, of the subject matter under investigation."

The inquiry violates both the letter and spirit of the state's historic code of fair investigating procedures," they said. The two Republicans demanded that the probe "conform to legal and moral considerations of justice and decency.

Jury Selection Is Resumed in Jelke's Case

New York, March 14 (AP) — The task of completing the jury to try Minot F. (Mickey) Jelke on charges of compulsory prostitution was resumed today. A second special panel of talesmen reported to court as candidates for four seats still open.

The 25-year-old oleomargarine heir was convicted two years ago, but the verdict was upset on appeal because the public had been excluded from the court room during presentation of the state's case.

ELEVEN JURORS were selected last week before a 225-member panel of veniremen was exhausted. Then it was discovered that one of the 11, May Bunnell, 49, had been married twice—she claimed the marriages were annulled and didn't matter—although she had sworn she had never wed. Both sides agreed to excuse her.

With Miss Bunnell gone, the jury consisted of eight men, including a bachelor, and two women, both mothers. That left the seats of two regular jurors and two alternates to be filled from the 150-man panel reporting today.

Jelke, free in $45,000 bail and married since his first bout in court, is accused of inducing Pat Ward to lead the life of a prostitute and with trying to persuade Marguerite Cordova to do the same.

GI Wins Slalom Ski Championship

Franconia, N. H., March 14 (AP) — Ralph Miller of Hanover, N. H., 22-year-old soldier stationed at Camp Hale, Colo., today held the National Slalom ski championship after speeding down a fast Cannon Mountain trail in 1:48.2 for two runs.

Olympic skier Brooks Dodge, 25, of Pinkham Notch, N. H., who like Miller attended Dartmouth College, was second and defending champion Chiharu (Chicky) Igaya, 23-year-old Dartmouth sophomore from Japan, third.

Despite his loss in the Slalom, Igaya retained his combined title with a low score of 3.11 in the combined downhill and slalom. He tied with Bill Beck, a Dartmouth alumnus from Kingston, R. I., for first place in Saturday's downhill test. Beck was second in the combined with 6.73 points after finishing seventh in the slalom.

Samuels Says

ice-connected disability allowance system . . ."

Samuels also reviewed other Legion undertakings, such as its work to obtain the GI Bill of Rights, and the child welfare program.

Since 1925, he said, more than 120 million dollars was spent through the American Legion for the care of children.

"Personally, I feel that nothing else we do is more important or more rewarding—important, because it is a service that contributes in the most human way to the future strength of our country; rewarding, because it brings hope and happiness to youngsters who need a break," the speaker said.

Speaking of the American Legion Boy's State, Samuels paid particular tribute to Thomas Bohan, past Ulster County Commander and a past Department vice commander, "who was perhaps the best known, most efficient and a leader in popularity as a counsellor. Men like Tom have greatly enhanced the prestige and added to the strength of the American Legion."

Samuels, a Poughkeepsie attorney, served as commander of Lafayette Post 37 of Poughkeepsie, as Dutchess county commander and then state commander. He is a World War 2 veteran, having enlisted in 1942 as a private. He was discharged as an infantry officer with the 95th Division.

John J. Schick, assistant district attorney, was dinner committee chairman. Fayette Smith of Port Ewen is commander of the Town of Esopus Post.

stead that the government enter into crop purchase contracts at support levels. The farmer then could choose whether to sell his crop to the government or to private parties.

The commission asserted that the proposed changeover would free the government of the job of handling thousands of small loans, but would not alter the farmer's price support protection. It said the farmer could use a government crop purchase contract as backing for a private bank loan.

One member of the commission, Rep. Holifield (D-Calif), entered a strong dissent, contending the recommendations—if put into force — "would make it harder for American citizens to buy homes or to get loans for their farms or businesses."

Youngster Has Sportsmanship

East Paterson, N. J., March 14 (AP)—A young ballplayer showed real sportsmanship here this weekend—he busted a window and paid for it with his last pennies.

C. E. King returned to his home Saturday night to find a broken window and $1.12 in change on his doorstep for it.

The money was in an envepole which contained this note in a childish scrawl:

"Dear sir,

"This is for the broken window, it is all I have. I am sorry and will not play ball again thair.

"Yours truely,

"A frend."

Rainmaker May Be Called to Halt Blazes in South

Waycross, Ga., March 14 (AP)—Weary firefighters considered artificial rainmaking to stop a giant forest fire raging in north Florida today while the weeklong south Georgia blaze appeared under control.

Behind the menacing fire fronts some 47,000 acres of drouth-stricken sections of the valuable timber land lay charred and useless. Veteran forest rangers said only heavy rains could remove the danger from the drought-stricken sections of the two states.

FLORIDA STATE Forester C. H. Coulter reported the fire near Foley has ravaged 32,000 acres of timber and swamp land and has became the most destructive blaze in state forest service history.

He said artificial rainmaking probably will be tried in an attempt to put out the inferno, if suitable cloud formations occur above the first area.

Coulter said backfires are being built between the Foley blaze and territory burned over last week by a 27,000 acre Madison-Taylor county fire and the two areas may burn into each other shortly.

If this happens, the Madison-Taylor burn will serve as a fire break for the Foley blaze.

MORE ENCOURAGING reports came from the south Georgia fire east of famed Okefenokee swamp which appeared to be under control after sweeping about 15,000 acres in a week.

Guyton Deloach, director of the Georgia Forestry Commission said "unless the wind changes, I think it's checked."

The fire near Foley was discovered Thursday. It doubled in size as it raced northeastward yesterday along a 12-mile front.

Rangers estimated fires burned more than 70,00 acres in north Florida last week.

None of the fires threatened inhabited areas.

Clinton Avenue House Damaged

A section of cellar, siding, flooring and inside walls of the house of Stewart Colclough, 7 Clinton avenue, were damaged by fire Sunday night.

Origin of the blaze, which was apparently preceded by a flash or explosion, was not definitely determined, but it might have been started by the fumes or vapor of paint thinner, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said.

MEN AND EQUIPMENT from Wiltwyck and Central stations responded to the first telephone call at 8:30 p. m., and noting that a large part of the cellar was involved when firemen arrived, Deputy Fire Chief George D. Matthews, called for aditional help. Fire Chief Murphy also went to the house at that time.

The fire burned through siding to the second floor and was checked at the top of a stairway, after firemen opened sections of flooring, wall and siding, as the blaze gave them stubborn resistance.

WATER DAMAGE was reported comparatively light considering the use of two lines of hose, but smoke damage was more extensive. Firemen were at the house for about three hours. Covers were spread to lessen water damage.

One section of the cellar, apparently that nearest to where the fire started, was badly damaged. The chief indicated as a possible cause the igniting of paint thinner vapor by a hot water heater.

A FEW FAST FACTS: Most ambitious feat of the season is Bobby Sherwood's new Coral platter of "Yes, Indeed" and "Brown Eyes, Why Are You Blue?" Sherwood makes like a full orchestra—using 30 tracks, he recorded 10 instruments, a quartet and a solo vocalist, and he himself played and sang every note. Wait'll Les Paul hears about this. . . . Best buy of the season is Snooky Lanson's new Camden EP—four top pops for 79 cents. Camden's embarked on a career of this sort of thing, and it may break the popular price log-jam. . . . Label X's boss, Jimmy Hilliard, thinks he has a new star in Dori Brooks. Her first two sides coming soon . . . Songwriter Gladys Shelley is current champ, measured in terms of most songs out at the same time — her fifth, "Don Juan John" (Jill Whitney, Coral), will join "The Man I've Been Looking For" (Denise Lor), "Who Knows Why" (Bill Lawrence), "The Dragon" (Teddi King) and "How Did He Look" (Georgia Gibbs). Only trouble with Gladys—laziness.

Foster Is Named To City Position

WALTER S. FOSTER

Mayor Frederick H. Stang today announced the appointment of Walter S. Foster, of 58 Andrew street, as deputy city clerk to succeed Harry C. Seitz, who recently resigned to accept a position with IBM.

Foster, who last July was graduated from The Albany Business College, had experience of an office capacity for two years with the state legislature.

HE IS A graduate of St. Peter's Parochial School and Kingston High School, is a member of Phi Theta Phi, International Commerce Honorary and will start his duties in the city clerk's office Tuesday.

Mayor Stang said he accepted the resignation of Seitz with regret. "I appreciate the fine type of public service he rendered to the city," he said, "and I wish him success in his new position. The city's loss is IBM's gain."

reported to have left Stockholm last Friday. The informant said Sweden may ask other Czech and Romanian diplomats to leave.

The informant said that although the two spy groups apparently operated independently, police struck at both simultaneously for fear one ring would tip off the other.

25,000 May Be Idled

Louisville, Ky., March 14 (AP)—Non-operating employes of the 13-state Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co., and two of its subsidiaries struck today over a health and welfare issue. The strike was expected to idle 25,000 employes. Shortly after the strike began, a spokesman for the L. & N. said "So far we're running trains and it looks like we'll keep on running trains."

Car Is Wrecked; Others Ransacked

A stolen car was found found wrecked near 6 North street, six cars parked on Gill street were reported ransacked Sunday and automobile hub caps were reported stolen elsewhere in the city.

The car of former patrolman William Slover, of 317 Hasbrouck avenue, was apparently wrecked after it was taken from in front of his house between Saturday night and early Sunday morning.

Police were notified at 5:58 a. m. Sunday by Frank DuBois, of 6 North street, that the car had apparently been in a mishap on a turn. Officers Bernard Fowler and Julius Glassman investigated and found that it was Slover's car.

A NEARBY fence was reported damaged and the car was damaged on its sides and front, the officers said.

A jacket valued at $25 and a wallet containing a driver's license and other papers were reported missing after the apparent ransacking of the cars on Gill street. The jacket was missing from the car of Joseph Amato, Jr., of 67 Gill street, and the wallet from the car of James Fitzgerald, 55 Gill street.

Also reported ransacked were the cars of Anthony Alecca, 65 Gill street; James Costello, 63 Gill street; Peter Altamari, 71 Gill street, and Kenneth Hornbeck, 62 Gill street.

TWO YOUTHS were held on petit larceny charges Sunday after the reported theft of hubcaps from a car owned by the Hayes-Jarrett Motors Corp. Broadway.

The two were reported picked up on Route 28, and police said the hubcaps were recovered. They pleaded guilty before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today and imposition of sentence was postponed until next Saturday pending a further investigation.

Attorney Louis DiDonna represented the district attorney's office in city court.

50,000 on Strike In Nine States

Atlanta, March 14 (AP)—About 50,000 Southern Bell Telephone Co. employes in nine southeastern states went on strike today after negotiators failed to reach agreement on a new contract.

Dial service was not expected to be materially affected but company officials said long distance calls and local calls made through manual exchanges "might be delayed" during peak hours.

THE WALKOUT started in Atlanta, company national headquarters, at 4 a. m., four hours after the contract expired.

Union officials had set the strike hour at 6 a. m. A spokesman said pickets who jumped the gun did so on their own initiative.

States affected by the strike are Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee.

Alamo, Pharr, and San Juan, three Texas towns, are so close together they are connected by sidewalks and use the same high school.

He added that just after this Russia proposed a conference of European nations and the United States on suggestions it had made some months before on collective security.

"Mr. Molotov apparently saw no reason why the two conferences should not go on together," he continued. "We thought this impossible as we would certainly confuse or paralyze the effort. There the matter rested."

Cases Announced As Settled in Supreme Court

An action for negligence brought by Pauline Styles of Kingston and another against Matthias M. Richardson, was announced settled in Supreme Court this morning, when Justice Kenneth MacAffer convened the court after the weekend recess. The action arose out of an accident on the thruway when the car in which plaintiffs were riding struck a barricade. Norman Kellar appeared for plaintiffs and Roy L. Featherstone for defendants.

Cases at issue over two years and which were not moved for trial or otherwise disposed of were stricken from the calendar this morning under a show cause order returnable at this time under the rule of the court, which provides that any case at issue for two years and which is not moved for trial on return of the strike off order at the second and third terms of the court, must be taken from the general calendar.

Among the cases announced settled were:

Raymond Davis against Dan-Bar Contracting Co., Inc., work, labor and services. James J. Abernethy for plaintiff and Benjamin M. Gingold for defendants.

Rockwell Quick against Grace van B. Roberts, negligence. Harp and Hafke for plaintiff and Rusk and Rusk for defendant.

Harry Staloff against Rubin Oringer and another, negligence. Lounsberry and Lonstein for plaintiff and William J. Tropp for defendant.

Oswald John Tiedman and another against Thomas J. Kavanaugh and another, negligence. Feeney and Ford for plaintiff and Cook and Cook for defendants.

Mae V. Hughes against Frank P. Hughes, separation. Rosenblum and Lamb for plaintiff and Francis Martocci for defendant.

Walter Helmich against Peter Helmich, negligence. Flanagan and Ortale for plaintiff and Cashin and Ewig for defendant.

Jack La Falce against The Sinclair Refining Company, to recover for property damage. Roy L. Featherstone for plaintiff and Guernesey, Butts and Walsh for defendant.

Virginia Carpinelli and another against George Sanford, negligence. Napoletano, Kelly and Saccoman for plaintiffs and Cook and Cook for defendants.

New Paltz

Adult Group Will Study Adams' Life

New Paltz, March 14 — John Quincy Adams will be the historical figure examined at today's meeting of the Adult Education class, Great Men and Great Issues, starting at 7:30 p. m. in the New Paltz High School library.

A film depicting the life of Adams and his contributions to the Monroe Doctrine will precede a discussion under the leadership of Seymour Fersh of the high school faculty.

The meeting dealing with Andrew Jackson will be held March 21 instead of on March 14 as previously announced.

All adults are invited to any or all of the meetings in the series.

Teachers Confer With Superintendent

New Paltz, March 14—Students of New Paltz Central High School had a two-day vacation Monday and Tuesday because of a building interruption. Teachers returned to school Tuesday and after a general meeting spent the day in committee conferences and to meet with Ralph Johnson, district superintendent.

Johnson discussed the New York State Teacher pension plan from the experienced viewpoint of a retired teacher. He urged the wisdom of the 8 per cent deduction for retirement rather than the 5 per cent; it's a much safer way of planning for that day of retirement, he said. He talked in regard to state certification, interviewed the new teachers, and assured all of his willingness to give any necessary help needed in the future.

Shapiro's statement, the two Republicans said, showed that "his office obviously is being used as a patronage club" against employes in patronage jobs.

"We will not countenance the office of commissioner of investigation being used for witch-hunting, political fishing expeditions or self-servicing publicity," they declared.

Heck and Mahoney criticized the quiz on the ground that it delved into the personal affairs of state employes "without justifiable cause and without advising them, as required by law, of the subject matter under investigation."

The inquiry violates both the letter and spirit of the state's historic code of fair investigating procedures," they said. The two Republicans demanded that the probe "conform to legal and moral considerations of justice and decency.

Jury Selection Is Resumed in Jelke's Case

New York, March 14 (AP) — The task of completing the jury to try Minot F. (Mickey) Jelke on charges of compulsory prostitution was resumed today. A second special panel of talesmen reported to court as candidates for four seats still open.

The 25-year-old oleomargarine heir was convicted two years ago, but the verdict was upset on appeal because the public had been excluded from the court room during presentation of the state's case.

ELEVEN JURORS were selected last week before a 225-member panel of veniremen was exhausted. Then it was discovered that one of the 11, May Bunnell, 49, had been married twice—she claimed the marriages were annulled and didn't matter—although she had sworn she had never wed. Both sides agreed to excuse her.

With Miss Bunnell gone, the jury consisted of eight men, including a bachelor, and two women, both mothers. That left the seats of two regular jurors and two alternates to be filled from the 150-man panel reporting today.

Jelke, free in $45,000 bail and married since his first bout in court, is accused of inducing Pat Ward to lead the life of a prostitute and with trying to persuade Marguerite Cordova to do the same.

GI Wins Slalom Ski Championship

Franconia, N. H., March 14 (AP) — Ralph Miller of Hanover, N. H., 22-year-old soldier stationed at Camp Hale, Colo., today held the National Slalom ski championship after speeding down a fast Cannon Mountain trail in 1:48.2 for two runs.

Olympic skier Brooks Dodge, 25, of Pinkham Notch, N. H., who like Miller attended Dartmouth College, was second and defending champion Chiharu (Chicky) Igaya, 23-year-old Dartmouth sophomore from Japan, third.

Despite his loss in the Slalom, Igaya retained his combined title with a low score of 3.11 in the combined downhill and slalom. He tied with Bill Beck, a Dartmouth alumnus from Kingston, R. I., for first place in Saturday's downhill test. Beck was second in the combined with 6.73 points after finishing seventh in the slalom.

Samuels Says

ice-connected disability allowance system . . ."

Samuels also reviewed other Legion undertakings, such as its work to obtain the GI Bill of Rights, and the child welfare program.

Since 1925, he said, more than 120 million dollars was spent through the American Legion for the care of children.

"Personally, I feel that nothing else we do is more important or more rewarding—important, because it is a service that contributes in the most human way to the future strength of our country; rewarding, because it brings hope and happiness to youngsters who need a break," the speaker said.

Speaking of the American Legion Boy's State, Samuels paid particular tribute to Thomas Bohan, past Ulster County Commander and a past Department vice commander, "who was perhaps the best known, most efficient and a leader in popularity as a counsellor. Men like Tom have greatly enhanced the prestige and added to the strength of the American Legion."

Samuels, a Poughkeepsie attorney, served as commander of Lafayette Post 37 of Poughkeepsie, as Dutchess county commander and then state commander. He is a World War 2 veteran, having enlisted in 1942 as a private. He was discharged as an infantry officer with the 95th Division.

stead that the government enter into crop purchase contracts at support levels. The farmer then could choose whether to sell his crop to the government or to private parties.

The commission asserted that the proposed changeover would free the government of the job of handling thousands of small loans, but would not alter the farmer's price support protection. It said the farmer could use a government crop purchase contract as backing for a private bank loan.

One member of the commission, Rep. Holifield (D-Calif), entered a strong dissent, contending the recommendations—if put into force — "would make it harder for American citizens to buy homes or to get loans for their farms or businesses."

Youngster Has Sportsmanship

East Paterson, N. J., March 14 (AP)—A young ballplayer showed real sportsmanship here this weekend—he busted a window and paid for it with his last pennies.

C. E. King returned to his home Saturday night to find a broken window and $1.12 in change on his doorstep for it.

The money was in an envepole which contained this note in a childish scrawl:

"Dear sir,

"This is for the broken window, it is all I have. I am sorry and will not play ball again thair.

"Yours truely,

"A frend."

Rainmaker May Be Called to Halt Blazes in South

Waycross, Ga., March 14 (AP)—Weary firefighters considered artificial rainmaking to stop a giant forest fire raging in north Florida today while the weeklong south Georgia blaze appeared under control.

Behind the menacing fire fronts some 47,000 acres of drouth-stricken sections of the valuable timber land lay charred and useless. Veteran forest rangers said only heavy rains could remove the danger from the drought-stricken sections of the two states.

FLORIDA STATE Forester C. H. Coulter reported the fire near Foley has ravaged 32,000 acres of timber and swamp land and has became the most destructive blaze in state forest service history.

He said artificial rainmaking probably will be tried in an attempt to put out the inferno, if suitable cloud formations occur above the first area.

Coulter said backfires are being built between the Foley blaze and territory burned over last week by a 27,000 acre Madison-Taylor county fire and the two areas may burn into each other shortly.

If this happens, the Madison-Taylor burn will serve as a fire break for the Foley blaze.

MORE ENCOURAGING reports came from the south Georgia fire east of famed Okefenokee swamp which appeared to be under control after sweeping about 15,000 acres in a week.

Guyton Deloach, director of the Georgia Forestry Commission said "unless the wind changes, I think it's checked."

The fire near Foley was discovered Thursday. It doubled in size as it raced northeastward yesterday along a 12-mile front.

Rangers estimated fires burned more than 70,00 acres in north Florida last week.

None of the fires threatened inhabited areas.

Clinton Avenue House Damaged

A section of cellar, siding, flooring and inside walls of the house of Stewart Colclough, 7 Clinton avenue, were damaged by fire Sunday night.

Origin of the blaze, which was apparently preceded by a flash or explosion, was not definitely determined, but it might have been started by the fumes or vapor of paint thinner, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said.

MEN AND EQUIPMENT from Wiltwyck and Central stations responded to the first telephone call at 8:30 p. m., and noting that a large part of the cellar was involved when firemen arrived, Deputy Fire Chief George D. Matthews, called for aditional help. Fire Chief Murphy also went to the house at that time.

The fire burned through siding to the second floor and was checked at the top of a stairway, after firemen opened sections of flooring, wall and siding, as the blaze gave them stubborn resistance.

WATER DAMAGE was reported comparatively light considering the use of two lines of hose, but smoke damage was more extensive. Firemen were at the house for about three hours. Covers were spread to lessen water damage.

One section of the cellar, apparently that nearest to where the fire started, was badly damaged. The chief indicated as a possible cause the igniting of paint thinner vapor by a hot water heater.

A FEW FAST FACTS: Most ambitious feat of the season is Bobby Sherwood's new Coral platter of "Yes, Indeed" and "Brown Eyes, Why Are You Blue?" Sherwood makes like a full orchestra—using 30 tracks, he recorded 10 instruments, a quartet and a solo vocalist, and he himself played and sang every note. Wait'll Les Paul hears about this. . . . Best buy of the season is Snooky Lanson's new Camden EP—four top pops for 79 cents. Camden's embarked on a career of this sort of thing, and it may break the popular price log-jam. . . . Label X's boss, Jimmy Hilliard, thinks he has a new star in Dori Brooks. Her first two sides coming soon . . . Songwriter Gladys Shelley is current champ, measured in terms of most songs out at the same time — her fifth, "Don Juan John" (Jill Whitney, Coral), will join "The Man I've Been Looking For" (Denise Lor), "Who Knows Why" (Bill Lawrence), "The Dragon" (Teddi King) and "How Did He Look" (Georgia Gibbs). Only trouble with Gladys—laziness.

Foster Is Named To City Position

WALTER S. FOSTER

Mayor Frederick H. Stang today announced the appointment of Walter S. Foster, of 58 Andrew street, as deputy city clerk to succeed Harry C. Seitz, who recently resigned to accept a position with IBM.

Foster, who last July was graduated from The Albany Business College, had experience of an office capacity for two years with the state legislature.

HE IS A graduate of St. Peter's Parochial School and Kingston High School, is a member of Phi Theta Phi, International Commerce Honorary and will start his duties in the city clerk's office Tuesday.

Mayor Stang said he accepted the resignation of Seitz with regret. "I appreciate the fine type of public service he rendered to the city," he said, "and I wish him success in his new position. The city's loss is IBM's gain."

The informant said that although the two spy groups apparently operated independently, police struck at both simultaneously for fear one ring would tip off the other.

25,000 May Be Idled

Louisville, Ky., March 14 (AP)—Non-operating employes of the 13-state Louisville & Nashville Railroad Co., and two of its subsidiaries struck today over a health and welfare issue. The strike was expected to idle 25,000 employes. Shortly after the strike began, a spokesman for the L. & N. said "So far we're running trains and it looks like we'll keep on running trains."

Afganistan is one of the few countries in the world where medical education is free.

Car Is Wrecked; Others Ransacked

A stolen car was found found wrecked near 6 North street, six cars parked on Gill street were reported ransacked Sunday and automobile hub caps were reported stolen elsewhere in the city.

The car of former patrolman William Slover, of 317 Hasbrouck avenue, was apparently wrecked after it was taken from in front of his house between Saturday night and early Sunday morning.

Police were notified at 5:58 a. m. Sunday by Frank DuBois, of 6 North street, that the car had apparently been in a mishap on a turn. Officers Bernard Fowler and Julius Glassman investigated and found that it was Slover's car.

A NEARBY fence was reported damaged and the car was damaged on its sides and front, the officers said.

A jacket valued at $25 and a wallet containing a driver's license and other papers were reported missing after the apparent ransacking of the cars on Gill street. The jacket was missing from the car of Joseph Amato, Jr., of 67 Gill street, and the wallet from the car of James Fitzgerald, 55 Gill street.

Also reported ransacked were the cars of Anthony Alecca, 65 Gill street; James Costello, 63 Gill street; Peter Altamari, 71 Gill street, and Kenneth Hornbeck, 62 Gill street.

TWO YOUTHS were held on petit larceny charges Sunday after the reported theft of hubcaps from a car owned by the Hayes-Jarrett Motors Corp. Broadway.

The two were reported picked up on Route 28, and police said the hubcaps were recovered. They pleaded guilty before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today and imposition of sentence was postponed until next Saturday pending a further investigation.

Attorney Louis DiDonna represented the district attorney's office in city court.

50,000 on Strike In Nine States

Atlanta, March 14 (AP)—About 50,000 Southern Bell Telephone Co. employes in nine southeastern states went on strike today after negotiators failed to reach agreement on a new contract.

Dial service was not expected to be materially affected but company officials said long distance calls and local calls made through manual exchanges "might be delayed" during peak hours.

THE WALKOUT started in Atlanta, company national headquarters, at 4 a. m., four hours after the contract expired.

Union officials had set the strike hour at 6 a. m. A spokesman said pickets who jumped the gun did so on their own initiative.

States affected by the strike are Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, North Carolina, South Carolina and Tennessee.

Alamo, Pharr, and San Juan, three Texas towns, are so close together they are connected by sidewalks and use the same high school.

ceived a very friendly and encouraging reply from Molotov, but he had to wait until after the Geneva Conference on Indochina for Foreign Secretary Eden to return before acting.

He added that just after this Russia proposed a conference of European nations and the United States on suggestions it had made some months before on collective security.

"Mr. Molotov apparently saw no reason why the two conferences should not go on together," he continued. "We thought this impossible as we would certainly confuse or paralyze the effort. There the matter rested."

Telephone School Closes

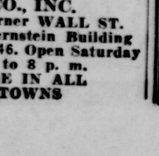

Morristown, N. J. (AP)—Going to school is a new experience for 14-year-old Billy Doswell. Paralyzed since birth by a spinal disorder, the boy completed his first six years of school at home through a communications hookup over telephone wires plus some private tutoring. Now able to get around with the aid of crutches, Billy joined the seventh grade at junior high.

Legislators Plan To Attend Rites

New York, March 14 (AP)—Fellow legislators will attend funeral services tomorrow for State Sen. John J. Donovan Jr., 42, Bronx Democrat.

A requiem Mass will be held at St. Jerome's Roman Catholic Church, the Bronx. Burial will be in Gate of Heaven Cemetery, Hawthorne, N. Y. Mayor Robert F. Wagner heads the honorary pallbearers.

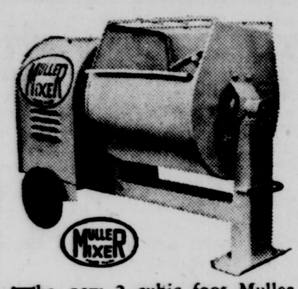

Donovan died Saturday night at St. Elizabeth's Hospital after a heart attack.

He was elected to the state Senate for the first time in 1950 and was in his third term when died. From 1944 to 1950 he was an assistant U. S. attorney. He leaves a brother, James B. Donovan.

No More Panties

Litherland, England, March 14 (AP)—The town council notified housewives in a municipal housing development today they must stop hanging their panties in the front yard or move. "The flats (apartments) face the main road," said Councilor R. W. Lloyd, "and many people are embarrassed by some of the things they see hanging on clotheslines."
